Question as to Whether There Has Been a Case in the City.

THE SMALLPOX FAD.

The smallpox question was discussed yesterday from all quarters. The public, as a whole, is of the opinion that there has not been a case of smallpox in the city. It is generally believed ly for the purpose of obtaining revecose way in which quarantines have and the welfare of the community Astorian led to all kinds of comment a special article this morning on the subject.

White physicians individually have will meet in regular monthly confer- found cases of smallpox, yet there has

They laugh at the mistakes of their co-The obsequies over the late Irving practitioners and say they do not Quincey Tewksbury will take place know smallpox when they see it, and say that it would be "unprofessional" to call them down.

> "If the doctors are so unprofessional as to give each other away to the public." said a prominent citizen yesterday, "why should they expect the ommon people to swallow all of the nallpox statements." The Astorian does not desire to magnify or diminish the smallpox cituation and does not pretend to give out information from a scientific point of view. The physicians are supposed to do this. But when they differ and talk about the ignorance and incompetence of one another, the public talk about. Again the Astor House case is regarded as a joke; the Hanson residence case is regarded as a fake, and the cases taken to the pest-house are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Miller, who regarded as more ridiculous, and when day with interment in Greenwood cem- why should the newspapers and public keep quiet?

Dr. John F. Crowell, expert in charge of internal commerce of the bureau of statistics, makes the gratifying announcement that foreign and domestic commerce is rapidly shifting to the Pacific Coast

It is a wonderful soap that takes hold quick and does no harm.

No harm! It leaves the skin soft like a baby's; no alkali in it, nothing but soap. The harm is done by alkali. Still more harm is done by not washing. So, bad soap is better than none.

What is bad soap? Imperfectly made; the fat and alkali not well balanced or not combined.

What is good soap? Pears'. sold all over the world.

ASTORIA, Ore. April 26, 1902.-Edior Astorian: On two occasions recently have appeared in your local/columns, short paragraphs in which it was intimated that there was some that the announcement was made sole- doubt as to there having been any smallpox in this community within nue for the doctors in the way of ser- the last few weeks. I can not in the vices for vaccinating persons. The interest of the health of the people been managed and the fact that no general allow such insinuations to go new cases have developed from the unanswered. I am aware that the res cases reported and which have been son for doubt as to the correctness of in direct communication with the publie at large has led the people to this the fact that the present epidemic is conclusion. The article in yesterday's a very mild one. The question of diand a leading physician comes out in places during the past two years, for country. In every case the medical prosion, and that is that these cases are not been a case yet reported by one undoubtedly smallpox and should be that has not been disputed by from isolated and quarantined most thoroughly. You intimate that some of our medical men insinuate that this is not smallpox, but professional etiquette smallpox. I am glad to say that I have heard no insinuations. Certainly no one who has seen the cases can have expressed such a doubt, and certainly those who have not seen the cases would not do such a thing. So far as the opinion of those outside of as their opinion on medical subjects has no market value, I think you as a journalist make a mistake when you quote their opinion. Other insinuations in the paragraphs are not worth discussing although they are no doubt worthy of the source from which they eminated. If these cases are smallpox they should be quarantined. If they are quarantined at all then the quarantine should be worthy of the name. If the city physician recommends the quarmust necessarily find something to antining of a case he does so because he thinks it is a case of contagious disease. Then it is the duty of the city to see that the quarantine laws are enforced, and enforced so as to protect the citizens. I will say before closing that there have been six cases the physicians make these statements of smallpox in all including the first one which died. These cases did not all originate from the same place, though it is easy to trace their ori-

> There is no particular danger from the present epidemic of the disease, but for obvious reasons it is well to prevent its spread so far as it is possible to do so. There is no reason for secoming alarmed or excited over such thing for the proper thing to do and the proper way of doing it is very well known in every intelligent com> munity. My idea about the proper way of handling contagious diseases is when they are discovered to report them to the proper authority, and have them quarantined quietly and not discuss the matter in the newspaprs.
