It is reliably stated that a tray of diamonds stolen from the Hotel Portland a few nights ago has been found. The discovery is said to have been made in a deck of cards. This little joke is just now being sprung by the dock girls, evidently with much relish.

As was expected, voters are now beginning to show up in bunches at Auditor Nelson's office. With the naming of candidates by the political parties, interest was increased, and yesterday the total number of registrations was about 850.

After great effort, they have given the assurance that they will be there. He went? At the residence of Mrs. C. W. Fulton, as guests of the Every Monday Club. Who are they? Acting Captain A. E. Luck, of the gasoline schooner Delta, which arrived Wednesday from Netaria, was not provided with a master's license. The captain was fined $100 by Collector Fox for violation of the regulations, while an additional fine of $100 was imposed on Lucy & Fletcher, owners of the schooner, for permitting an unlicensed captain to navigate the vessel.

The city central committee selected yesterday by the Republican convention is as follows: First ward—D. J. McVicar, A. McPherson and F. A. Fisher. Second ward—James W. Welsh, August Davidson and A. C. Callin. Third ward—W. P. McGee, F. P. Lemmewer and Iver Anderson. James W. Welsh was chosen chairman of the committee, and F. P. Lemmewer secretary.

Judge Taylor and W. W. Whipple have returned from Portland, where they went to consult the wash and dye factory people. The firm members were not quite ready to agree to the obligations imposed by the committee, and there is a hitch in negotiations. However, representatives of the company will arrive in the city today, when the matter will doubtless be straightened out to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The steamship Elder arrived yesterday from San Francisco. The Emmeret left from Tillamook, but otherwise there were no movements along the waterfront. The weather-bound grain fleet is still tied up in the lower harbor, and some of the captains are beginning to wonder if they are to spend Christmas in Astoria. Occasionally one of the vessels makes a sneak for sea, but there has been no general exodus.

Mr. Jim Jim, who had been visiting in China for about a year past, returned home on the liner Indrapura. He was accompanied by his son. Two other Astoria Chinese who went home for a visit also returned in the steamship, and all four were lapped yesterday by Deputy Collector Parker. "Mr. Jim Jim" is really Lo Wy, but his connection with the well-known firm has resulted in the name being bestowed upon him.

Wilson Bros., of Astoria, have secured the contract for building a new cannery for the Santorn-Cutting Company. The building will be 210x140 feet, and will be completed in time for operation next season. The cannery will have a capacity of 1800 cases daily. Just what W. E. Tallant intends doing in the cannery line has not been learned. When asked yesterday as to his intentions, Mr. Tallant declined to make any statement.

At the Commercial Club court last night Oshorn and Bennett won three straight games from Wood and Woodfield with apparent ease. The scores were: 21-15, 21-8 and 21-10. Stockton and Thomas likewise took three straight from Thompson and Thompson, the scores being: 21-12, 21-14 and 21-15. Tonight Mills and Oiler meet Funge and Woodfield, while Stockton and Thomas will fight it out with Marion and Ralston.

This evening the laughable Irish farce comedy "Maloney's Wedding Day" will be produced at Fisher's opera house. It is a comedy constructed to please the young as well as the old, and fairly teems with the most novel and humorous ideas of every day life. During the performance pretty little surprises pop up in the way of singing and dancing specialties. Seats now selling at Griffin & Reed's. Secure them and save the rush at the door.

The United States civil service commission announces that at the request of the board of visitors to the United States naval observatory, an examination will be held on December 11, 12, 13, 1901, at various places throughout the United States, for the position of assistant astronomer in the United States naval observatory, at a salary of $1800 per annum. Astorians desiring to compete in this examination may secure additional information by applying to O. P. Heilbert, at the local postoffice.

Otto F. Heilbert had a very unpleasant experience on Tuesday, and hereafter when he regales himself with chicken pie will inaugurate a rigid search for bones. During the dinner he swallowed a piece of bone, which lodged in the throat. Dr. Cordiney was hastily summoned, but it was twenty minutes before the physician arrived. Mr. Heilbert was almost choked to death, and when Dr. Cordiney reached the house the sufferer was bleeding at the nostrils and mouth, while his eyes had almost started from the sockets. The bone was extracted without much trouble.

Councilman Parker went to Portland on the Gatzert last night, and today will leave down with the steamer Astorian. Mr. Parker has been looking for an opportunity to run the Astorian independently between Astoria and Portland, and for a time this fall it seemed there would be a chance for him to break in. Now, however, satisfactory rates having been granted the company, it is likely the Astorian's services will not be required, and that she will be tied up for the winter. Before leaving for Portland last night Mr. Parker hinted that he would not accept the Republican nomination for councilman, but his statement was doubtless made in a spirit of fun, as he had ample opportunity to decline at yesterday's convention, to which he was a delegate.

In view of the interest which has been aroused over the middle resulting from the nomination of Republicans by Citizens' acceptance of nominations will be awaited with impatience. The Citizens have heretofore made their nominations by petition, but this fall the convention was attended by more than 100 delegates and the candidates chosen will be entitled to place on the ticket without unusual formality. Each candidate must file his acceptance of one nomination. Auditor Nelson, for instance, has been named by both parties. If he accepts the Citizens' nomination, the regular Republicans may take offense, while if he accepts the Republican nomination the Citizens may feel offended, especially in view of the fact that the Citizens first nominated him. The situation has a tendency to make matters rather uncomfortable for the candidates. Another question arises. If Auditor Nelson accepts the Republican nomination, the Citizens' ticket will not have a candidate for auditor; if he accepts the Citizens' nomination, the Republicans will be a candidate shy. Will the central committee of the party concerned name another candidate for the office, in accordance with instructions that it shall fill any and all vacancies that may occur? Future developments will answer better to answer this question than anything else. Street Superintendent Kearney is the other candidate who must consider this little matter.

Councilman Scherneckau has announced that he will not accept the Republican nomination for mayor. In conversation with an Astorian representative last evening Mr. Scherneckau said his health would not permit active campaigning on his part; that he had served his term in the city council, and that, in view of the action of the Citizens in endorsing his candidate as their candidate for the council from the Second ward. Yesterday he was nominated for mayor by the Republicans, which would necessitate declination of one of the nominations. He has decided to decline both, and the two vacancies must be filled. Mr. Scherneckau said he might have been a candidate for mayor had the nomination been tendered him by the Citizens, or that he might have been a candidate for the council had the Republicans endorsed him; but under no circumstances would he consent to make a fight for election, which would be necessary if either of the nominations was accepted. "If my name is not taken from both tickets, I will not qualify if elected," said Mr. Scherneckau. "I have made this statement several times during the evening, but evidently it is regarded as an insincere one. However, I am very much in earnest, and while I appreciate the honor of the nomination, I cannot consent to be a candidate. I have been in the council for six years, which is all that can reasonably be asked of a man." When seen, Martin Ford, Republican candidate for police commissioner, said he had not given the subject any consideration, and that he was not ready to state whether or not he would consent to make the run. Intimate friends of Mr. Ford are of the opinion that he will accept the nomination.
