The steamer Electro, while returning from Knappa last night with a dancing party on board, became entangled in a fisherman's net, which caused considerable trouble and delaying the boat for about two hours. It was impossible to clear the net from the propeller, and a boat was lowered and dispatched for help. The gasoline launch Louise towed her in.

At yesterday's session of the county court the petition of John Lewis and others for the establishment of a road along the John Day river was allowed. The court also instructed Clerk Clinton to advertise for bids for the bridge to be built across the Necanicum, and the call appears today in the Astorian. The bridge will be 80 feet long and 12 feet in width, and will be a span bridge. Little other business was transacted, the members of the court spending the greater part of the day along the Nehalem road.

H. A. Webster has been chosen by the state board of fish commissioners to succeed Henry Bultman, who resigned his position as deputy fish warden a few days ago. Mr. Webster had been stated by Warden Van Dusen to take charge of the hatchery work in the Tillamook district, but it was decided to make him deputy warden. His salary is $1000 yearly, $500 being allowed him as expenses. Mr. Webster is a member of the legislature, having been elected at the late election. Mr. Van Dusen, who returned yesterday from Salem, says Mr. Webster is a most efficient man, and that he will doubtless make a good deputy warden. He is expected to arrive in the city this week.

County Judge Tranchard and Commissioners Young and Jarke yesterday paid an official visit to the scene of operations on the Nehalem road, Mr. Young providing transportation. The members of the court report that the work is progressing rapidly. The Greenwood cemetery site is not yet completed, but will be shortly, when the two sections of road will be connected. The sawmill is cutting 16,000 or 11,900 feet of lumber daily, and for a mile on the south side of the incomplete dyke planking has been hauled and will be laid soon. There is plenty of lumber on hand to plank a goodly portion of the road. The only part of the road that does not look good is that portion being built by the city.

Among the visitors in the city is Herman Silverstein, a retired merchant of Chico, Cal., who is the guest of Herman Wise. Mr. Silverstein is on his way to Davenport, Wash., to visit his daughter. He states that business is flourishing throughout the fruit growing sections of California, and that the fruit crop will be a large one this year. Chico was the home of the late General Bidwell, once prohibition candidate for president of the United States. Mr. Bidwell owned a farm of 28,000 acres near Chico, and at his death 8000 acres were cut up into small farms, in an effort to increase the population. Chico has grown to be a city of 7000 people and is rapidly adding to its population. The weather prevailing here makes Mr. Silverstein's visit a most pleasant one.

An effort to give a friend in need a drink of whisky cost Lighthouse Nelson $10 yesterday afternoon. The friend happened to be Peter DeRock, who had been vaggued by the police the previous night. Lighthouse knew from experience that DeRock would suffer greatly from thirst after a few hours' incarceration, so, in an outburst of tender sympathy for the individual who had been separated from "booze," the old man bought a half-pint of whisky, tucked it away under his coat, and proceeded to the city jail. He told the chief that he wanted to have a short talk with his old college chum, DeRock, and assured the officer that he had no whisky or other liquor concealed on his person. So Lighthouse was admitted to the presence of his friend. In his desire to satisfy his thirst, DeRock was indiscreet enough to let the officers see him drinking the whisky, and investigation implicated Lighthouse. He was arrested, arraigned in the police court and fined $10. DeRock was convicted of vagrancy and fined $50. Sentence was suspended on condition that he leave the city, which he promised to do.

The meeting of the Push Club last night was an important one and much business was transacted. The attendance was quite large. Some time ago the club wrote Captain Langditt, asking if it would be possible for him to have a road constructed from the city to the Tongue Point buoy project. A reply has been received from Chief Clerk Constock, who says the matter will be placed before Captain Langditt on his return from Alaska. An invitation was received from the Civic Improvement League to join that organization. Dr. Henderson stated that similar invitations had been extended to all local bodies, many of which had joined. On motion, the Push Club became a member. Mr. Gaston said that the agricultural committee's booklet had been doing good work, and that many replies had been received by him from different states. President Carnahan stated that an effort should be made by the club to secure title to half of the tract purchased from C. W. Shively for park purposes, the club having paid over half the purchase price, $1250. A committee was appointed to consult with Mr. Shively.

