The Young Men Republican Club will hold a meeting this evening at Republican headquarters when business matters of importance will be transacted. The committee hopes there will be a full attendance.

Chairman White, of the state Democratic central committee, has announced the itinerary of the state candidates on that ticket who will travel together. They are billed to be in Astoria May 15.

An old resident of Chinook, Lloyd Evans, died at the hospital yesterday afternoon of consumption. The deceased was 55 years of age and had been sick for four years. The funeral and interment will probably take place tomorrow at Chinook.

Fred Munson, who went out on the steamer Harrison as engineer a few days ago, returned last evening, brown and seer as an autumn leaf. It is his first work of the kind for nearly two years.

It is now claimed that the "nonpartisan citizens" will open campaign headquarters in the building next door to the Astorian office. They are to be congratulated for getting so close to goal company.

If the salmon run this season proves the shortage which some fear from the present outlook, the prices may soon go way up, in view of the fact that the demand for Oregon salmon is branching out, even making a great hit in Germany.

Presiding Elder Joseph E. Williams, of the M. E. church, and Mrs. Williams arrived in Astoria from Centralia yesterday and will go to Ilwaco this morning, where the presiding elder will hold services this evening. He will hold services at Chinook tomorrow and then go to Oysterville.

The county Republican central committee will meet at Republican headquarters in this city this afternoon, at which considerable business is expected to be transacted. The plan for the coming campaign will probably be arranged.

The meeting of the Young Men's Republican Club will take place this evening at the Republican campaign headquarters. This organization is an important factor in the campaign. When the young bloods meet and start into the fight they will make themselves heard and felt.

It is never proper to condemn the Astoria fire department. The public may rest assured that the firemen, from chief to stable-man, always perform their duty. Nothing but an unforeseen and unavoidable accident will prevent them from being on the spot on time.

The extension of the salmon trade into Germany under the process of freezing and sending them there fresh is a great move for Oregon and means much in the future for the industry here. The new cold-storage plant of the Columbia River Packers' Association was not prematurely equipped for the trade.

Professor Lyman, county school superintendent has just returned from an official visit to the Warrenton and Hammond schools. He says that Mr. J. F. Lee and Miss Annie Powell are just closing a very successful term of school at Warrenton and Mr. W. O. Sims and Mrs. Laura Blevens are just beginning a good school at Hammond. The building in which they are teaching is new and everything points to a bright future and a good school at Hammond.

County School Superintendent Lyman will go to Portland today and will not return until next Tuesday or Wednesday. He reports prospects of a good county teachers' institute here May 21-23, at which time a large number of teachers will be present. State Superintendent of Public Instruction Ackerman will be in attendance and Professor Robinson, of Multnomah county, will also conduct a class and deliver a course of lectures.

While no definite arrangements have been made to begin the work of bulk-heading some of the streets next to the water's edge to prevent the undermining of streets and sidewalk foundations by driftwood, it is regarded as a very important question and will be forcibly impressed upon the council for action. Driftwood piling against the buildings and streets is regarded as a serious menace to the safety of property and may be strangely in favor of forming a plan to prevent it. Bulk-heading is regarded as the best means at hand.

The pesthouse question is finally settled. Mayor Suprenant says that a place has been selected near Prospect Hill and that a four-room cottage will be erected on the property at once; it is expected to complete the building within four or five days. The place is well isolated, both from other habitations and public thoroughfares. The institution is intended to be made a permanent one, and hereafter there will be a place to which persons may be taken in cases of contagious diseases. It may be stated that the building, although constructed hastily, will be arranged with a view to the comfort of such patients who may unfortunately have to be taken to the place.

Up to closing time last evening the clerk had registered 1240 voters. At the closing of the same date last election 1811 voters had registered—just 571 more voters than have registered this year. Only about half of the voters have registered so far. This means that if all voters register this year there will be an unparalleled rush the last few weeks. Last election the rush for the last few days gave the officers more than they could do and if voters who expect to vote delay until the last they may lose their vote on account of the officers being unable to register them. The clerk's office will be open this evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

PUSH CLUB MEETING.

Regatta Committee Will Meet This Evening

The Push Club held its regular meeting last evening and the coming regatta and entertainment of the Travelers' Protective Association members on their coming visit were among the important matters before the club. The resolution published in yesterday's Astorian which had been adopted by the joint committee the previous evening was adopted by the Push Club, which was to the effect that a regatta was favored provided the citizens and transportation companies would subscribe to the fund necessary to sustain the regatta more promptly this year than heretofore. In order to ascertain the feeling of the people on the subject the following committee was appointed to call upon the business men and transportation companies and ascertain how much could be raised for the regatta and to ascertain the general pulse of the citizens on the subject.

Herman Wise, W. W. Whipple, J. N. Griffin, A. Dunbar, M. S. Copeland, August Hildebrand, H. T. Van Dusen, F. J. Taylor, O. I. Peterson, P. A. Stokes.

