Went As It Came.

So far from fulfilling the senseless adage about the lion and the lamb, March not only came in with fine weather but is giving place to April with the same sunshine and delightful days. True, we had a few blustery ones, and sufficient rain for all purposes, but the month has been hard to beat. A resident of 30 years declares this to have been the finest winter he has experienced on this coast.

Has Nervous Prostration.

W. A. Crane, who has just entered on a series of temperance meetings at the Methodist church, was suddenly stricken after his service on Monday evening and is lying seriously ill at the Occident hotel. He has been doing hard work in his business and temperance efforts; at the same time trying to complete certain studies for his better equipment as a speaker, and it is thought the strain has been too much for him. He will require an extended rest and good care to regain his health. His family is at Eureka, Calif.

Will Be Launched Soon

Captain Bob Low and son who have been building a launch near the site of the old mill on Youngs bay, have about completed their task. The launch, which will be launched about the 15th of this month, will be one of the largest boats of its class to do business on the Columbia in the vicinity of Astoria. Her measurements are to be 59 1/2 feet over all and 13 1/2 beam. A 40-horse power engine will be installed. The Lows have not as yet determined upon the particular service they will put the launch to, but as they have already received handsome offers they will not lack work.

Captain of the Berlin Injured.

The American ship Berlin under charter to the Alaska Fishermen's Packing company to carry supplies to Bristol bay, arrived in yesterday morning from San Francisco and brought with her a very sick captain. Captain Wallace, master of the ship, met with a fall while enroute for this port and the injury he sustained is of a serious nature. Captain Keating's launch, Elk, took Doctor Kinney out to the ship last night and the physician found it necessary to require the removal of the patient to the local hospital, which will be done today. During Captain Wallace's absence from his ship Captain Reynolds of the bark Harry Morse will be placed in command.

The W. C. Laws & Co.

Papers will be signed today whereby Wm. C. Laws will acquire the interest of Capt. Max Skibbe in the Eclipse Hardware company, and will become the head of the firm which, as soon as the affairs of the corporation can be wound up will be known as W. C. Laws & Co. Captain Skibbe's steamboat interests have become so important that he chose to retire from the business and devote himself entirely to steamboating. He owns the steamer Eclipse and a half interest in the Vanguard and the launch Queen. Mr Laws becomes the head of a well established business, which his proficiency has largely helped to develop. He is an expert in modern scientific steam heating, sanitary plumbing, ventilation sheet iron and copper working, etc., and will undoubtedly be a leader in his profession. The store and shop on Bond street will be continued as heretofore, Mr. Laws' associate in business being his father, J. N. Laws, the present popular manager and president of the company.

Seen in Minnesota.

Speaking of his late visit to Pipestone Minnesota, the home of his parents, which he left 12 years ago, D. M. Stuart said: "The state of Minnesota has enjoyed a wonderful prosperity in immigration during the past few years. People have been coming in from the states to the south and east and filling up the country until they literally overflow into Canada and the states farther west. Land has quadrupled in value within 12 years, and there are no more cheap lands to be had. Illinois and Indiana farmers who sell out at $75 to $150 per acre bought at $50 in Minnesota and thought they were doing well. But there are yet large areas between that country and Clatsop county which must be settled before people will come here in such numbers as they come there. They do not know about Oregon. Many think Oregon is in Washington, because that state has been so lavishly advertised that the impression prevails that Washington is the Northwest. Neither do they believe us when we tell them what we have here. Our timber, our grass growth the year round is too much to swallow. There they actually cut trees out of which they get but a single xix scantling. I found no place where wages were higher, money more plenty or the rates of interest lower than in Astoria, which is good enough for me."

Councilman Jahlstrom Dead

Councilman P. A. Jahlstrom died suddenly yesterday morning of heart disease at his home, 284 Alameda avenue. Mr. Jahlstrom had not been well the day previous, and left the office of the Fishermen's Packing company early in the day for that reason, but his illness was not thought to be of so serious a nature and his death is a shock to the entire community. He had retired, but later awoke to refresh himself with a drink of water and Mrs. Jahlstrom found him at an early hour in the morning sitting in a chair in the room dead. Peter August Jahlstrom was born in Finland 31 years ago and for upwards of 10 years has resided in this city. For a number of years he held responsible positions in the grocery department of the Foard and Stokes company. Later he resigned from there on account of poor health and accepted a position as bookkeeper with the Fishermen's Cooperative Packing association, which position he held until his death. He was elected in 1901 councilman from the First ward. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock from the hall of the Knights of Pythias under the auspices of the Finnish Brotherhood. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery. Deceased is survived by a wife and three children.

Inspect Hume Mill

A. B. Hammond, who is an authority on sawmills as well as many other branches of industry, took occasion to inspect the Hume mill yesterday and expressed himself as being highly pleased with the plans on which the enterprise is being projected and with the manner in which the work of construction is being carried out, particularly complimenting the architect, J. W. Surprenant, on the skill shown in the design and prosecution of the work. The Hume mill, including the wharves, dryhouses, planing mill and box factory, represents an expenditure of $250,000. It is one-half larger than the Clatsop mill. For its foundation and the building of the wharves a forest of 1000 piles are required, one-half of them being already driven. The main buildings are now up and enclosed. In their construction there has been used so far 2,999,999 feet of lumber. The heavier machinery, including the engines and larger saws, is now in position and the boilers are being set. It was the intention for the mill to cut the lumber for the box factory, planing mill, dryhouses and other minor buildings, but as it will not be in operation until June 15, Mr. Hume has decided to push their construction at once and will arrive on the next steamer from San Francisco for that purpose. Verily, it was no small plant that Mr. Hammond inspected.
