Flour, Sugar and many other goods in car load lots and it is by this that we can make prices to customers as low as we do. We do not ask nor expect your trade as a favor—it is the price that draws, and we make with that end in view.

Mrs. F. D. Reames of Klamath Falls, who had been at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Benjamin Young, in Portland, arrived in the city last evening. Mr. Young also returned from Portland. He reports that Mrs. Young's condition is hopeless and that the end is not more than a few weeks off. This will be sad news to the many friends of that most estimable lady.

The Presbyterian church congregation yesterday felt the public pulse with reference to the subscription of a sum necessary to build the proposed new church, and the sentiment generally expressed was most gratifying. It is now almost certain that the church will be built. Dr. Kinney is one of the most active workers in the matter, and says that the congregation will erect an edifice that will be the finest in Oregon outside the city of Portland.

A very beautiful memorial service was held in the W. C. T. U. parlors, corner of Eleventh and Bond streets yesterday afternoon at 2:30, it being the anniversary of the death of Frances Willard, the world's president of the W. C. T. U. The rooms were daintily decorated with green. Mrs. Willard's picture being draped with a wreath of green with bunches of white flowers interwoven. A number of papers and a poem were read, all paying tribute to the memory of this queen among women. Special mention should be made of the effort made by Miss Olsen, who rendered a recitation which added much to the success of the service.

The Astorian yesterday received a very attractive invitation from the pupils of room two of McClure school to attend the Washington-Longfellow exercises, to be held at 1:30 this afternoon. The invitation is in the form of a cardboard hatchet, emblematic of the episode that made Washington famous with the little folks. A blue and white ribbon knot lends to the attractiveness of the invitation. The Astorian begs to extend its thanks to the children of room two for the courtesy extended, and to assure them of its sincere appreciation. Doubtless the exercises will be especially interesting, and the parents should be out in numbers.

Voters should bear in mind that they will be required to register if they wish to take part in the coming June and state elections. No matter how many previous times you have registered, you will again be compelled to observe the formality, or else stay home on election day. Thus far the registration is very light, the total number now on the rolls being only 265. The registrations in the city precincts are as follows: No. 1, 15; No. 2, 39; No. 3, 39; No. 4, 51; No. 5, 41; No. 6, 12; No. 7, 7. This is a very poor showing, and, while the books will be open for some time to come, the number registered to date should be twice as large.

A. J. Johnson, the forestry expert, who was in the city Wednesday, is in charge of the Oregon forestry exhibit at the Charleston fair, and will have charge of the exhibit at the great fair to be held at St. Louis. Mr. Johnson stated while in Astoria that the exhibit at Buffalo was a magnificent one and that it attracted more attention than almost any other display. Three Oregonians were constantly on hand to enlighten visitors, but the thousands who sought information were too many for the hard-worked officials in charge. Mr. Johnson wants to overcome this failure to give information, both at Charleston and St. Louis, and is happy to note that the commercial bodies of the city are to issue an illustrated book of Clatsop county. He said he would gladly distribute copies of the book at both fairs, and was satisfied much good could be accomplished. His kindly offer will be taken advantage of, and the wonderful resources of this region will receive some exceptional advertising. Mr. Johnson has arranged to secure a suitable display from this section.

While the jury in the Scott case was out yesterday afternoon Judge McBride related an interesting incident apropos of the action of the one of the jurors in holding out against the other ten. Some years ago a murder case was on in Clackamas county, and so convincing with the evidence against the accused that the jury was almost unanimous for a verdict of murder in the first degree. One juror, John Talbert (who was recently an unsuccessful candidate for the office of fish warden) held out for the defendant and hung the jury. He was roundly abused for his action, but when the case came up at the next term of court it was found the accused had been the victim of a conspiracy, and that he was wholly innocent of the crime. The prosecuting attorney dropped the case. The aftermath was very disastrous to the conspirators, one of whom, a witness named King, stood in with a Portland detective and testified that the accused had induced him to assist in the crime. This testimony was found to be perjury, and King was indicted. He was convicted of murder in the second degree and sent to the penitentiary for life. "It isn't always the case that the man who hangs a jury is at fault," said the judge.

