BISHOP BRONDEL EXPIRES

Head of the Catholic Church in Montana Dead at Helena.

Helena, Mont., Nov. 3 .- At 10 minutes past 3 o'clock this morning the Right Rev. John B. Brondel, the first Helena and head of the Catholic church in Montana, expired.

At 11 o'clock last night the bishor lapsed into unconclousness and never revived. He died without a struggle, dropping peacefully into the sleep which knows no earthly awakening. At the bedside when the end came was Pather Victor Day, of Helena, who is placed temporarily in charge of the af- | Says His Trip to New York Was fairs of the church in Montana, together with Fathers Desieure, of Butte, Father Bernot, of Anaconda, Father Sullivan, of Great Falls, Father Gallagher, of Fort Benton, as well as several of the Sisters of Charity in charge of St. John's hospital.

Father Victor Day, who during the several absences of Bishop Brondel has been in charge of the diocese, will immediately become temporary head of the church in Montana. Under the laws of the church, a bishop must say in his will who will be tis temporary successor.

In view of the close relations which have existed between Bishop Brondel and Father Day, it is believed that when the will is opened it will be found that the well known Helena priest has been named for this honor.

ENGINEER BLAMES CAPTAIN

He Says Prompt Action Would Have Saved Passengers.

San Francisco, Nov. 3 .- At the continued inquiry before the government afficials into the sinking of the steamer South Portland, Chief Engineer James A. Ward flatly contradicted the sworn ficer that the steamer was not going ahead at the time the boats were launched. He testified that the boat ing the statements of captain and mate that the wind was stiff and the sea rough. He believed that if the ship had the boats all of the passengers might have been saved. He testified that when he was called on deck both boats were disappearing in the fog and that Captain McIntyre was gone with them.
