

CIVIC IMPROVEMENT COLUMN

ITEMS TO FILL THIS COLUMN REQUESTED FROM FRIENDS OF THE MOVEMENT

It has come to a point in Portland's history when the progressive, liberal, go-ahead people must decide: must make improvements; must take themselves and other people therefor; and when mossbacks and grumblers and whiners and kickers about paying the proper cost of every expensive improvement must get to the rear, and talk among themselves. If they please, about the good old times, when everybody got along and made money with out streets, lights, clean water, or much taxes. The time has come when Portland's property-owners must consider much money spent in improvement well spent.

The time has come when we must have good streets throughout the business and principal residential part of this town. We must have such streets before 1905. They must be durable streets. They will cost a good deal of money. The property owners must pay for them.

Another thing might as well be stated: it is the working people who are building up this town. The property owners are perhaps doing their share, some of them on compulsion, and the property-owners include very many working men; but the time has passed when a mere property-owner and money-maker, on account of his property, can dictate the policy of this town in regard to streets and other improvements.

We are going ahead. We are going to get out of the mud. We are going to have fine streets throughout the business district and the principal residence districts before 1905.

We are going to make the abutting and adjacent property, and the property in the city as a whole, on the system outlined in the new charter, pay for such improvements.

We are going to improve our streets hereafter with the best material adapted thereto, considering climate and durability of the material therein.

Portland is going to be no longer a loafing backwoods village. We are going to get our shoes shined on Washington street without getting in mud to our ankles before reaching Morrison street.

These wails about costs from rich men are going to fall on deaf ears, or ears that are listening to something more important and reasonable.

We are going to improve, improve, improve; and pay, pay, pay, the property will pay the cost of the improvements, and it will be the best investment the property-owners ever made; or at least that they could make now. But whether so or not, they will be forced to make the investment.—Evening Telegram, May 19.

LET ASTORIA FOLLOW THIS EXAMPLE.

National League of Improvement Associations stands for the promotion of beauty and cleanly living in all parts of our land. It is ready to aid in the promotion of good roads and forestry laws, and in the preservation of natural beauty and historic landmarks from destruction by vandals. It will work to save from pollution streams and to aid in bringing to the attention of tourists a wider knowledge of the great beauty of our rivers, streams, brooks and springs. It will endeavor to create a public sentiment in favor of public recreation grounds, such as the system of parks of Essex county, New Jersey. It will seek to promote the establishment of traveling libraries and art galleries, and to bring to the public mind a higher knowledge of the moral and educational value of municipal beauty and healthful living, and to bring into the humblest home in our broad land the joy of blooming flowers. "How," you ask, "may all these good things be brought to pass, and how may a public sentiment in their favor be created?"

We answer by the formation of an improvement association in every city, town and village in America, the local body to work not alone for its own town's improvement, but by the aid and influence of its numbers to help the National League of Improvement Associations to become a power for good that will make of America such a garden spot as the world has never yet seen or dreamed of.

To get people interested enough to form an association you must first arouse local sentiment. Talk to your friends and give them the pamphlet, "The Work of Civic Improvement," to read. This will tell what has been done in other towns. Invite the people of your neighborhood, regardless of social condition, to your home some evening to talk over the work. If your town is large enough to support a newspaper, invite the editor and his force to the meeting. To a man they will aid and support you.

If there is one family in your neighborhood that is particularly obnoxious by reason of its untidy premises, by all means invite all its members and treat them with all the courtesy and tact you possess. You may find to your amazement that this family will take a heartier interest and do more work than many whom you richly expect would aid you. If you are successful in winning such people to your side you have accomplished at the start one of the objects of improvement association work. It is a singular fact, but one often proven in our work, that a tactful woman who will show a little human interest in such families and will share flower seeds and cuttings of plants with them will do more to develop in them a spirit of right living than many generations of slum workers who proffer an impertinent patronage. There is an instinct in the human heart that resents the feeling that any one is better than we. This is a divine instinct to be encouraged rather than repressed; for when self-respect is dead beyond repair, hope is dead.

I dwell particularly upon the importance of winning the members of such families to your side, because without their co-operation your work will fall short of full usefulness. Their premises will be a continual eyecore and they can do much to tamper you. Their children may destroy your shrubs and flowers and trample paths across your lawns. I have learned to know that envy more than malice is at the bottom of nearly all this cutting of shade trees and pulling up of flowers. If their own innate love of beauty is gratified and their civic pride aroused, vandalism of this sort will be almost unknown. If you cannot get the parents to come, get the children, one after the other. If they will not come to you, go to them and give them flower seeds and show them how to care for them. You will win them in time.

day of February, 1902, in favor of D. Penni, J. W. Hickman and G. Garbarino, partners doing business under the firm name of Penni, Hickman & Co., Plaintiffs and against John H. Lindstrom, Defendant, for the sum of $171.75, the costs and disbursements of this suit taxed at $4.25 and the costs of and upon this writ commanding and requiring me to make sale of the following described real property, to-wit:

May Heaven Help Despondent

and Hopeless Sufferers from Kidney Diseases to Ac-

Paine's Celery
CompoundThe Great Medicine Cures
Bright's Disease, Diabetes
Nephritis, and Albuminuria.

Thousands of people suffer through a living death from some form of kidney disease. In the majority of cases, the poor sufferers have been informed by physicians that there is no hope.

If you are a victim of kidney disease, take courage, dear sufferer! There is a mighty saving agent that you have not yet called to your aid; it is Paine's Celery Compound. This grand medical prescription has conquered as desperate cases as yours; it has power to pluck you as a brand from the burning, if you have but the faith to give it a trial.

You may perchance ask, "What will Paine's Celery Compound do for me, that other medicines have failed to accomplish?"

Paine's Celery Compound will accomplish vastly more for you in your distress than you can imagine. Its first great vital undertaking is the purification of the life stream from waste matter, the result of decomposition of the tissues. It will remove all morbid materials, saving you from uraemic poisoning which so often proves fatal in kidney diseases.

In addition to all this, Paine's Celery Compound will establish nerve force and new nerve fibre; it will purify the weakened system and restore the full vital functions of the kidneys.

If you value life, delay not the use of Paine's Celery Compound a single hour. Your present critical condition demands the immediate use of this great life saver.

Emma Doty, of Red Buttes, Wyo., saved by Paine's Celery Compound from fatal kidney disease, writes as follows: "I had a terrible pain in my side owing to kidney troubles. I could hardly lie down; but that trouble has all left me through the use of Paine's Celery Compound. Last spring I had mountain fever and was sick a long time; since taking Paine's Celery Compound I am strong. I feel very grateful for your medicine. I am glad to say anything that would encourage people to use it."
