A WHITE PATH.

THERE is only one kind of Cleanliness, but there are many kinds of soap. There is only one destination, but there are many paths that lead to it. If you want the shortest and safest road to Cleanliness, it is paved with Ivory Soap. Neither man nor clothes ever get beyond the cleansing power of Ivory Soap. Its rich, creamy lather extracts every particle of dirt; but it stops at the dirt! Ivory Soap—it floats.

LIBERALS GAIN MANY RECRUITS

General Luge Within Twelve Miles of Panama with 1,000 Men.

CONTROLS A RAILROAD LINE

The Battleship Iowa Will Land Forces at Panama Whenever the Necessity Therefor Arises.

COLON, Colombia, Nov. 22.—Latest news is to the effect that the Liberal General Luge has arrived at Empire station, 12 miles from Panama, with a force said to number one thousand men. The Liberals are gaining and arming many recruits along the railroad and control the line to within two miles from Panama. An attack on that city is expected momentarily. The Liberal leader, Domingo Daiz, is expected shortly to arrive at Colon.

Marines from the gunboat Machias are still guarding the station and property of the railroad here.

The battleship Iowa will land forces at Panama when the necessity arises. The Liberals here have already given notice that the ad valorem duty on goods disembarked at Colon will henceforth be 10 per cent, not 20 per cent, as formerly. All stores in Colon are open today and business is resumed.

UNITED STATES JUSTIFIED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The answer of the Colombian government to the representatives of United States Consul General Gudger, to the effect that that government was unable to guarantee the integrity of railway communication across the Isthmus, was purposely developed in order to make plain the fact that the United States was perfectly justified in landing forces at Colon. With formal acknowledgement of the Colombian government of its inability to maintain communication it becomes not the privilege but the duty of the United States under the treaty of Grandada to guarantee that communication even though use of force is necessary. It is not intended to interfere between factions unless one faction places itself in the position of obstructing the purpose of the United States to keep the Panama railroad free to traffic.

REWARD OFFERED.

By Multnomah County Court for Morrow's Murderer.

PORTLAND, Nov. 22.—By order of the county court, a reward of $500 is made for apprehension and conviction of the person or persons guilty of the murder of James Morrow. The action was taken this morning by Judge Cake and Commissioner Showers, and the reward will be paid out of the general fund if the murderer is captured and convicted. The language of the order is as follows:

"Whereas James Morrow died November 21, 1901, under circumstances indicating that he has been murdered, it is hereby ordered that the county of Multnomah offers a reward of $500 to the person or persons securing the arrest and conviction of the person or sons guilty of committing the crime of killing the said James Morrow."

The county court also took action this morning offering a reward of $25 for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons found guilty of burglary or holding-up persons on the public highway. The feeling as expressed by Judge Cake and Commissioner Showers is that these acts of lawlessness are becoming so common that strong measures must be taken to stamp them out, and an inducement is made for officers and private individuals to secure the arrest of parties engaged in such a business.

RIOTS IN ATHENS.

Trouble Is Caused by Proposal to Translate Gospel.

ATHENS, Nov. 22.—The turbulent developments growing out of the proposal to translate the gospel into modern Greek were continued today in the streets, especially in front of the chamber of deputies and before the university. There were many ugly rushes. The military are finding difficulty in controlling the rioters.

In the afternoon the funeral of the victims of previous riots was held. Seven coffins covered with white flags, were preceded by students carrying a black banner. The procession halted for some minutes before the palace, but no cries were heard. The students remain in occupation of the university.

They decline to retire unless given guarantees that no legal proceedings will be taken against them, that translators of the gospel would be excommunicated and the university would not be occupied by troops.

NIPPED IN THE BUD.

JOHANNESBURG, Nov. 22.—Another conspiracy has been nipped in the bud. Twenty arrests were made at midnight Tuesday in various parts of Johannesburg. A great sensation followed.

CLEVELAND ILL.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 22.—Reports come from Princeton that ex-President Grover Cleveland is ill. Cleveland recently returned from a gunning trip, and was taken ill and threatened with pneumonia. Tonight he is very much improved.

THE INDIAN PROBLEM

COMMISSIONER JONES OFFERS A REMEDY.

Throw Him on His Own Resources and Enforce on Him a Realization of the Dignity of Labor.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—A policy which, it is contended will settle the entire Indian question within a generation is announced by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs Jones in his annual report, made public today. His plan is to give the Indian an opportunity for self-support, the same protection of person and property as given others, throw him on his own resources and enforce upon him a realization of dignity of labor and the importance of building and maintaining a home for himself. Until the Indian has become part of the community in which he lives, day schools should be established where Indians may learn enough for ordinary business transactions. The key to the whole situation, the commissioner suggests, is the home. Large tribes are located in arid regions on unproductive reservations, where there is no chance to make even a living. In these cases something should be done quickly toward placing such Indians in a position where they can support themselves.

Commissioner Jones says cutting off of rations from all Indians except those incapaciated from earning a support has had gratifying results, and, if followed up, ultimately will lead to the abolition of the reservation and absorption of the Indian in our body politic.

Poison Oak

are among the best known of the many dangerous wild plants and shrubs. To touch or handle them quickly produces swelling and inflammation with intense itching and burning of the skin. The eruption soon disappears, the sufferer hopes forever; but almost as soon as the little blisters and pustules appeared the poison had reached the blood, and will break out at regular intervals and each time in a more aggravated form. This poison will loiter in the system for years, and every atom of it must be forced out of the blood before you can expect a perfect, permanent cure.

