GLOBE PROVES A SUCCESS

LIFE SAVER IS TURNED LOSE IN ROUGH SEA AND SAILS TO SHORE

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Another test has been given to the life saving globe invention for use in shipwrecks by Captain Donvig, a Norwegian, says a Herald dispatch from London.

While the waves were running extremely high and a sea was running in which, it was declared, no lifeboat could live, the globe was towed by a tug from Dover harbor into the channel.

In order that the apparatus should be as near as possible in the same condition as it would be if used in case of a shipwreck, it was weighted with sand bags, which, with four men who were in the globe, made the weight equivalent to that of 20 men and 30 days' provisions.

The globe, without its crew, was first towed out to sea between Dover and the south foreland. The strong wind raised terrific seas. Several times the tug was caught in the trough and her decks were completely swept, so that it was necessary to batten down all the hatchways. But the globe rode over the waves like a cork. Finally it was towed into quiet water, where Captain Donvig, accompanied by three Dover seamen went aboard. They fastened the manhole and the globe was again towed to sea. When the full force of the wind and seas was experienced, Captain Donvig signalled through the manhole to cast off the towrope.

The globe, left to itself, bobbed about in the heavy seas, but showed no inclination to roll over.

After tossing about for 10 or 15 minutes Captain Donvig and one of the sailors emerged from the manhole, and, lashing themselves on the outside of the globe, set a small sail which they pulled through the manhole with them. The air funnel was used as a mast and the queer craft was navigated back to harbor, a distance of several miles.

STRIKE FROM SYMPATHY

Unusual Union Order Stops Work on Vanderbilt's Residence

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—A sympathetic strike of unusual nature, involving 500 men, has tied up work on the residence of George W. Vanderbilt, Fifty-first street and Fifth avenue, in which extensive alterations are being made. The strike was ordered by the buildings trades council on behalf of the Amalgamated Painters' society, although no painters will be employed in the building for two months. The plasterers have just begun their work and painting will be started only after the plasterers have finished.

The action was taken by the union in an effort to force the contractors for the decorations to discharge their workmen who are members of the Brotherhood of Painters and to employ those affiliated with the Amalgamated society.

SHEEP RUSTLERS PURSUED BY SHERIFF'S POSSE

Five Men Blow Up Herder's Cabin and Attempt to Escape With Large Flock of Sheep

FOWLER, Col., Nov. 19.—Five men drove off 1400 head of sheep from the herd of James Brown, 15 miles northwest of this place, after dynamiting the hut in which the herder was sleeping. The explosion blew the cabin to pieces and threw the herder into the air. Mr. Brown was aroused by the noise of the explosion and found the herder lying unconscious upon the ground. He was not seriously hurt. A posse overtook the men with the sheep after a chase of several miles. They abandoned the flock and fled northward. Sheriff Baldwin started out with a posse later, determined to apprehend the would-be rustlers.

ILLITERACY A MENACE

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 19.—The Merchants and Manufacturers' association has adopted a resolution advocating the restriction of immigration to the United States by an illiteracy test. DAILY NEWSPAPERS ARE LOSING THEIR INFLUENCE

According to an Address By W. J. Bryan Before Body of Advertising Men In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The Atlas club an organization of advertising men, held its quarterly banquet and annual election at the Calumet club last night. William J. Bryan spoke on "How the West Advertises Itself." Speaking of the growth and influence of weekly newspapers, Mr. Bryan said:

"The daily is becoming less and less a political paper. As a great business enterprise, the city daily has passed beyond the stage where the owner can be the editor, and as the paper thus ceases to be the organ of one man it loses its political influence. But as people will always require papers that discuss political questions, we shall have the growth of the weekly papers."

IDLERS IN ENGLAND. MIDLAND TOWNS CANNOT COMPETE WITH AMERICAN MADE GOODS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—While the talk about the American invasion has ceased in the press, there is, cables the London correspondent of the Tribune, no lack of evidence of active competition in many lines of manufacture. The provincial hotels are filled with American commercial travelers and agents of manufacturing firms, and there is a large increase in the number of branch houses established for permanent operations in the United Kingdom. The results of this destructive competition are noticeable in the midland towns, like Northampton and Leicester, which have been dependent for their prosperity upon the boot and shoe trade. There has been a marked decline in the production for both the home and foreign trade. The streets of those towns are filled with idlers, and the shoemakers' wages are falling. Leicester is more fortunate than Northampton, since it has the hosiery industry, which has not been seriously affected by the production abroad, but it has a large working force of shoemakers now menaced with loss of employment. Northampton is in a sorry plight from the shrinkage of business.

The fortunes of those towns might have been retrieved if the shoe manufacturers had kept abreast of American enterprise and equipped their factories with labor saving appliances. They neglected those matters, however, and American boots and shoes are now sold in England at prices that cannot be met, either at Leicester or Northampton.

The amounts were paid under protest pending the settlement of the question whether they were an overpayment of property tax. The company asserts it has been unjustly taxed on investments made before the imposition of the war revenue tax.
