The steamer Sue H. Elmore leaves for Tillamook bay points tomorrow morning at 4 o'clock.

We think that poor goods are never cheap, at any price. It pays to buy good goods when they can be obtained at the right price. Johnson Bros.

The machinery for Captain John Field's launch will arrive from San Francisco on the 25th of this month. The launch is to be 58 feet long, which is a greater length than any other vessel of similar build on the river.

Judge McBride returned from his ranch yesterday afternoon in order to pass sentence on Smith and Lane. He left last night for Hillsboro, where he will relieve Judge Cleland who is presiding on the bench in the absence of Judge McBride.

Cathlamet defeated the Brewery Co's team on the A. F. C. grounds Sunday by a score of 16 to 8. Farrell and McDermott officiated for the visitors as battery and Wroten and Cheshire did the honors for the local team. The game was not marked by any brilliant features.

County Superintendent of Schools Lyman returned yesterday from a trip to the schools in the county after an absence of several days. He is now working on his report for the state superintendent, and states that the showing for Clatsop county along educational lines is good.

The ways of R. M. Leathers boat building establishment are to be lengthened to 140 feet, 60 feet being the proposed addition. The piles for the improvement are already driven and the material is on hand for the rest of the work. This will proceed rapidly as possible. Better facilities for handling vessels are in great demand.

After picking up for two or three days, the run of fish dropped off yesterday and the canning business in consequence slackened up. Fishermen had begun to build up their hopes for good work toward the close of the season, but the situation now is as discouraging as ever. The run was about the same on all points on the river, up and down, gillnetters and seiners alike reporting bad luck.

Capt. George L. Goodale, constructing quartermaster, has received the specifications of the labor and material required in the construction of a frame building for quarters for one field officer and one double set of lieutenants quarters at Fort Stevens, bids for which will be opened Aug. 8. The specifications may be obtained by contractors at the office of Capt. Goodale in the Page building.

Because he had served two days in jail for being drunk and disorderly, Judge Anderson was disposed to be lenient to a young prisoner yesterday and dismissed the case. He was arrested Saturday night and since then served time in jail. There were two other cases called and as the prisoners did not put in an appearance, their bail was declared forfeited.

The engine for the Hume steamer now in course of construction by R. M. Leathers, is well under way by the Astoria Iron Works. The boiler plates arrived yesterday and the work will be laid out today. While the steamer is getting fairly on towards completion, there is much yet to be done and it may be two months before she is launched. Her name is to be the "Aurora," and the christening is to be an event.

W. M. Miller, the contractor, seems to have a corner on building sleds for logging engines. Yesterday evening he shipped one to South Bend where an engine will be placed for the purpose of being sent to the camp of Fisher brothers up the Nasel river. Last night a sled and engine left out for Johnson's camp on the Walluski. Miller receives orders for sleds not only on the Columbia and the vicinity of Astoria but from the Gray's harbor country as well and now has contracts ahead to fill.

Geat Hansen, an aged resident of Puget Island, is lying at St. Mary's hospital dying from the effects of a paralytic stroke received last evening at the depot. Mr. Hansen was stricken with paralysis three weeks ago at his home on the island and was brought at once to the local hospital. He improved rapidly in health and last evening was taken in a wheeled chair to the depot for the purpose of boarding the up train. Shortly before the train draw out the invalid nearly expired from his second and most serious stroke. He was returned at once to the hospital and showed little improvement during the night. At a late hour he was still alive but his death was momentarily looked for. Mr. Hansen's daughter, Mrs. Christ Thalo, is with him.

"China Mary" the old woman who died under strange circumstances in her shack at the corner of Astor and Eighth streets on Saturday night, will be buried tomorrow, and it is more than probable that the county will have to bear the expenses of the funeral. A canvass of Chinatown from one end of the district to the other by Deputy Coroner Pohl, revealed nothing more satisfactory than that the celestials either did not know the woman or did not "save" the question put to them concerning the disposition of the remains. The old woman has lived in Astoria about ten years, and prior to her death was one of the well known characters of that part of the city. With a disregard of her sex that is characteristic of the Chinese, the rich companies absolutely refuse to have anything to do with her, with the result that she becomes a charge on the county.

The Eagles, of Astoria Aerie, No. 17, soared high on Sunday afternoon, and excelled their former efforts in the line of entertainment. The social season was preceded by a business meeting at which James F. Kearney, superintendent of streets, and Charles Wesche were taken under the protecting wings of the order. During the social session Herman Wise interrupted proceedings long enough to make a felicitous speech in connection with the presentation to Past President J. N. Laws and James Hannaford, the new plumbing inspector of handsome watch charms. Responses were made by the surprised and pleased recipients, after which a program of music, songs and recitations and a lunch consisting of sandwiches, salads, and liquid refreshments was served. The program follows: Recitation, Dr. Pilkington, "The senator from Arkansas;" recitation, "The storm on Lake St. Pierre," Harry Knobbe; whistling solo, "The Mocking Bird," Joseph Gtbler; song, James Kearney; recitation, Thomas Dealey; song, Judge Anderson; song, Manager Al Hager, of the Unique theater; song, "Hit Him Again, Casey," P. Gerald; cake walk, and dance, Walters and Hagan; song, "The Redhead Girl," J. Lackey; song, "And She Did," Leon Errol; Prof. Mexis and his trained dog gave an exhibition of gymnastics and card reading by the dog, J. N. Laws' dog "Sam" also did a stunt. The members of the program committee feel indebted to the manager of the Unique theater for his courtesy in allowing several of the performers billed there to appear.

The new revenue launch in course of construction at Leathers' boat yard was officially inspected by Capt. Hamblett of the revenue cutter service, San Francisco, yesterday. The engines for the new launch are on the way from the East, and upon their arrival here will be submitted to examination by an officer of the engineering corps of the cutter service.

The cheese factory plant of William Hartell of the Lewis and Clark is being increased to meet the demands of a rapidly growing business. Mr. Hartell's trade lies principally with Portland people where he regularly ships his product in large quantities. He is at present milking 35 cows daily and has a barn of large proportions now in course of construction to house an unusual hay crop.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland is making money by selling milk and butter. Her first step in this direction was when she induced her husband, Prince Henry, to buy several cows, which were placed on the rich land adjoining the castle of Loo. The cows prospered exceedingly, and the queen was so well pleased with the success of the experiment that she instructed the manager of her estates to visit several stock farms and to purchase 20 of the best cows that could be bought in Holland.

One who knows law enough to know when he needs an attorney, knows law well enough for all practical purposes.
