The O. R. & N. Co. is making extensive repairs to its property at Ilwaco, and a new wharf is among the improvements. Contractor Pastabed, who has the contract for this improvement, leaves for the scene of operations today, with a force of men.

Miss Nellie Smith, of Portland, is again with us to demonstrate the various uses of the perfect food, Shredded Wheat biscuits. Call at Johnson Bros. store today or tomorrow and sample the many new and appetizing dishes, free, which she prepares from this excellent food, Shredded Wheat.

Mrs. Hare, mother of Engineer Jas. W. Hare, is reported to be very ill at her home. Mrs. Hare is in her 91st year and grave fears are entertained that she will not recover. She is suffering from general debility. Mrs. Hare is one of the most popular women in Astoria, and her many friends will be grieved to learn of her serious condition.

Bids for the foundation of George W. Hume's new mill were opened yesterday, that of N. Clinton & Son being lowest. The contract price for the driving and capping of 1500 piles is $2.05 each; for laying the plank, $2.25 per thousand; and for away bracing, $6. Hume will furnish the material, and early next week the work of driving the foundation will be commenced. It will be finished in 60 days.

A daring burglar entered the home of John Logan, at Olney, Sunday, and stole $200. The inmates of the house were away at the time and the burglar took advantage of their absence to search the place for valuables. He found a purse containing a check for $100 and $60 in cash. The theft was discovered upon the return of the Logans. There is not the slightest clue to the burglar, who probably passed through Astoria yesterday on his way to Portland.

The Grays Bay Logging Company has commenced the work of rebuilding its Deep River camp, and is expected to resume within a short time. New ties have been ordered here for the railroad trestle, which was destroyed by the big fire.

John Larson was arrested on complaint of Charles Carlson, who alleged that Larson had struck Carlson's small son. Larson pleaded guilty in the justice's court and was fined $12 or six days in jail. He said he was drunk when he struck the child and was extremely regretful he had done so.

We desire to call special attention to the stock of crockery and glassware now carried by Foard & Stokes Company. This firm has every advantage in securing the world's best product in this line on account of its immense buying facilities. All the latest and most popular creations in fancy table dishes both in sets and individual pieces are secured in season and placed on display at prices that are equal to those in San Francisco and Portland. A visit to the store will convince you of this fact.

Copies of Glenns Falls, N. Y., papers received in Astoria contain extended accounts of the amateur production there of the drama, "Cuba." Among the participants was Miss Jessie Jewett, of this city, who is visiting with her aunt, Mrs. Suprenant, and studying music. Miss Jewett rendered two solos, "The Flower Song" and "La Jota," and her efforts were flattering.

The Astoria baseball team went to Ilwaco Sunday and there defeated the South Bend nine in an interesting game. The score was 14-5. The Astoria team was strengthened with Portland players, of whom there was a goodly sprinkling in the South Bend line-up. Harry McDermott pitched great ball for the Astorians and had a large crowd. The game was seen by a large crowd and was the best ever played in Southwestern Washington.

The Oriental steamship Indramaha arrived down the river yesterday with a partial cargo for China and Japan. The total value of the cargo is estimated at $150,000. Flour consignments to the amount of 150,000 constituted a good share of the freight, and many thousands of feet of lumber took up a large portion of the cargo space. With the exception of 2000 barrels, the whole shipment was destined for Hongkong. That port also received 250,000 feet of lumber. For Shanghai there was a shipment of 1100 bales of domestics and a small lot of flour. Kobe and Yokohama were both down on the manifest for consignments of cotton and flour, as well as miscellaneous freight. Nagasaki was down for a lot of dressed lumber and machinery. George Merriam, son of Captain Merriam, of the Portland custom-house service, went along with the Indramaha as ship's surgeon.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Candidate of Theology H. W. Sorensen was ordained minister of the gospel at the Norwegian Evangelical Lutheran church of East Astoria. The church was tastefully decorated with flowers and greens and a large audience was present. Rev. O. M. Holden, the resident pastor, conducted the introductory service and read a short biography of the candidate, written by himself. Rev. N. Pedersen, of Silverton, delivered the ordination sermon, pointing out with great earnestness the obligations which the holy calling of pastor placed upon him who entered into such service, as well as the great reward to be received by the faithful pastor not in this life but in the next. Rev. Pedersen also ordained the candidate, assisted by Rev. Holden and Rev. O. Hagoos, of Portland, a laborer in the Lord's vineyard. Rev. Sorensen was born at Sundbyvesten, Denmark, September 23, 1872, emigrated to this country in 1897; studied theology at Luther Seminary, Hamline, Minn., where he completed his course of study in May last. He has accepted a call from the mission board to assist Rev. O. M. Holden in his work especially in the interest of home missions among the Lutherans of the city and through the state of Oregon.

