

Churches.

Rev. C. Buechler will preach in the Lutheran church this morning at 11 o'clock. All are invited.

WILL PLEAD TOMORROW.

J. K. White and Charles Finn, the two men accused of forging the name of C. C. Masten to several checks, will plead in the circuit court tomorrow.

LOOKING FOR BOGUS AGENT

Sheriff Linville is on the lookout for a man giving his name as Harry Day, who has been trying to work the old circus gag in Astoria.

He not tried to place a contract for 3000 pies with a baker, who was shy enough to remember that circus hands were fed very little pie, and called the attention of the police to the alleged advance agent.

SALMON FISHING ABROAD.

Interesting details of the Scottish salmon fisheries have been received by Master Fish Warden Van Dusen. From the reports it appears that the take for 1902 exceeded that for 1901 by 24 tons only.

HAS SHE A CARD?

The launch Chief, Capt. Lindberg in command, boasts of the only lady engineer on the river. Miss Lydia Smith of Astoria is the lady, and she handles the lever like the chief of a man of war.

LOST.

A diamond ring, between the postoffice and Foard & Stokes' store. The finder will be suitably rewarded by returning the same to W. C. Bishop, or leaving it at Miller's cigar store.
