Warren Cyrus met with an accident at Seaside yesterday that might have been a fatal one. He was working at the top of an old telegraph pole, when it suddenly gave way, and Mr. Cyrus "took a tumble." He was badly shaken up and a wrist was dislocated, but he escaped serious injury.

The next great event will be the union Sunday school excursion to Seaside on Aug. 21st. The rates will be 75 cents for all over 15 years of age, and 40 cents for all under 15 years. Members of the Congregational, Baptist and two Methodist schools, under 15 years of age, will be charged 25 cents.

Astoria court of the Foresters of America will have a meeting tonight, and several of the leading Foresters of the state will be present, among them being Grand Chief Ranger C. G. Burkhardt, of Albany, and Grand Secretary S. Karika, of Portland. All members of the court here are requested to be present.

The funeral of the late Harry Lautenback occurred yesterday afternoon at Coroner Pohl's undertaking parlors, the services being conducted by the Rev. McCormick. The services were attended by a large number of friends of the deceased. The floral tributes were very beautiful. The remains were laid to rest in Greenwood.

Oyster suppers are never out of season at the Toke Point oyster house, because Toke Point Eastern oysters, developed in our waters, have the peculiarity of being in season the year round. This popular house has the peculiarity of serving the daintiest delicacies of all seasons in the most appetizing manner at all hours of the day or night.

The work of dyking the tideland about the east side of the mouth of the Lewis and Clark river is nearly completed. All that now remains to do is to inclose Jeffries Slough. This has been the most difficult part of the job, as the stream is one of the largest of its kind, and the strong current interferes greatly with the work. The completion of this dyke will mean one of the finest pasture properties in the country.

The wheel of justice made another turn yesterday afternoon. C. Donnelly was fined $10 for fighting, and Ed. Nees forfeited $10; he had been arrested for fighting. A. Anson, a 19 year old boy, who was arrested with Nees, for fighting, pleaded not guilty. On account of his age, Judge Nelson allowed him to go, but informed the young man that if he was brought in to court again, he would not be let off so easily.

A number of citizens of the city think there are altogether too many thieves hanging around the town. Not a day passes without a report of some robbery, and many times it is no small affair. Quite a number of fishing nets are missing, and Sunday night George Elso had over three hundred dollars stolen. Last night, a delivery wagon belonging to Pat Lawler broke down at the foot of Seventeenth street; the wagon was loaded with salt; the driver went to get some help to fix his vehicle, and when he returned the salt had disappeared.

W. R. Hume, son of George W. Hume, arrived in the city yesterday from San Francisco, and will call Astoria his home from now on. Mr. Hume, jr., has been associated with years, and comes here to take charge his father at San Francisco for many of the new sawmills to be erected by Mr. Hume, sr. The young man is well known in this city, having visited it very often until about 12 years ago, when his visits here were discontinued, and were not resumed until last July. His name appears on the Occident register as W. R. Hume, city.

Some months ago E. Normile shipped a mule down from Portland on the steamer Haasalo. When the mule arrived here, he was tied to a plov awaiting the arrival of Mr. Normile. Before the owner came, the animal broke away and was injured. Mr. Normile wanted the O. R. & N. Co. to pay $150 damages; in the contract of shipping it had been agreed that the liability of the company should not be more than $100. A law suit followed, and the plaintiff won in the district court, but the case was appealed. Yesterday the state supreme court reversed this decision. And now the mule can rest in peace.

KNAPPA NOTES.

Mr. Crow's school is now having a short vacation.

Fred and Andrew Sture spent last Friday at Seaside.

Mr. Franz and Mr. Taylor have begun putting their logs into the water.

Mr. and Mrs. Sture and their little son Astor made a trip to Seaside last week.

Saturday evening a very pleasant ice cream social was held at Union Hall. All seemed to have a good time.

Miss Florence Ross, of Astoria, who has been making a week's visit with her aunt, Mrs. Cameron, returned home Saturday.

On Monday evening of last week the good people of Knappa gave a farewell party, at Union Hall, to Mrs. Coulter's family. Refreshments were served and the evening spent in a jolly good time.

Mrs. Coulter, her daughter Lizzie, and grandchildren, Willie, James, Dollie and Dora Eaton, left for Weiser, Idaho, their future home, last week. They were accompanied by Mr. Robert Coulter and wife, of Astoria.

A very disagreeable looking tramp has been hanging around here for several days, frightening the women and children. He visited the house of Mr. Banks twice in one day. Mr. Banks therefore remained at the house as protection to his invalid wife and daughter, Miss Bertha.

On Tuesday evening a number of little girls met at the home of Bessie and Ida Hutchinson in a farewell party to Dollie and Dora Eaton. Presents were exchanged and the little girls left with the best wishes of all their playmates.

We hope they will find a pleasant home in Idaho, and new friends to love them as they were loved by their old friends in Knappa.

NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED AT SEA.

The new system of wireless telegraphy renders it possible the realization of the prediction that newspapers would be published on the ocean liners. They could not, however, be as much up-to-date or effective as those published on land. In this respect they would differ widely from the famous Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, because it has been proven to be just as effective on sea as on land. We would therefore urge everyone contemplating an ocean trip to take a supply with them. It is invaluable as a tonic and preventive of sea-sickness. Those who remain on land should always keep a bottle of it in the house to cure heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation and malaria. Don't fail to try it.

FINNISH BROTHERHOOD PICNIC.

Remember the Finnish Brotherhood picnic to Seaside on Sunday, Aug. 17, and a dance at Foard & Stokes' hall in the evening, all for $1. Tickets can be had at Pentilla's cigar store and from Charles Larson, Welch block. Everybody is going.
