THE BEST SUGAR INDUSTRY.

The really wonderful development of the best sugar industry during the last 50 years is most excellently shown by some statistics that the treasury department has issued of the world's production of sugar. The growth of sugar consumption is also strikingly shown:

In 1840 the total sugar-crop of the world was only 1,150,000 tons. In 1900 it was 8,800,000 tons. The world's population did not double during these 60 years, yet its consumption of sugar increased fully eight times. The rapid increase in the production of beet sugar furnishes an even more striking exhibit.

The discovery of sugar in the beet was made by a German chemist, Margraff, as early as 1747. No practical results followed his discovery, however, as the cost of obtaining sugar from the beet by laboratory methods was too high as compared with that of cane sugar. Little progress was accomplished until about 50 years later when another German chemist, Achard, succeeded in extracting sugar from the beet root on a comparatively large scale. In 1812 a manufactory was in operation at Sillesia, in which, under Achard's direction, about 20 quintals of beets were worked up daily, and about five pounds of sugar extracted from every quintal. The high price of sugar prevailing at that time all over the European continent by reason of the blockade and the great interest and favorable attitude taken by the different continental governments toward the new experiment caused it to be a success for a short time. With the downfall of Napoleon and the opening of European ports to the entry of colonial products the price of sugar declined and most of the beet sugar establishments were abandoned.

Experiments continued to be made, however, and at the end of the nineteenth century the beet sugar industry began to show signs of permanent success. The technical points were proved and the cost reduced. The development of the industry in the United States has arisen largely from the successful experiments in Germany.

In 1855 the total beet sugar crop of the world was only 182,000 tons. In 1902 it was 5,510,000 tons. In 1849 beets supplied less than five percent of the world's sugar consumption whereas in 1900 beets supplied 67.71 percent. Thus the sugar producing area of the world, says this treasury bulletin, "has in less than half a century been shifted from the tropics northward, and the farmer of the temperate zone has shown his ability notably to compete with the low priced labor of the tropics, but in doing so has reduced by one-half the cost of the article produced."

OUR NEW CHANCE IN CHINA.

The determination of the representatives of the European powers to force China to pay its obligations to them in gold instead of silver, which is the currency of the empire, stands a chance to precipitate another crisis. Since the time, when, about two years ago, China agreed to pay the indemnities to certain European powers, as well as to the United States and Japan, growing out of the Boxer outrages of 1899-1900, silver has declined 20 percent in commercial value and it is almost certain to drop further, owing to the change to the gold standard which is about to be made in the Philippines and in other parts of the orient. This, of course, will add seriously to China's burdens.

It is apparently the intention of the Washington government to try to have the Chinese case submitted to The Hague tribunal. All the governments which signed the protocol two years ago except that of the United States seem disposed to push this matter of the payment of the indemnity in gold. The United States is trying to get the rest of the powers to grant concessions to China, owing to the drop in silver, which was not foreseen at the time the adjustment was reached. Thus far none of the other countries appear disposed to show any lenience. Undoubtedly the feeling that China will not be able to pay the indemnity, and that thus an excuse will be furnished for seizing some of its territory, has much to do with the attitude of the empire's creditors.

The United States should use all its influence to get some concessions for China, and to get the matter submitted to some impartial tribunal. It is clear that China will not be able to meet the terms of the allies if the gold stipulation should be enforced. The determination of the European nations to extract their pound of flesh will lead to grave complications in China, which will once more bring the question of dismemberment in burning shape. If the United States succeeds in having the matter referred to arbitration, she will gain another brilliant triumph for peace and progress which will add to her prestige throughout the world.

From the New York Sun we learn that the Pinkerton detective agency in that city has a record of 65 bank robberies committed in various parts of the country from September 15, 1902, to January 6—that is within a time of less than four months. Evidently the burglar business is booming, and there is great activity among the more enterprising members of the profession. The crimes have been committed in small towns only, but the number is the largest on record in so short a time. The chief seat of the activity of the burglars is the Mississippi valley, but several robberies have occurred in New York, in Pennsylvania and in New England. The one farthest west occurred in Utah, not a single one being reported for the entire Pacific coast. In the south there were a few, scattered from South Carolina to Texas, but the great majority were grouped around Chicago for a storm center. It appears that of recent years the banks of large cities have become virtually secure from attacks of this kind. The bank robber of today has learned that the safety appliances and the careful watching that guard the banks of a city are more than he can overcome. Consequently he turns to the country towns and works for such booty as he can find there. Concerning that phase of the subject the Sun tells a curious story of an attempt at burglary in a prominent western bank, which was carried out in such a manner that "the detectives who investigated it were more than suspicious that it was undertaken in the interest of a company which makes an unusually hard kind of steel for the manufacture of safes." If there be any justification for such suspicions he have a new danger to fear, for if the manufacturers of safes begin to make a show of attempts at burglary just to get an advertisement for their goods there is no telling what we may come to. Furthermore, it is up to Chicago to explain why these things are thickest where her influence is strongest.

WHY THEY SUCCEED.
Because They Are for a Specific Purpose.

Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing well brings success. Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing. They're for sick kidneys. They cure backache, every kidney ill. Here is undeniable evidence to prove it.

Mrs. A. M. Weaver, of 115 N. A. street, Cripple Creek, Colo., whose husband is superintendent of U. P. R. R. quarries, says: "Doan's kidney pills are a remedy in which I have great confidence and I heartily re-endorse what I have before stated about them in our Cripple Creek papers. Some three years ago I gave them to our little girl who was troubled with a weakness of the kidneys. A few doses checked the annoyance and a short continuation of the treatment cured her. She has had very little trouble since, with the exception of when she caught a severe cold; then there were symptoms of recurrence, but a few doses of the pills never fails to ward off an attack. I recommended them to a lady friend of mine some time ago who used them and was also benefited. I keep them constantly in the house so as to have them on hand in case of recurrence. I do not hesitate to advise any mother to use them in her family where necessity demands."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—DOAN'S—and take no other.