The joint committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Push Club, composed of B. Van Dusen, J. W. Welch, J. S. Dellinger and F. L. Parker, J. E. Gratke, Harrison Allen, A. Dunbar and W. W. Whipple, will meet at 8 o'clock this evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms for the purpose of conferring about the plans of preparing the entertainment of the commercial men on their contemplated visit here next month. A letter was received from the officers of the association thanking the Push Club for its interest already taken in the matter.

The matter of securing the services of Photographer Moorehouse, of The Dalles, to take views in this section to be used in advertising the resources here, was taken up and the matter was referred to the committee on advertising. Mr. Moorehouse has secured transportation and requested that he be furnished an assistant while here and that his expenses be paid. In consideration of which he would deliver over a copy of each photograph taken for the use of the city. He was highly recommended and the Push Club as a body seemed favorable to the proposition.

D. H. Welch presented a recommendation which was referred to the proper committee recommending that a new method be devised for raising funds for advertising. He recommended that instead of going out on all occasions where funds were needed on a soliciting tour that each member be requested to pay in a small sum monthly for this purpose. The road committee requested and was granted further time to report.

SERVED A KING.

Irving Quincy Tewksbury, Peanut Clerk, May Have Seen Better Days

Irving Quincy Tewksbury, the clerk at a peanut stand, who died suddenly yesterday morning in Astoria, is said to have had a history that bears out the theory of the statement that truth is stranger than fiction.

He had resided here for about ten years and was only known as an ordinary clerk in a small peanut stand. In fact, he was only an ordinary man, but if reports be true he was once way up in the world, was a great financier and the confidential man and financial manager of a king.

It is reported that in the declining glory of the king of the Hawaiian Islands, when his finances were chaos, his credit gone and the kingdom tottering as it were, that he looked about him for a man to lead him out of his predicament. American speculators were crowding him to the wall and he foresaw his country going gradually into the hands of capitalists.

He began to look about for relief. In his employ was Tewksbury, a clerk in the customs department. Through some kind of coincidence he consulted Tewksbury and the clerk submitted a plan for relief. He was placed at the head of the customs affairs. It is reported, and in a very short time Tewksbury had raised the duty on all imports until before it was scarcely realized the snug round sum of $1,000,000 was added to the king's treasury.

But here the story ends. How long after this before the king went bankrupt is not known and Tewksbury's life since then has been a mystery. Whether he played traitor to the king or the heavy hand of foreign avarice compelled him to abandon the islands is not known. But that he abandoned them hurriedly seems to be the case beyond question, for he left his wife and children behind and had not seen them for more than 20 years. He has not even been in correspondence with them for many years. The letters found among his effects by Coroner Pohl yesterday bear date of many years ago and they tell about his family in Hawaii. He had a wife and two children then, but whether or not they survive him is not known. One letter states that his wife had been sent to a hospital for the insane and that she had recovered, but that she was not the same woman again. That is all that is known of Tewksbury and his family affairs.

He has relatives in Boston, Mass., and the coroner wired them last evening, but up to last accounts he had received no reply. He thought, however, that they had received the message as he had not received any notice to the contrary.

In case he does not hear from them today he will probably bury the body tomorrow.

CUPID CAPTURED THEM.

Arthur Steele, the genial and accommodating clerk of the Occident hotel, was united in marriage yesterday to one of Ilwaco's fairest belles, Miss Henrietta Simmons. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion, the happy couple standing under a wreath of roses, while the words were pronounced, that made them man and wife.

The newly married couple came over on the evening boat and are at the Occident, where they will reside. The groom was formerly an employe of the government and has many friends who will be glad to congratulate him on his good fortune in securing so fair a bride.

IMPURE BAKING POWDER SEIZED.

The New York Board of Health Find It Contains Alum and Rook, Declare It Dangerous to the Health and Dump It Into the River.

The New York papers report that the Health Department of that city has seized as dangerous to the health nearly two tons of cheap mixtures sold for baking powder, and dumped them into the offal scow to be destroyed. More of the powder was found in a Sixth Avenue department store. The report of the analysis of the Health Department stated that it was "an alum baking powder" containing alum and pulverized rock.

The different Health Authorities seem to have different ways of repressing the sale of bad baking powders. In England they have prosecuted the grocers under the general law and broken up the traffic. In Missouri the sale of alum baking powder is actually prohibited by law. In New York they seize the unwholesome stuff and cast it into the river, without any discussion. The latter way is certainly effective.

The alum baking powders are usually offered at a low price, ten to twenty cents a pound, or with some prize, as a temptation to the housewife. Customers can protect themselves by buying only high grade baking powder of established name and reputation. Do not be tempted by the grocer to take something else as "just as good" or "our own brand," for the trials show that the grocer himself is often deceived by unscrupulous makers and is selling an alum powder without knowing it.

There are several good powders on the market; let the housekeeper insist on having what she knows is right, and not be induced to risk the life of the family for an imaginary saving of a few cents.

MEETING NOTICE.

There will be a meeting of the Young Men's Republican Club at the Republican headquarters on Thursday evening, April 24, at 7:30 o'clock. Business of importance. By order of the committee.

The attack of the little "Tin God" anti-expansionists on the army relative to alleged cruelties in the Philippines will doubtless act as a boomerang when the investigation is completed.
