JAMES J. JEFFRIES RETAINS TITLE TO CHAMPIONSHIP

In Beginning of Tenth Round Corbett's Seconds Give Up Fight to Save Their Man Needless Punishment.

TWO STOMACH BLOWS DO THE WORK

Ex Champion Makes Gallant Fight, But Is Outpointed and His Blows Have No Effect Whatever On Adversary

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 14.—James J. Jeffries, champion heavy-weight of the world, played with Jim Corbett for nine rounds and a half tonight and then Corbett's seconds motioned to Referee Graney to stop the fight in order to save their man from needless punishment. The end came shortly after the beginning of the tenth round when Jeffries panted one of his terrific left swings on Corbett's stomach. The man who conquered John L. Sullivan dropped to the floor in agony and the memorable scene at Carson, when Bob Fitzsimmons landed his solar plexus blow, was almost duplicated. This time, however Corbett struggled to his feet and again faced his gigantic adversary. With hardly a moment's hesitation Jeffries planted one of his terrific lefts on Corbett's stomach. Jim dropped to the floor, and then it was that Tommy Ryan, seeing that it was all over, motioned to Referee Graney to stop the punishment.

The fight tonight demonstrated that beyond all doubt Jeffries stands alone in his class. He showed remarkable improvement in both speed and skill. Corbett, during the first part of the fight, was almost out-pointed and the few blows that he landed on Jeffries were apparently without sting.

THE FIGHT BY ROUNDS.

Round one—They came to the center of the ring and Jeff chased Corbett around and missed a left swing for the jaw. They then came together and parted carefully. Jeff tried a left swing and then got a right to body. Jeff follows it with a left high on the body and they mixed it. Corbett getting light right to body and Jeff then put a left right over the heart and hard left to the body. Jeff seemed inclined to force matters. Corbett shot his right to body and they came to a clinch. Jeff then hooked his left hand to jaw and Corbett bored in with right to wind. As the bell rang Jeff went to his corner smiling. Jeff had a little better of the round.

Round two—They went to clinch and Jeff got his left to Corbett's neck. As they came out of clinch Jeff landed left hand on Jim's nose. Jeff swung hard left. Corbett rushed inside of it. They came together again. Jeff got left to chest. Jeff also got in right to body. Corbett caught Jeff a vicious left swing on head, the champion put a light right to jaw. Jim ducked left for head and landed right on neck. In return he received heavy right jolt to ribs.

Round three—Came together and separated without blows. Jeff landed left swing on Jim's neck. Followed him around landing another to wind. Corbett was chased around the ring. Jeff put a straight left hard to body. Jeff caught Jim on jaw with vicious right. They clinched. Corbett claimed foul. Jeff swung left and right to jaw. Corbett protested to referee that Jeff was holding on and landed savage to jaw. Jeff sent in a left swing to jaw. They went in to another clinch. Jeff broke it up with stiff right and left to body. This was Jeff's round.

bett with wicked hook to the solar plexus. Jeff sent Corbett to the mat for nine seconds with a powerful left hook to the stomach and when Corbett arose he was shaken like a leaf and evidently suffering terribly. Jeff finally floored him again and Corbett's seconds then threw up the sponge. Corbett was carried to his corner and vomited some. Corbett eventually recovered and shook hands with his master at the pugilistic game.

CHICAGO JURIST ON EVILS OF MONOPOLIES

JUDGE GROSSCUP SAYS THAT IN GOVERNMENT SUPERVISION OF GREAT CAPITALISTIC COMBINES LIES ONLY HOPE FOR PERPETUATION OF NATION

Dixon, Ill., August 14.—Judge Peter Grosscup of the United States Circuit Court, in an address here before the Lutheran Assembly, expressed his belief that in the supervision of monopolies by the government lies the only hope for the perpetuation of the American nation, and sounded a note of warning against the manipulation of securities in the interest of unscrupulous promoters and speculators.

In face of the fact that within the last few years the deposits in savings banks have increased from $2,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 a sinister rather than a sanguine meaning was traced, the Judge declaring that under normal conditions this vast amount would have been invested by the laboring classes, but that it was lying idle "because polite swindlers and high-up rascals were able to subvert the laws and give to stocks a value that they do not really possess."

"We can never go back to the days of our boyhood," said the speaker, "but we can go back to the days when the man with $100 did not have to hoard it or entrust it to his neighbor for safekeeping, but could put it into industries, sure that it would return with earnings. "What should be done? Change the laws so that no set of men can organize a corporation except on a strict legal basis. Then put it under such supervision as the National banks are subject to, and I believe, that little by little, this immense hoarding in the savings banks of $10,000,000,000 will be trickling into ownership again."

