Help The Ex-Convicts

Sunday Address By Chaplain to Salem Penitentiary, Who Believes In the Goodness of Bad Men.

Rev. E. W. St. Pierre is missionary o the state institutions at Salem, which sounds rather odd, since most their penal and reformatory establishments. The story which Mr. St. Pierre told on Sunday at the Presbyterian and Methodist churches of his labors at the penitentiary, the asylum for the insane, the reform school and the Chemawa Indian school well illustrates the wisdom of having such an officer. Mr. st Pierre is supported in his work by the Sunday schools and churches, and divides his time among the institutions mentioned. He is chaplain to the penitentiary by appointment of the governor, without pay from the state, and, as such, is privileged to visit the convicts at will. He says of his labors; "It 's a mistake to abandon a man when he become a convict in the penitentiary. Many men are there whose rimes were less by far than those of others who are free to mingle in solety, and many of them will become again good citizens if they are given encouragement. But turn your n man and ostracise him beause in a moment of passion or strong temptation he has committed a crime and been sentenced for it, and you Shakespeare's masterpiece. The lecmay help to make of him a confirmed criminal, instead of an upright man, which perhaps he would be with good treatment. It is found that 50 per cent the great dramatist had borrowed from of the convicts are by inherited or acpuired tendencies confirmed criminals. The other 50 per cent would be glad to return to honest life if society would drama were pointedly emphasized by et them. When such a man emerges from prison he should not be kicked down, but should be helped up. The former means a lost man nearly always, and the latter almost as often next Monday night a debate will take means a good citizen. It is an exremely difficult thing for an ex-con- the high school. The executive comlet to overcome the reputation of hav- mittee, through Mr. Hackman, aning worn stripes, and it is the hopelessness of the task which drives many of them to further crime.

"To carry out this idea there has been organized the Prison Aid society. or which Rev. Dr. E. P. Hill of Portland is president and Ben Selling secretary. Governor Chamberlain assisted us in starting the society, and others are backing it. An instance of its operation is this: A short time ago a young man completed a sentence for a comparatively light crime. What was he to do? Who would welcome him from prison doors? Not his old friends. Not society. Nobody. Know- play again. The next game will be here ing him to be a worthy person I took him to Portland where, although he fraternity by his prison shoes and other means, he was well taken care of for two weeks in the Y. M. C. A. and in the homes of good people, and then provided with transportation for his home in New York, where he is now with nis mother and earning an honest living. Where he might have been but for the helping hand is hard to say. Possibly among criminals in the slums. another prison case, a cousin of Robert E. Lee, now a man of f0 years and an old and hardened criminal, is dying in the penitentiary. Under the kind ministration of the venerable Rev. T. F. Royal, who preaches to the convicts. this man was converted some time ago and his last days have been those of a peaceful Christian. Another, an old nan, a Quaker, whose life was attempted by an implacable enemy who tried to shoot him in a dark wood through which he was passing, became infuriated and killed his assailant. He now languishes in prison, though all his life he had been an honest Christian man, and is so still. He is another who appreciates the visits of the prison workers. The Prison Aid society purposes cated permanently in Astoria for the to help the ex-convict to help himself. purpose of practicing medicine and has To provide employment for him. If secured offices over Griffin's book store he is a mechanic to give him tools. To where she can be found from 10 to 12 see that, if he has good intentions, he shall not be driven to deeper crime for want of a sympathetic heart and a helping hand. It is my experience that we should believe more in the goodness of bad men, and less in the > badness of good men." Mr. St. Pierre also told of his reguar services in the reform school when, he said something better than mere mil funeral sermon. itary discipline is sadly needed by those boys and young men, many of whom deeply appreciate any effort to be of assistance to them. He thinks that moral and spiritual counsel and training should supplant the penal discipline

The speaker mentioned in high approval the good accomplished at the Chemawa Indian training school, and the eager intelligence of the pupils, who are most appreciative listeners

An enthusiastic audience at the Presbyterian church gave the handsome sum of $94.55 to the cause and a collection of $6.10 was taken at the Methodist church for the same purpose.

DISCIPLINED THE LODGE.

Concomly Tribe No. 7, L. O. R. M. as represented by the members in atten ance treated itself to a Toke point oyster supper last evening. Instead of the usual turnout of about 40, there were only 17 Indians present, and they could think of no better way to enourage a proper attendance that to treat themselves at the expense of the dge. It is reckooned that hereafter the total membership will either attend to prevent such extravangance or to participate if it is indulged in. The happy thought is said to have originsted simultaneously in the minds of Ed Lewellyn, W. C. A. Pohl and J. C. Clinton.

BATTLESHIPS FOR REGATTA.

President Charles V. Brown is bound | City. to have a pair of battleships in Astoria furing the regatta if it is possible to obtain them. The efforts of journ in California. states see fit to provide chapialus for senator C. W. Fulton have been enlisted in the cause. The senator thinks there is no doubt that one or more warships can be secured and will do all in his power toward that end. There are several war vessels of the Pacific squadron now assembled at San Francisca. Since they seem to have but little to do but to go on practice cruises and return to the drydock for overhauling, there would appear to be not visit this port at that time. The the regular monthly meeting of the fish committee is also hopeful of obtaining commission. a dragon direct from China for the occasion. It is safe to say that there will be a dragon in attendance at the regatta which will far eclipse anything the Astoria lodge. He expects to reever seen in this country before...

NOLAND ON JULIUS CAESAR.

The hall of the Debating society was well filled last evening to hear a lecture on Julius Caesar by Hon. George Noland. Mr. Noland had the close attention of his hearers for two hours as he commented upon "Julius Caesar" as turer explained the historical conception of the play and plot and quoted 'Plutarch's Lives" and showed where the "great Greek" in elucidating the noted characters of the play. The finest speeches and passages from the the speaker and the analysis was plain and clear. Prof. H. S. Lyman, who was present consented to deliver an cific lodge and Charity lodge will be inaddress three weeks hence and upon place between the Debating society and nounced that addresses and debates would be given, in the future, on subjects of general interest, by different gentlement selected in this city.

Sunday the Astoria baseball nine went to Cathlamet and played a game with the learn there. The boys are now in need of a long rest. The score was 17 to 7 in favor of Cathlamet so the visitors were somewhat overcome. However they are going to brace up and on the 17th of this month. The game zed as "pal" by the ish, though the score would tend to make it look otherwise. It was anybody's game until a few infield errors by Astoria, that lost to Cathlamet in the eighth inning. Astoria showed itself to be a heavy batting team, but practice is needed to win. The work of Ross and Cohen as battery was particularly fine, only two hits being made off the former.

OLD FIRM INCORPORATED.

Papers were filed in the clerk's office yesterday incorporating the Astoria house of Ross, Higgins & Co., which has heretofore been operated as a firm. No change is made of the business but it was desired that all the firm's business be incorporated, this being the last to become such. The three places of business, of which Mr. Ross is at the head, in Skagway, Seattle and Astoria are highly successful institutions and are constantly increasing in size and importance. The members of the Astoria house are J. E. Higgins, George W. Warren J. T. Ross and H. C. Fer guson. The capital stock is $50,000.