The need of the illustrated book that is to be published by the Chamber of Commerce and Push Club is felt daily, and the committee having charge of the publication has been urged to hasten the work as much as possible. Great difficulty is being experienced in securing photographs and the necessary information, but from this time on the work will go along nicely. Scores of requests for information about Astoria are received daily, and the local commercial bodies have no proper matter to send out. James W. Welch received more than 20 requests for information, during the week from Secretary Moore, of the Basin Board of Trade, and referred them to R. M. Gaston for reply. Mayor Suprenant is also in receipt of many similar letters. The material for most of the book has already been prepared. G. W. Lounsbury has communicated with Mr. McKinney, of the Harriman system, with reference to the distribution of the books, which will in this manner be placed at many points of advantage.

The arrival of the Examiner here yesterday was eagerly awaited by local sports, who wished to read W. W. Naughton's account of the Fitzsimmons-Jeffries fight, which was pronounced by that expert on sporting matters to have been a gigantic fake. According to Naughton, he handed to Mayor Schmitz, the day before the fight, a sealed envelope containing a statement made to him by a person who had been at the training quarters of one of the principals, and which was to the effect that Fitz was to lose in the eighth round. The letter was opened by the mayor after the fight, and the tip therein proved to be a correct one. Naughton said he thought as the fight progressed that the statement would prove to be a wild one, so fine a showing did the Cornishman make. He says Fitz had Jeffries cut to pieces when the final blows were delivered. He believes the fight to have been a swindle pure and simple, and says a man who went out from a solar plexus punch could not within 12 or 15 seconds have found voice to make the loud announcement that came from Fitz. The Cornishman's showing, says Naughton, was the best ever made by him in his career, and he thinks Fitz would easily have beaten Jeffries but for the arrangement. Locally the belief is growing that Fitz laid down.

The Chamber of Commerce committee on commerce and navigation made an extensive report last night on the improvement of Astoria harbor. The work heretofore done on the lower river has not been of any especial benefit to this city, but has, it is believed, resulted in the shoaling of the channel in front of Astoria, as well as that below the city. The report of the committee, after reviewing the work done, concludes with the following queries: "Should the middle channel above Tongue Point be opened, or should the channel be kept across the hogback? If across the hogback, then should it be thrown down against Taylor stands, or opened in the vicinity of its former position? Will not a channel across to the O. R. & N. wharf tend to fill up the channel from that wharf to Tongue Point? Does it not, by changing the amount of water along the city front or carrying more silt, injure the channel below Astoria? Does the dredging and constant stirring up of sand above injure the Astoria harbor? Do the Deadmona sands, as an island, menace the channel from Astoria to the Sea? What should be done not only to improve but preserve the harbor of Astoria from Tongue Point to Fort Stevens? The report of the committee, while without definite recommendation, will be forwarded to the engineers, as well as to Senator Mitchell and Congressman Williamson, and an effort will be made to see that lower river improvements are hereafter made with a view to the protection of Astoria harbor. It is the purpose of the chamber to also secure a survey of Youngs bay, as part of Astoria harbor, and efforts in that direction are now being made.

Andrew Mattson, a Swede, aged about 30 years, made an almost successful effort last evening to kill himself. Mattson is a fisherman, is married and has two children. He went home yesterday afternoon and was seated at the dinner table when the suicidal mania seized him. He jumped from his chair, drew a large pocket knife from his pocket and slashed his throat. He then ran through the back door of his house, which is in East Astoria, and went about 100 yards back on the hill, where he fell. Dr. Rosenberg was summoned and at once called Dr. Pilkington to his aid. Dr. Pilkington arrived about 20 minutes after Mattson had used his knife, and found the man to be in dangerous condition. The first slash made by him had been one of little consequence, but the second time Mattson made a fearful gash in his throat. He jabbed the knife straight in and then slashed to the left, severing the Adam's apple and the windpipe. Dr. Pilkington sewed up the wounds, and at 10:30 last night Mattson seemed to be resting easily. Whether or not he will recover cannot now be told, but Dr. Pil-ington thinks there is a good chance for him to pull through. Mattson is a very powerful fellow, and when Dr. Pilkington first attempted his examination of the man's throat the sufferer struck him a terrific blow, also kicking him. The combined efforts of seven men were required to hold Mattson. When he cut his throat at 7 o'clock, his wife and children were at dinner with him. Mattson had been drinking yesterday. Friends of the man say he was very erratic when under the influence of liquor, and it is probable his spree was responsible for his rash act. He was taken to the county jail by Sheriff Linville and is being cared for there. As far as can be learned, there was no cause for the attempted suicide.
