Proceedings of Closing Day

Busy and Profitable Gathering of County and State Educators Disbanded.

A very profitable and enjoyable convention of the teachers of Clatsop county came to a close last evening. During the session of the institute the efforts of the visiting instructors Supt. Ackerman and Professors Ressler and Lyman, have been highly appreciated and productive of great benefit to the local educators. Superintendent Ackerman says: "The ability to apply the knowledge we have is the strongest attribute of a good teacher," and he illustrated his own right to that distinction by a practical demonstration of such ability. His humorous handling of some of the dryer questions of school work enlivened what might otherwise have been comparatively uninteresting subjects.

Prof. E. D. Ressler, of Monmouth, contributed largely to the success of the institute. His pleasing ways and fine presence emphasized the impression made by his able addresses, and his excellent voice in song was an inspiring feature of the sessions.

In his brief stay in Astoria Prof. W. D. Lyman of Whitman university created a warmth of regard very similar to that generally felt toward his brother, the county superintendent. Professor Lyman is a polished gentleman of high scholarly attainments and stands in the front rank of the native sons of whom Oregon is worthy proud. His illumination of the subject of United States history, during the institute will long be remembered as will this keynote of his theme. "The two pillars of the great bridge over which the march of civilization has passed are individual liberty and union."

The special music features of the afternoon session were two. Professor Ressler sang a touching song entitled "Absent," which reached a tender chord in many hearts. Miss Kathryn Shively sang the "Tirzah Serenade," from Ben Hur, and in response to a hearty encore she gave "Long Ago She Said She Loved Me," in a most captivating manner. Miss Nellie Busay was accompanist.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were adopted by the institute at the close of the session:

Whereas, The success of an institute depends chiefly on the efforts of those in charge and the quality of instruction given; and

Whereas, Our county superintendent and corps of instructors have been untiring in their efforts to make this session a success; and

Whereas, This session of the Clatsop county teachers' institute has been a most instructive and profitable one, be it

Resolved, That we, the teachers of Clatsop county, extend our thanks to our efficient county superintendent, Professor Lyman, for his efforts to make the institute a source of assistance and inspiration to the teachers of the county;

State Superintendent Ackerman for his helpful suggestions and words of cheer; to President Ressler for his practical instructions and for his successful efforts to make the institute pleasant as well as instructive; to Prof. W. D. Lyman for his clear and scholarly presentation of the subject of United States history; to the pastors of the city churches for their hearty cooperation and encouragement; to the senior class of the high school for their evening's entertainment; to all who assisted in the musical program; to the trustees of the Methodist church; to Mr. A. R. Cyrus for the use of the piano; to the secretary and his assistant; to the press of the city for their uniform courtesy; and to all who in any way helped to make the institute a success. And, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the institute and that copies be given to the press for publication.

EVENING SESSION.

The largest audience of the institute assembled last evening at the M. E. church to listen to essays prepared for the occasion by members of the high school graduating class. There are 10 members of the class of 1903, six of whom took part in the exercises last evening. The essays were under the general topic "Recreations in Local History" as detailed in the program published yesterday morning, and were of decided merit and interest, showing much careful preparation. The excellence exhibited attests the fact that our high school course in English is not out-ranked even by many eastern schools, which is further vouchered for by those who know. It is in competent hands, and at least two text books are used besides those required.

While possibly it is hardly just to distinguish between the six who all did so well, the essays of Miss Laura Fastabend on "Discoveries of Juan De Fuca" and of Miss Emmella Una on "Explorations of Lewis and Clark" were especially meritorious, and received much favorable comment.

A most pleasing feature of this session was the music discoursed by the orchestra consisting of J. M. Johnson, violin; J. C. Swope, cornet; B. D. Johnson, cello, and Mrs. Otto Heilborn, accompanist.

LECTURE AT LABOR HALL.

Labor hall was filled last evening to hear an address on the industrial problem by Captain F. L. Evans, a veteran of the Civil war. The captain, who is a finely preserved man, vigorously showed the defects of the present system, its strikes, boycotts blacklists, and other evils, and pointed to public ownership of public utilities as the only means of solution. His talk was honest and earnest and met with a cordial response. He was followed by Chairman J. F. Welch, just returned as vice-president of the State Federation of Labor, held at La Grande where he was re-elected. Mr. Welch pointedly showed that the laborer and wealthmaker must go to the ballot box to get the creation of his toll and issued a challenge to anyone to prove how it can be done otherwise.

County Superintendent Lyman, whose most prominent characteristics are modesty and proficiency, is congratulated on the entire success of the institute, due to the careful preparation and wise execution of his plans.

THE LATE L. C. KINNEY.

The funeral of the late Lyman C. Kinney will be held in this city tomorrow and the interment will be in the cemetery on Clatsop plains. The body is expected to arrive down on tonight's train. The hour for the funeral services has not yet been named and the arrangements in detail will likewise not be known until later. Mr. Kinney came to Oregon from Iowa with his parents while only 7 years of age. The family settled first in eastern Oregon, where he was associated in mining and in the tin he struck out for himself. He settled first in eastern, where he was associated both in mining and in the general merchandise business, and in 1878 moved here, where he has since resided. He is survived by Mrs. Kinney, his immediate relatives are Mrs. Ora Rogers and Mrs. Mary Brisbane, sisters, and one brother, Lafayette Kinney. They reside in Newberg, Oregon. Mr. Kinney's last illness seized him early Tuesday morning. An abscess was found to be forming in one of his ears and realising the importance of immediate attention he went to Portland on the early train of that day. The growth was operated upon at the North Pacific sanitarium and he immediately thereafter became unconscious and remained so until the end. The abscess had penetrated the brain, and that was the direct cause of death.

ROBBERS FOUND GUILTY.

J.W. Smith, one of the two men arrested here by Sheriff Linville and later taken to Portland, has been tried and convicted of robbery in the state circuit court in Portland. He was charged jointly with Albert Lyman of robbing J. W. Collins, on March 29, but was given a separate trial at the request of his attorneys, Murphy and Watts. Lyman, who acquired considerable notoriety by jumping from the train while en route for Portland, was tried yesterday. It took the jury just 15 minutes to bring in a verdict of guilty as charged. In his defense Smith testified that the knife with Collins' name upon it and which was found in his possession, was obtained from a gypsy at Seattle.

Grand progressive shows by talented artists Tuesday evening, May 12. Three halls. 10c admission to the three.

A PROMISING LAD.

A most excellent essay on the salmon industry and cold storage methods written by Hillis McCroskey, a lad of 12 years, was read at the teachers' institute yesterday. The youthful writer is a pupil of the Shively school, under Prof. A. A. Cleveland, and his production reflects much credit on the institution. In penmanship, style and neatness his manuscript could be equaled by but few adults.

Mrs. Edward Heints, 372 Franklin avenue, wishes music pupils. Beginners only accepted. Special attention to fingering and time.

THREE GREAT SHOWS.

On account of the stupendous aggregation of talent and attractions engaged for the Progressive Dime Museum of the Ladies' club, which will show on Tuesday evening, May 12, it has been found necessary to secure three halls. One is in the Flavel brick, one between Griffin's and Morse's stores and one between Trullinger's cigar store and Peterson and Brown's. One 10c ticket admits to all three sections.

Remember the Dime Museum occupies three buildings. Flavel brick, building next to Trullinger's cigar store. One ticket admits to all. 10c.
