DR. TUTTLE FOR SENATOR

Popular Physician the Choice of Republicans to Succeed C. W. Fulton at Salem.

NOMINATION IS UNANIMOUS

Stirring Speeches Show That Delegates Are Confident of Electing Their Man on 16th.

At the county republican convention held at the court house yesterday afternoon to nominate a successor to C. W. Fulton, late senator from Clatsop county to Salem, Dr. Jay Tuttle proved the unanimous choice of the delegates. The name of Dr. Tuttle was placed in nomination by R. A. Abbott, of Skippoon, whose nominating speech was marked by an enthusiasm that elicited frequent applause. Dr. Tuttle responded to calls for a speech with a spirited address.

The convention was called to order at 2 o'clock by G. C. Fulton, chairman of the county central committee. After the reading of the call by Secretary C. J. Curtis, Charles E. Dubois, of Seaside, and H. D. Gray, of Astoria, were made chairman and secretary. The adoption of the report of the committee on order of business made the temporary officers permanent ones. The only business before the convention was the nomination of a state senator and nothing else was attempted.

After the adoption of the report of the credentials committee, the chairman announced that nominations were in order, and R. A. Abbott took the floor. Mr. Abbott dwelt upon the importance of nominating a man capable of "filling the shoes" of Mr. Fulton; and when he placed the name of Dr. Tuttle before the convention it was plainly evident by the applause that his choice was a popular one. The nomination was seconded and warmly endorsed by James W. Welch, who moved that the vote be by acclamation. It went that way and proved unanimous.

In his speech of acceptance Dr. Tuttle stated, what everybody knew, that the nomination came to him unthought; that he felt a hesitancy in accepting the honor, but that he would in case of his election, do the best he could, but that none need expect him to "turn the world upside down." That the nominee struck the popular note was evidenced by the hearty cheers as he took his seat.

Speeches by G. C. Fulton, R. A. Abbott and James W. Welch followed, optimism and enthusiasm being shown on all sides. That Dr. Tuttle is the popular choice of the republicans there is no doubt, and confidence is expressed that when the votes are counted he will be the choice of the county.

REPUBLICAN CLUB SMOKER.

The Young Men's Republican Club held a smoker last evening that aroused the pent-up enthusiasm of an entire year. The affair was held at the court house, and the big circuit room would not accommodate all those who sought to join in the merry making. The meeting was called to order by J. C. McCue deputy collector of customs, who told, in a happy vein, of the occasion for the gathering. A stringed orchestra was present and throughout the evening discoursed music. Among the gentlemen who were called upon for remarks were Dr. Tuttle, G. C. Fulton, John Hahn, R. A. Abbott, Otis Patterson, W. J. Ingalls, Dr. Fulton, C. W. Carnahan and Charles Abercrombie. Early in the proceedings the guests were provided with clay pipes and an unlimited quantity of tobacco was distributed. Many of the delegates from the outside precincts to the county convention were present, and the evening was pleasantly spent.

DREDGE WILL BE SUCCESS

J. T. Hubbard, Government Expert, Satisfied Excellent Results Will Be Obtained.

OTHER HARBORS BETTERED

Conditions More Favorable Here Than at New Orleans, Says Dredging Master J. T. Hubbard.

Repairs to the boilers of the big government dredge Chinook will be completed by tonight, and if the weather is favorable dredging operations on the Columbia bar will be resumed Monday. The boilers of the Chinook are 11 years old and of late had been leaking. Substantial repairs have been made and no more difficulty from this source is anticipated.

J. T. Hubbard, dredge master of the Chinook, expresses the opinion that eminently satisfactory results will be obtained at the mouth of the Columbia. Mr. Hubbard has been in the government service for years and has had charge of some of the most important undertakings in the country. While as a rule it is necessary to keep dredges in constant operation, the results secured are wonderfully beneficial, and as compared with other harbors the Columbia offers an excellent field for work.

"The government has secured most satisfactory results in the harbors of the south," said Mr. Hubbard, "and the utility of dredges has been conclusively demonstrated. When we took a dredge to the Charleston, S. C., harbor there was but nine feet of water on the bar. When we finished operations the depth was 25½ feet. At Fernandina, Fla., we undertook to deepen a nine-foot bar and provided a depth of 24 feet. At Fernandina there is now a straight channel 24 feet in depth from deep water inside to deep water outside. At Key West the channel was deepened from six feet to 15 feet; at Georgetown, from seven feet to 15½ feet.

"Dredging operations are constantly carried on at Sandy Hook, the New York harbor, and the government is now building two dredges for use there. The necessity for dredging operations at many of our harbors is realized by the government, and eight or 10 dredges are now in the course of construction for the various harbors in the eastern states and in the south.

"While the Fernandina improvement was carried on I kept close watch on the progress of the work. There we had a dredge provided with 18-inch pumps, and after the work was well under way we found we could secure an average depth of 3 of an inch daily. Here we have 20-inch pumps and should secure equally as good results. At Fernandina the greatest amount of sand handled per minute was 29 cubic yards. The greatest amount thus far handled on the Columbia river bar has been 24 cubic yards, but we will handle 30 when we have made a good start."

Mr. Hubbard added that conditions were much more favorable here than at New Orleans where the harbor has been deepened to an extent that permits the handling of the largest carriers that ply the Atlantic. Dredging operations are now being carried on at New Orleans in the southwest entrance, opposite the famous Eads jetty.

"I am satisfied a deep entrance can be provided at the mouth of the Columbia," said Mr. Hubbard, in conclusion, "and we only need favorable weather to demonstrate it."

The high school pupils did excellent work in their rhetorical exercises yesterday. The debaters landed out facts and figures as that showed a minute acquaintance with the careers of Lee and Grant, and the negative by winning out proved that the Union general was the superior of the tyro. The musical and literary numbers were masterpieces of their kind, the large number of visitors being rightly entertained throughout the program.
