THE BAR IMPROVEMENT

REPORT OF BOARD HAS BEEN SUBMITTED.

Recommends Extension of Present Jetty and Building of Spur on the North.

The board of engineers appointed to submit a report on the matter of improving the Columbia river bar has filed its recommendations with General Gillespie. The report recommends extension of the present (or south) jetty due west for two and one-half miles. os so much of this distance as the depth of water will permit. The board entertains some doubt that this single jetty will produce and maintain a permanent channel 40 feet deep, and to insuce such a channel, if the extended jetty falls short of that accomplishment, it recommends the construction of a north jetty two and a balf miles long, designed to project from Cape Disappointment towards the south jetty and operating with the latter to force through an opening two miles in width the full volume of the Columbia One of the best and most important

> If this is done, the board says, there is no doubt about the permanent maintenance of the desired channel across the bar. The board is not sure that s north jetty is needed as long as projected, and if a shorter one will accorplish the purpose it can be stopped short at the proper point.

> The board estimates the proposed extension of the south jetty will cost $2.-260,000, and the construction of the north jetty $1,205,000, to which $250,000 is added, being the cost of operating the dredge Grant, making the total cost of the proposed miprovement $3.715,000 The report concludes:

"The board's plan is such as to permi of the carrying forward of the project within the limits prescribed by the ac of June 13, 1902. After providing for the conversion of the Grant into a seagoing dredge and for its operation for a temporary deepening of the bar channel, there remain available sufficient funds for the completion of the south jetty and its 2 1-2 mile extension. This work should be pushed as rapidly as funds will permit, subject only to the limitations with regard to impracticable depths, and in the opinion of the board it alone will secure a bar channel of greater depth than has ever existed heretofore. Provision should, however, be made for the construction of the north jetty, so that the work may be prosecuted under the most advantageous conditions, and whenever it is necessary for securing a channel of the full dimensions prescribed, there is every assurance that, when additional money is needed for constructing the north jetty, it will be promptly authorzed by congress.

The board reports adversely on the Haupt reaction jetty plan as impracticable in ways and amounting in effect to a mere extension of the old jetty.

The recommendations contained in the report meet with popular approval in Astoria. The belief pervails that extension of the jetty alone will obliterate the bar that obstructs navigation, and it is the general opinion that a spur jetty from the Washington shore will be necessary to make the south jetty fully effective. The two jetties, is is believed, will serve to perpetuate "Being of the opinion that the state the dredging operations already providof Oregon can well afford and ought to ed for. The recommendations of the board are quite in line with local opinion, and gratification was freely ex-