SSS Nature's Antidote FOR Nature's Poisons, is the only cure for Poison Oak, Poison Ivy, and all noxious plants. It is composed exclusively of roots and herbs. Now is the time to get the poison out of your system, as delay makes your condition worse. Don't experiment longer with salves, washes and soaps—they never cure.

Mr. S. M. Marshall, bookkeeper of the Atlanta (Ga.) Gas Light Co., was poisoned with Poison Oak. He took Sulphur, Arsenic and various other drugs, and applied externally numerous lotions and salves with no benefit. At times the swelling and inflammation was so severe he was almost blind. For eight years the poison would break out every season. His condition was much improved after taking one bottle of S. S. S., and a few bottles cleared his blood of the poison, and all evidences of the disease disappeared.

People are often poisoned without knowing when or how. Explain your case fully to our physicians, and they will cheerfully give such information and advice as you require, without charge, and we will send at the same time an interesting book on Blood and Skin Diseases.

TO EXPLORE ALASKA.

Extensive explorations are about to be undertaken between the Arctic Circle and the shores of the Arctic ocean in Alaska. The exploring party will start from Bergman, nearly one thousand miles from Sitka. Alaska is about as little known as the interior of Africa was a few years ago. A specific remedy for the cure of common ills was unknown until Hostetters' Stomach Bitters were first discovered. For fifty years it has cured all stomach and bowel complaints, and today is the most celebrated medicine in the world. The Bitters will cure indigestion, headache, liver and kidney troubles, malaria, fever and ague. Take no substitute. The genuine must have our Private Die Stamp over the neck of the bottle.

UP TO DATE STORIES.

Among the sheaves of letters which Sir Thomas Lipton has received since his return from his ineffectual expedition to "lift" the America's cup is the following from the novelist "Ouida" (Louise De La Ramee) postmarked Lucca, Italy: "I do not know you, but I watch your races with interest because I used to be very fond of yachting and know something about sailing a yacht. Now, I want to ask you why you stand the American conduct. When the Shamrock II. was clearly winning they declared the race off, and they are mean enough to call it beating you to claim victory by the time allowance and a precedence of 45 seconds. What can a difference of 45 seconds show of superiority or inferiority? Under ten minutes it should be declared a dead heat. To be fair it ought to be sailed in neutral waters. The ocean voyage must take it out of a yacht.

"If you like, show this to any one. You can do so with my compliments.

"Postscript: I dare say you are not a great reader, but my name will be probably known to you."

Though Sir Thomas does hope to get "Ouida's" ideas as to conditions, he said to a correspondent: "Of course I intend to try again. There are three leaves to the shamrock, and Shamrock III. will be the lucky boat."

She doesn't go to her clubs and euchres half as much as she did, says the Louisville Times. People used to say this charming woman spent most of her time at these gatherings. One day she called on a dear friend to reprove her for her slackening interest in the club. I believe it was a club for reforming the gas meter or something—anyway, it was a reform affair.

"Look here, Lizzie," said the enthusiast, "why on earth don't you come to the meetings? Here you are paying your dues and never showing up. You owe it to the church to take an interest in the work."

"But I can't come," explained her friend, "there's the baby, and Harry doesn't come home sometimes until late and supper must wait, and if he wants to go out I can't go away and leave the children. I would worry myself to death."

"Well, I must say Harry is inconsiderate," said the caller. "Why, there's my husband and the children, too. They give me no trouble. Every time I want to go to the club Charlie says he will be glad to stay at home with Bridget and keep an eye on the things until I come back. He never objects."

"Maybe," retorted the amiable hostess, "if I had a scrubgirl as handsome and young as Bridget, Harry would be glad to stay at home, but mine is black and goes home at night."

The lone tender and Charlie hasn't been asked to look after Bridget and the house since.

We all remember the just fame secured years ago by our gallant friend Hobart Chatfield-Taylor by reason of his feat of changing his clothes in his brougham. There was only just time to get from a tea to a dinner and a transformation was effected during the flight up Michigan avenue on wheels. It may surprise you to hear that this record, brilliant as it is, has been broken, says the Chicago Chronicle, and—yes the truth must be told—by a lady. The story was told in a North Side drawing room, and when the heroine's name was told every one present believed it. The heroine is as energetic as she is pretty, which is saying a great deal. She is a youthful matron who lives at a South Side hotel, and is somewhat given to the habit of procrastination. On this occasion she had remained so long at a pleasant hen party (as it is irreverently termed) in her own hotel that she had just an hour in which to make her appearance at a formal dinner party in Diversey boulevard. With her, to think was to act. Her carriage was already at the door. She flew to her apartment and found her maid, naturally, in sore distress of mind. Her evening toilet lay on the bed. "Suzette," she commanded, "put everything—everything, mind you!—into a box, and have it sent down to the carriage." A long box from the milliner's was pressed into service. Suzette trembled, but obeyed. The lady skipped into the vehicle, with her precious box for company. Suzette, wringing her hands on the step, saw the curtains of the carriage descend swiftly. No man may pry into the methods of so precious a miracle as that accomplished in the drive across town and through the park, but when madame alighted at her destination her evening toilet was complete, from the charming decollete gown of cerise silk to the stockings and slippers of the same hue. The family coachman is an admirably trained automaton, but when he saw the transformation the poor fellow nearly fell off the box.

Bargains for Uncle Sam.—"I see that our soldiers had a great fight with the insurgents in Samar, killing a lot of them and capturing large stores." Dear me, I wonder if they were department stores?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
