HOLD OFFICERS RESPONSIBLE.

The coroner's jury, empaneled at Rainier to inquire into the death of Walter M. Gert, the fisherman recently drowned near there, returned the following verdict: "We find that Walter M. Gert came to his death in the Columbia river, near Rainier, May 6, 1903, by being run down by the steamer Hassalo through what we believe to be the negligence of the officers of the steamer Hassalo." Captain Sullivan of the Hassalo testified that no light was visible in the boat at the time the accident occurred and he is upheld in this by the lookout, but three other witnesses swore there was a light and that it was plainly in evidence. This latter testimony caused the jury to act as it did. There seems to be much feeling in the matter by Rainier fishermen, who believe the steamers encroach upon their rights. Coroner H. R. Cliff of St. Helens, who conducted the investigation, was openly attacked by a fellow while the official was engaged in conversation with Captain Sullivan. The attack was made because of the presumption that the coroner stood in with the steambot men. The incident occurred in a saloon, Dr. Cliff being struck over the head with a bottle, a wound being inflicted that required medical attention. Dr. Haviland, a Rainier physician, became greatly wrought up over the affair, and made the assertion that it would not only be a devout pleasure for him to maul the man who attacked his friend but that he was quite sure he was physically able to perform the proposed mauling. He was unable to say any more, however, for at about that time a mob of irate and drunken fishermen began to jump up and down on him. He was suitably used up before the men let him off. Sometime after this Harry Holt, the lookout who testified there was no light to be seen in the boat, was passing from the court room to the landing and was met by a crowd of fishermen. They pleasantly inquired of him how much money he was paid for his testimony, after which they dealt out to him divers kicks and blows. Altogether it was a gala day for Rainier. (It was at Rainier where so much illegal fishing was carried on during the closed season and the fishermen there generally have the reputation of being a disorderly crowd.) In their testimony the officers of the steamer claimed that when the boat was picked up the unlighted lantern found aboard of her, was found to have been freshly trimmed. This was introduced as evidence to show that there had been no light.

FROM BUNCH GRASS COUNTRY

Wade Hampton Smith returned yesterday on the Lurline from the bunch grass regions south of The Dalles, looking hale and hearty and with a healthy and stylish coat of tan. Mr. Smith has spent a month at various places in the vicinity of The Dalles and the Cascades. He was surprised to find large areas successfully devoted to potato raising up on the rough bald hills where some years ago it seemed that nothing would ever grow. One field contained 30 acres, and grew a fine quality of murphys. Mr. Smith says they had snow there last Wednesday. He is much benefitted by the change.

MANY WILL BE HERE.

Al Schroder and Arthur Callan went up to Portland last night to escort the delegates of the grand court Foresters of America to this city, which they will do tomorrow night. During their stay in Portland Messrs. Schroder and Callan will make their headquarters at the Imperial hotel and there they will meet and welcome the delegates. At least 100 delegates will be in attendance at the grand court, which will be in session next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and as relatives and friends will accompany many of them, the city bids fair to be alive with visitors for the three days.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

By the accidental discharge of a rifle Telford, the 11 year old son of M. T. McDonough of Brookfield, lost his life Friday evening. The little fellow had the gun in his hands, evidently examining it when it dropped to the floor, and in doing so was discharged. The bullet entered the boy's head and death ensued immediately. The shot was heard by members of the family, but when his agonized brother reached him his life was already extinct. The funeral and interment will be in Brookfield today.

CUT THIS OUT.

And take your best girl to the ice cream social, which will be given at Hawthorn hall by Cushing corps No. 3, W. R. C., Tuesday, May 12. An admission will be charged of 25c which entitles one to ice cream and cake. Good music and entertainment is promised. The receipts will be used for charitable purposes.

GRAND VOTING CONTEST FOR THE MOST POPULAR FORESTER AT THE DIME MUSEUM.

ADJUDGED INSANE.

Jacob Greenway, a resident of the Lewis and Clark was adjudged insane in the county court yesterday and Sheriff Linville started with him for Salem last evening. His affliction seemed to be due to his physical condition, probably resulting from a disease of the heart which renders him unable to use his mental faculties. It is not thought he will long survive.

DIED OF HIS INJURIES.

John McDonald, a Canadian in the employ of Masten's logging camp at Saven, died at 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the effects of an accident early in the morning. Deceased was employed in felling trees and was so engaged when he met with the hurt which resulted in his death. He had stepped clear of a falling tree when a limb, coming in contact with another tree broke short off and flying out struck the logger on the head and crushed him to the ground. He was brought to the city on the noon train accompanied by C. C. Masten, in an unconscious state, and though everything possible was done to relieve him, he died at 3 o'clock. The body was soon after removed to Pohl's undertaking parlors. Deceased was 28 years of age and unmarried. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

ENTERTAINED GRAND OFFICERS.

The members of Seaside lodge, A. O. U. W., assisted by the members of Charity and Pacific lodges Degree of Honor, held a reception last evening in honor of Grand Master Workman, the Hon. William Smith of Baker City and Grand Foreman George H. Dunham of Portland. The large assembly was addressed during the evening by both gentlemen, who were introduced by Master Workman John C. McCue, and spoke at length on the various phases of the objects and attainments of the order. After the address all were invited to partake of a sumptuous repast, provided by the sisters, whose skill and generosity were amply appreciated. The speakers brought out the facts that the A. O. U. W., which is now 35 years old, has nearly 500,000 members, has paid out $150,000,000 in death claims, and is enjoying a healthy and rapid growth.

FUNERAL OF LATE L. C. KINNEY.

The body of the late Lyman C. Kinney arrived down on last night's train and was taken to the family residence 237 Commercial street. The funeral will be held from the home today at 10 a. m., and Rector Wm. Seymour Short will conduct the services. Friends are invited to be present at the house, but the services at the grave will be private. The interment will be in the cemetery on Clatsop plains. The pall bearers will be J. E. Higgins, H. F. Prasl, A. Scherneckau, Asmus Brix, Harry Gray and Max Young. The body was accompanied from Portland last night by Mrs. Kinney and a number of friends and relatives of the family.
