OREGON MEETS CUT RATES.

The rate war on wheat and flour for the orient that started in San Francisco and spread to the sound has now involved the Portland and Astoria company which has announced that the new rates will be effective on shipments by the Indrapura, due to sail from Astoria June 28. The rates are only for June shipments at present but will probably be extended, if present indications are reliable. Already it is evident that the Indrapura's cargo will consist mainly of flour, which under the new rates goes at $3 instead of $5.

SOCIETY NOTES.

PRETTY WEDDING.

Miss Olive Holbrook, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Elmore, was married last Wednesday to Silas Palmer of Oakland. The ceremony was performed at Menlo Park and the Episcopal service was used. There were 200 guests in attendance. The San Francisco Call of June 3, contains an interesting account of the wedding. It says in part:

"Trinity chapel was beautifully decorated for the occasion with sweet peas and evergreens, bamboo and ferns predominating. The carriages which conveyed the guests from the depot to the chapel began to arrive before 12 and the little structure was filled to overflowing and small groups of people were standing about on the lawn in front before the bridal party arrived. After the ceremony the guests were driven to Elmwood, the Holbrook home where Mr. and Mrs. Palmer received. Later the wedding breakfast was served out of doors in the tennis court. The bride the beautiful daughter of Charles Holbrook of Holbrook, Merrill & Stetson, wore a rich point lace and heavy satin gown, with court train and trimmings with tulle and orange blossoms. She wore a rich point lace and heavy tulle veil and her only ornament was a handsome brooch, the gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of lavender orchids. Miss Floretta Elmore the maid of honor, was gowned in lavender, chiffon and wore a lavender hat trimmed with cream lace. The bridesmaids were attired in white Valenciennes lace and wore sashes of lavender or pale blue chiffon. They wore large hats of white lace trimmed under the brims with blue forget-me-nots. The maid of honor carried white orchids and the bridesmaids large bunches of white sweet peas. The groom, Silas Palmer is prominently connected with the E. B. & A. L. Stone company, contractors, of Oakland and San Francisco. He is the son of C. E. Palmer, vice-president of the Oakland Bank of Savings."

On Thursday the beautiful home of Mrs. G. C. Flavel was the scene of one of the most elegant functions ever given in Astoria. The occasion was a reception given to about 150 invited guests. A perfect June day enhanced the charm of the grounds and house but in no way were the guests prepared for the exquisite loveliness of the interior. The large columns in the reception hall were entwined with garlands of the fragrant Madam Alfred Carla rose and delicate ferns. Mrs. Flavel assisted by Mrs. M. P. Callander, Mrs. C. Callander, Mrs. Ralph Dyer and Miss Katie Flavel received her guests before a background of the same flowers which formed a handsome setting for the elegant gowns. In the spacious drawing room, clematis, carnations and rhododendrons were artistically blended; the soft light through coral pink shades gave to the whole a fascinating glow. The hall window ledges were banked with beauty of Glazenwood roses and golden lilies. Benares brass bowls filled with these gorgeous flowers also formed the decoration of the staircase. The elegantly appointed living room was a veritable bower of hawthorn and roses—the color scheme being green. Dainty refreshments were served the guests at tateta tables. Mrs. C. W. Fulton and Mrs. J. G. Megler of Bakerfield; Mrs. W. O. Wilkinson and Mrs. A. J. Taylor assisted by the Misses Lionberger, Sutherland, Cole Tallant and Mrs. Thine presided in the dining room. Miss Eliza Boelling at the punch bowl, Mrs. George H. George, Mrs. P. A. Stokes, Miss Margaret Higgins and Miss Violet Bowby in the hall. Delightful music was rendered by the Columbia orchestra. The bright and happy faces of the guests, the exquisite gowns and elegant appointments, and the glorious June weather will long be remembered by those who enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Flavel.

The Thursday Afternoon club met this week with Miss Alice Woods. Hearts was played and Miss Harriet Tallant won the prize.

Miss Lila Sutherland will be the guest of Mrs. Thad Trullinger over at the quarantine station for a few days.

Mrs. M. P. Callander is in the city visiting her daughter, Mrs. George C. Flavel.

The Friday Afternoon club met this week with Mrs. G. W. Sanborn.

Mr. Norman A. Marr is spending the day in Oregon City.

July 6 was yesterday set for the hearing of the final accounts of the estates of E. T. Hoagland and Wong Cheng.

HUMANITY OUTRAGED

The U. S. dispensary says: "Opium lessens the peristaltic motion of the bowels. It's local effect (when applied to the lower bowels) is the same as its general operation. Conium PARALYZES the motor nerves; aconite reduces muscular strength; belladonna produces PARALYTIC symptoms; hyoscyamus and stramonium are same as belladonna. THEY DO NOT EXERCISE ANY OPERATIVE INFLUENCES." Every pile medicine prescribed or on the market contains some of the above poisons, EXCEPT E-RU-SA PILE CURE. "E-RU-SA" doubtless is the only pile medicine on the market which does not contain narcotic poisons or mercury."—ECONOMICAL DRUG CO., Chicago, Ill. Per C. H. McConnell, president.