"I say nothing against the man who makes his fortune honestly," said Judge Grosscup, "but when I see the laws of my country, introduced to enable men to consolidate money for the public good, turned into excuse for swindlers that should land the promoters in the penitentiary, and who I see that to be the almost universal history of corporations, every drop of my blood boils with hate and revenge."

FISHERMEN AROUSED

ACTION OF CAPTAIN OF CANADIAN REVENUE CUTTER PETREL IN FIRING ON AMERICAN SCHOONER PROVOKES WRATH

New York, August 14.—Dunkirk fishermen are aroused over the action of the captain of the Canadian revenue cutter Petrel, who turned the vessel's guns on the American tug Silver Spray, says a Herald dispatch from Dunkirk, N. Y.

Drastic measures are to be used by the captains of 20 fishing tugs of this port to protect themselves from the captain of the Petrel, who several weeks ago captured and towed to Port Colborne, Ont., the tug Kitty D. which at the time was in American waters.

Although secrecy is being maintained it has become known that several of the captains are preparing to meet the captain of the Petrel at his own game. When the Canadian cutter next tries any tactics like those performed with the Silver Spray, it is said to be not at all unlikely that shot will be returned for shot and that Lake Erie will be the scene of a naval battle.

COLOMBIA ACCEPTS TREATY

ADDS NINE AMENDMENTS TO THE HAY-HERRAN TREATY—SENATE WILL DISCUSS MATTER IN PUBLIC SESSIONS

New York, August 14.—A cable dispatch to the Herald from Bogota, Colombia, says:

"The canal treaty committee has rendered a report accepting the Hay-Herran treaty with nine substantial amendments.

Senor Perrezo and Josquin Uribe of the committee voted for the rejection of the entire treaty. The senate by a vote of 17 to 5 has decided to discuss the treaty in public sessions, in spite of the opposition of the minister of foreign affairs to such a plan.

SALMON SEASON COMES TO SPECTACULAR FINISH

Privilege of Corraling the Toothsome Royal Chinook Expires By Limitation at Six O'clock This Morning

ESTIMATE OF COLUMBIA RIVER PACK

Will Fall Short of 1902, But Indications Are That Decrease Will Be Small—New Run of Fish Comes on The River at Twelfth Hour.

When the Astorian reaches its reader this morning the fishing season will have expired by limitation, and the Royal Chinooks can move leisurely toward the headwaters of the Columbia, having until September 19 to reach the spawning ground.

The close of the season has been some what spectacular, especially the climax which was marked by a new run of fish, the quality and quantity being remarkably good. All of yesterday the boats came in from the seining ground with immense hauls and the gillnetters were amply rewarded for the assiduous manner in which they applied themselves to the work of gathering in the offspring of the genus salmo. Every body was satisfied, which is saying a great deal sometimes, and no regrets were heard yesterday from any source that the season cannot be extended. Neither cannerymen, cold storage men or fishermen deny that the fish being caught now are slightly inferior to the run at the beginning of the season, and as all have done well everything considered, there is manifest a feeling of general gladness that the close of the season has been reached.

Compared with last year the 1903 run will show a slight decrease, but as nothing definite can be ascertained concerning the pack on the Columbia river this season it is impossible to render anything but an approximate estimate of the total output.

The salmon pack last year was larger than any preceding pack for a period of four years. The total output including that preserved by cold storages, amounted to 440,574. An estimate this year places it at 411,540. These figures, however, are subject to revision, as many of the cannerymen and cold storage men declined to state what their pack amounted to. It is quite possible that the estimate may be in excess of the pack. In view of the fact that the first heavy run did not materialize till July 31. Thousands of fish were refused by the cannerymen, and were dumped into the river.

In compiling the following estimate the Astorian received figures from the cannerymen and cold storage men direct. Not all of them, however were prepared to approximate their pack, and the figures credited to them were based on general conditions:

ESTIMATED PACK.

Union Fishermen's Co-Operative Packing Co.	30,000
Tallant & Grant Packing Co.	10,000
Sanborn, Cutting Co.	24,000
A Booth & Co.	28,000
McCowan's (three canneries)	35,000
Pillar Rock Packing Co.	19,000
J. J. Mezier & Co.	13,500
F. M. Warren	26,000
B. A. Seaborg	5,000
Columbia River Packers Association	110,000
COLD STORAGE PRODUCT.
Estimating the cold storage product at 6.436 tonnes, on a basis of 900 pounds of raw material to the tonne, this would be equivalent to 111,540 cases of salmon added to the season's pack, making a total of 411,540 cases. As in the matter of the salmon pack on the river, the estimate is based on general conditions.