The Push Club committee that is arranging for the reception of the delegates to the National Dairy & Pure Food Association has decided to dine the visitors at the Occident. Accommodations have been provided for 80 persons. The delegates will arrive on the steamer Potter at about 2:15 or 2:30 on Friday, and will land at the O. R. & N. dock. After a fish dinner at the Occident the visitors will be taken to the Kinney cannery and there view the process of canning salmon. The officials of the Columbia River Packers' Association will be asked to hold salmon until the afternoon that the delegates may see how fish are packed. The following reception committee has been named by President Carnahan: Mayor Supplement, Judge Tranchard, Commissioner Young, Commissioner Clark, Judge Page, Judge Bowditch, Judge Taylor, S. S. Gordon, J. E. Higgins, Frank Patton, S. Schmidt, John Fox, B. Van Dusen, Dr. Tuttle, Dr. Ball, Dr. Pilkington, C. W. Fulton, W. L. Robb, Frank L. Parker, T. O. Trullinger, J. T. Ross, F. A. Steps looking to the holding of the ninth annual regatta were taken at last night's meeting of the Push Club, and there is little question that the carnival will be held this year. For some weeks past, ever since the address report of the committee appointed to investigate the situation, there has been a strong sentiment in favor of holding the regatta. It was realized that the work should have been undertaken long ago, but at the same time it was the opinion that failure to hold the carnival this year would result in the loss of all the advertising that has been done during the past eight years. P. A. Trullinger brought up the subject at the meeting of the club last evening, and the members generally expressed themselves as being in favor of some action. After a thorough discussion of the situation, the conclusion was reached that the carnival should be held, and the following committee was appointed to make arrangements for holding the carnival: P. B. Rovey, P. A. Trullinger and A. S. Skyles. This committee will meet today and prepare a plan of action. Its principal duty will be the selection of a regatta committee. Owing to the short time remaining, it will be necessary to cut out some of the features of former regattas, such as the California oarsmen. The success of the Clerks' Union with the Fourth of July celebration demonstrated that a regatta could be held this year, and the committee will go to work with a vim. The committee will make a full report at the next meeting of the Push Club, which takes place on Wednesday night. In the meantime, all those interested in the regatta are asked to lend assistance to the committee and make its work as easy as possible.

The success of the efforts of the joint committee to locate the Hume sawmill here shows what can be done in Astoria if the people pull together," said President Carnahan, of the Push Club, yesterday. "The committee was out only a few hours and everyone called upon readily subscribed to the fund. The committee has located five important enterprises here since the first of the year, and an increase in population of fully 2000 can be expected as the result of its work. The first concern located in Astoria was the Universal sash and door factory, and later effected an arrangement whereby the Leathers shipbuilding plant will be increased in size. The last enterprise secured, the Hume mill, is the biggest thing of the kind ever landed by local commercial bodies. The five enterprises secured will employ 400 men, who will support a population of 2000. The rebuilding of the Clatsop mills will mean an increased payroll at that institution, and altogether the outlook for the future of the city is indeed bright. We are particularly gratified with the success of our efforts to interest Mr. Hume, who is a big man financially and will prove a valuable acquisition to our business forces. I look to see a boom in the manufacturing line that will make Astoria the very best city on the coast, for, once the start has been made, many new enterprises will be located here without much effort on the part of the people of the city."

NOTICE FOR BIDS.

Bids will be received by the county of Clatsop, Oregon, until the 21st day of July, 1902, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the delivery in the court house yard of 25 cords of wood, bids to state kind of wood to be furnished, the same to be of sound quality, full cord lengths, and delivered on or before the 1st day of September, 1902.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

By order of the county court.
J. C. CLINTON,
County Clerk.

BIG MILL FOR ASTORIA

GEORGE W. HUME TO BUILD IN THIS CITY.

MILL Will Cut 100,000 Feet Daily and Will Employ 125 Men at Start.

The fifth new enterprise secured by the joint manufacturers committee of the Astoria Chamber of Commerce and Push Club was landed yesterday afternoon, when arrangements were completed whereby the George W. Hume sawmill is to be built in this city. Work on the new mill, which will occupy a site at Tongue Point, will shortly be commenced, and before the rainy season sets in the mill will have been constructed. It is one of the biggest enterprises ever secured for Astoria, and as Mr. Hume is noted for the scope of his business ventures, his investment will doubtless mean more than appears at present.

When Mr. Hume came to Astoria some weeks ago and made an effort to secure a saw mill site at Tongue Point, he was unsuccessful, and for a time it seemed that the enterprise would be lost to this city. Mr. Hume stated to an Astorian man a few days ago that it was not then too late for Astoria to secure the location of the mill, although he refrained from making any proposals. Among the active business men who took cognizance of the situation was S. S. Gordon. Mr. Gordon went before the manufacturers committee and urged action on the part of that body. Accordingly the committee went to work on the matter, with the result that the enterprise was secured.

It now transpires that the site asked by Mr. Hume belonged to the Van Dusen Investment Company. It has a frontage of 500 feet and is 2000 feet deep, lying just west of Tongue Point, and extending out to the harbor line. The Van Dusens asked $5000 for the property. Mr. Hume offering $3250. Later the owners reduced the price to $4000, and there the matter stood. Neither Mr. Hume nor Mr. Van Dusen was in any way responsible for the action of the committee in taking hold of the matter. When the committee learned the status of the deal, it at once set to work to raise the $750 difference between the intending purchaser and the owners, and in about two hours yesterday afternoon the amount was subscribed.

It is understood that Mr. Hume will make his own arrangements for other property near the Tongue if it is found necessary to use it for the purpose of putting up the mill, the acquisition of the tract secured yesterday being the principal consideration so far as the site was concerned.

The mill which Mr. Hume will erect at the Tongue will be modern in every respect. It will have a capacity of 100,000 feet daily and will employ at the beginning 125 men. The enterprise will involve the expenditure of $100,000. It has been agreed that work on the mill shall be commenced at once and rushed to completion. Mr. Hume is a man of action and will doubtless have the mill in operation really before the time now figured on.

The joint committee experienced no difficulty whatever in securing the necessary amount, the people readily subscribing to the fund. The necessary money was raised before half the business men and property owners whom the committee intended to call upon had been seen. The subscribers to the fund are as follows:
