TRAVELING MEN WERE CAPTURED

Several Hundred Knights of the Grip Visited Astoria Yesterday.

THEY WERE ENTERTAINED

Visited a Cannery, Ate a Salmon Dinner, Went to Seaside and Returned to Portland Happy.

T. P. A.: Salmon!! Astoria!!! The Ladies!!!!

It was a beautiful day, a large crowd and a great success.

Her fame for hospitality and the story of her resources will go out all over the world.

The committee in charge and the citizens did themselves honor, and the ladies are covered all over with glory.

The traveling men came and saw and feasted, and were conquered. They are ours. Astoria is the brightest spot in the memory of the trip.

The reception and entertainment of the traveling visitors yesterday was carried out exactly as was announced in the Astorian.

The excursion train containing about 400 men and women, who came under the auspices of the T. P. A. arrived at the depot in Astoria at 11 o'clock in the morning and only stopped a sufficient time for the entertainment committee to get aboard, after which it pulled down to Sanborn's cannery.

Full preparations had been made at the cannery and the visitors were treated to the sights of a modern cannery running in full blast. They saw the freshly caught salmon—the Great Royal Chinook of the Columbia—taken from the fishermen's boats and then hurried through the various processes of the cannery until they came out in this marked and labeled and ready for shipment.

It was a sight worth crossing the continent to see. Everybody has eaten canned salmon, but only a few persons have seen the process of canning this great food fish. They viewed the work of canning in detail and watched with unabated interest and had to be torn away by the repeated announcements of the spokesman of the excursion, "Time is up!"

It is to be regretted that they did not have the time to view others of our great canneries. The Elmore, the Kinney, the Booth and the Fishermen's are all worthy of inspection, and equally as interesting as the one visited.

All of the Astoria canneries are modern and up-to-date and of sufficient capacity to meet all increased orders that may come from the East.

The entertainment committee, joined by prominent citizens and led by the Eagle Military Band escorted the visitors to the city along the line of march announced in yesterday's Astorian. When the arch of triumph, at the intersection of Commercial and Tenth, which had been remodelled in their honor, was reached, their voices rent the air with cheers. A life-size picture of President Smith, of the Oregon and Washington division of the National T. P. A., adorned the center of the arch. He is well known by all of the fraternity and is very popular, and this with the cannon balls adorning the arch marked "High Balls", and two suspended grips, with the fact that the band started up the selection "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," made a great hit with the visitors.

This good work, together with the other decorations, may be credited to the good taste of Charles V. Brown, and his worthy assistants, Mr. Brown having this department in charge. The procession continued up Commercial to Twelfth and then north to Bond and to the old regatta headquarters. The tables were already spread and behind each chair stood a handsome lady, dressed in white. They were the beauty and leaders of Astoria society. The menu consisted, as stated in yesterday's Astorian, of clam chowder, cracked crabs, crab salad, baked salmon and coffee.

It was daintily prepared and more daintily served, and was pronounced the greatest feast received on a long tour from ocean to ocean and on which the people had vied with each other in entertaining the travelling men.

More than 500 persons were served and there was sufficient left to have served as many more.

A handsome souvenir was presented ## every guest in the form of a small can of salmon. The wrapper was beautifully embossed and contained Sanborn's "S. B." brand. One end of the can contained the following, beautifully enameled: "Astoria, Oregon, T. P. A., June 7, 1902." The other end contained the card of the American Can Company. It was a unique souvenir and will do much to advertise the Columbia river salmon throughout the United States, as well as the enterprising gentlemen who originated the plan. Ryan, of Indiana, and Dunham, of Ohio, made short addresses, in which they stated that Astoria had eclipsed all other cities for its hospitality, and they also paid the ladies high compliments; said they had done too much for them and that the visitors were not worthy of such kindness.

At 1 o'clock the visitors took their train for Seaside, accompanied by the ladies who waited on the tables and the committee in charge of the entertainment and a number of prominent citizens. An hour was spent at Seaside and this famous summer resort was seen at its best. The tide was in, the sky was clear and the temperature was just right. It was a typical, beautiful day at Seaside.

Nothing was done at Seaside except to view and admire the mighty Pacific, after which the train returned to Astoria and as soon as the Astorians had alighted from the train at the depot three cheers, long and loud, and a lion for Astoria her citizens, the committee in charge and the ladies led out on the evening air as the train pulled out.

A hundred visitors asked the personal privilege of expressing through the columns of the Astorian their thanks for the successful entertainment.

It was a success. There was not a hitch, there was not a word—except of praise.

The committee in charge, the ladies, the citizens, everybody did his part, and Astoria is well paid for her trouble.

Success to you, gentlemen of the grip!

FORTUNE AWAITS CLAIMANT.

Deceased Said He Had No Living Relatives.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 7.—A fortune of $12,000 in cash awaits the heirs of an old man who passed away the name of Charles Hill and who died at the Good Samaritan hospital two weeks ago. About three weeks ago the man, who was between 75 and 80 years old, was taken to the hospital for accommodations. He was taken in and paid for as the helpless rendered.

When it was found that he could not recover he was asked to tell the names of his relatives in order that they might be notified. He replied that he had not a relative on earth. He died and was duly buried. In his clothing was found $2000 in currency.

Further investigation by the public administrator led to a private box in the Union Bank of Savings. The box has just been opened and in it were found several large packages of currency, aggregating $10,000. The old man had lived here seven years in a quiet way at lodging houses and restaurants, but had no intimates and no one can be found who knows anything of his antecedents.

MITCHELL ON PANAMA COMPANY

Denounces It as Greatest Fraud Since Beginning of the World.

WOULD DEFILE GOVERNMENT

Advocates Construction of Canal by the Nicaraguan Route—Leave Corruption Alone.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—After transacting some routine business and discussing for some time a bill to relieve ships from London dock charges, the senate resumed consideration today of the Isthmian canal project. Mitchell, of Oregon, continued his speech begun Thursday in opposition to the Panama route. After considering the engineering difficulties of the route, which he regarded as very serious, he entered upon a denunciation of the methods of the Panama Canal Company, which he declared was the most corrupt in the history of the world. He warned congress that no surer way could be found to defeat the construction of any canal than to adopt the Spooner amendment, as the United States could have no connection with the Panama route without becoming involved in intricacies of French adventures, from which it would find it impossible to extricate itself. He declared that any connection this country might have with the Panama proposition would result in defilement of the government. Mitchell handled without gloves the proposition to build the canal by the Panama route, and incidentally the Spooner amendment. By admission of this proposition, he said:

"The United States would be tackling upon one of the greatest frauds and pieces of corruption known since the world began."

He could not believe, he said, that the senate proposed to consider seriously a proposition which will involve the United States in a legal controversy for a hundred years. "I want the senate to know the facts and to determine whether we really shall take up this rotten concern across the sea."

Mitchell expressed the opinion that the enactment of the Spooner amendment would result in a postponement of the beginning of the canal project, as the president would probably have to make independent investigation of the subject before he could pass upon it. He urged congress to assume the responsibility of declaring a route and not turn that responsibility over to the president. He intimated that such action would be cowardly. He suggested the possibility that if the United States would construct the canal by the Nicaragua route, the completion of which would be disastrous to the United States.

ANTI-ANARCHY BILL.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The house spent the entire day voting upon the amendments to the anti-anarchy bill, but all failed, except one proposed by McCall, of Massachusetts, to strike from anarchist section the word "assault" where it is coupled with killing in inhibition against conspiring for killing a chief magistrate of a foreign country.

Dr. Duff had formerly practiced medicine here, but recently moved to Blockton. Ill feeling had existed between the two men and when the doctor departed the farmer proposed to kill him if he ever came back. When Clark learned that Dr. Duff had returned he borrowed a shotgun and, locating the doctor in a drug store, he entered and fired two shots at him, both taking effect: near the heart. Clark at once gave himself into custody, remarking that he had kept his promise.