The Lewis and Clark road committee, at the conclusion of its labors last night, had succeeded in getting $1369.50, or almost the amount required to carry on the work. The committee is very well pleased with the prompt response of the people of the city, especially as many subscription lists have been circulated of late, and regrets that it is unable to make as good a report for the people of the section most interested. The new engine purchased recently by Judge Gray will be brought down tomorrow or on Sunday, and the committee will return home today to make arrangements to unload it. The following additional subscriptions to the fund were received yesterday: John Kopp, $5; Dr. Fulton, $5; H. J. Wherity, $2.50; P. X. Grusel, $2; H. H. Zapf, $2.50; D. Shanahan, $2.50; W. C. Logan, $2.50; P. Lawler, $2; Frank Vaughn, $2.50; H. L. Henderson, $2.50; J. J. Pilkington, $2.50; T. F. Laurin, $2.50; O. B. Estes, $2.50; Frank Patton, $10; Johnson & Langerson, $5; D. J. McVicar, $5; H. R. Hoefler, $2.50; J. C. Clinton, $5; P. L. Parker, $5; C. Heilborn, $1; G. Reed, $2; Astoria Iron Works Co., $10; August Erickson, $5; L. Lebeck, $2; Olof Anderson, $1; William Brock, $5; V. H. Coffey, $5; Ford & Stokes, $10; P. A. Stokes, $5; C. C. Utzinger, $2.50.

The first games in the series to be bowled between the Irving Club and the Commercial Club teams occur tonight at the alleys of the Commercial Club. Members of both clubs, including ladies, have been invited to witness the games. Last evening several of the Irving Club players visited the Commercial Club and bowled a few games. They are playing in good form, and will probably set a pretty hot pace for the Commercial Club aggregation. Captain Astbury was asked last night to announce his team, but said he had not definitely decided on all the men. It is not unlikely, however, that the following gentlemen will represent the Irving Club: R. F. C. Astbury, W. L. Robb, T. Trullinger, G. C. Fulton, L. I. Herr, D. A. McLean, C. A. Goodridge, J. C. Mayo. The Commercial Club team will line up as follows: W. C. Law, F. H. Goodell, C. R. Higgins, W. Mathena, A. C. Ross, J. D. Taylor, George A. Lewis, P. B. Sovey. The games will commence promptly at 8 o'clock. The determination to bowl eight men proved popular. At the Irving Club last evening Mr. McLean bowled the remarkable game of 74. The club record is 76, bowled by C. E. Bain, but a bad frame following eight consecutive strikes ruined Mr. McLean's chances of establishing a new record.

District Attorney Harrison Allen, the legal representative of the county court, yesterday filed his answer to the injunction proceedings recently instituted by the Herald Publishing Company against the county court to restrain that body from awarding the printing contract to the News and Budget. The complaint, which accused Judge Gray of sneaking around to the publishers of the daily papers and asking them to present offers for the work, was regarded as "warm," but the answer is tropical. It is a general denial of all the allegations made by C. J. Curtis, reciting that Judge Gray did not sneak around to the newspaper offices, "or at all sneaked, or quietly or loudly or in a whisper or in an ordinary or angry tone of voice, or at all asked them to put in bids for the county printing." The statement that the awarding of the contract to the News and Budget will cost the county $200 more than if the Herald gets the work is also denied, as is the allegation that the plaintiff is a taxpayer. It was contended by Mr. Curtis that the county had reached its limit of indebtedness, and that a contract would be illegal. This is denied. The answer further recites that the Herald is not reputable nor responsible, nor a disseminator of truth or veracity, nor an advocate of morality or decency, and alleges that the subscription list filed by the company at the time it presented its bid was fraudulent, and the court had learned of this by investigation. The matter will be presented in the circuit court at 10 this morning, when Attorney Allen will ask the court to dissolve the temporary injunction. A most interesting situation is promised.
