CITY MUST MAKE GOOD

Suit Will Be Brought Against Chicago by Managers of Houses Ordered Closed.

FEDERAL COURTS WILL TRY

Action Based on Documents Issued By Authorities of the City Assuring the Public That the Houses Were Safe.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—The Record-Herald today says: Suits against the city of Chicago for financial losses caused by the order which Building Commissioner Williams issued January 1, closing every theater in the city, will be brought by many of the managers and owners of plays whose engagements were booked in Chicago during the last two weeks. This statement is made by men who are in intimate touch with the local theatrical situation.

Since all of the managers are non-residents the cases will be taken before the federal courts. The briefs of the plaintiffs will be based on documents, one, the license to conduct a place of amusement costing $300, and which has not been revoked by the authorities, and the other, the certificate of inspection by the fire department which hangs framed near the main entrance of the downtown theaters and which states, over the signature of Fire Marshal Musham, that the house is certified to be safe as to fire protection.

FLED FROM KNIFE OF THE SURGEON

New York, Jan. 13.—The police of the Bedford avenue station have been asked to look for Mrs. Pauline Andreas, 26 years old, and her two children, Edward and Josephine, aged 5 and 3, who have been missing since early last Saturday morning. The woman is the wife of Gottfried Andreas, a prosperous boss painter, of 204 South First street.

Mrs. Andreas has had six children three of whom are dead. Her oldest child, Bertha, aged 7, lives with Mrs. Anna Abel, Mrs. Andreas' mother and the matron of Bethany home nursery in Manhattan. Mrs. Andreas has been in poor health for some time and the doctor told her recently that she would have to have an operation performed. This worried her greatly and she told her husband that she would surely die under the knife. She also said that if she had to die she wanted her two youngest children to die with her.

On New Year's day Mrs. Andreas' sister, Miss Minnie Abel, who is a nurse in the Bethany Home Nursery came to Brooklyn to visit the Andreas. On account of the cold she was prevailed upon to remain all night. The next morning Mrs. Andreas decided to go over to the Bethany Home Nursery with her sister and see her mother. She took her two children with her. After remaining for some time she went away with her two children and has not been seen since.

When his wife did not come home Saturday night Andreas began to search for her. He enlisted the aid of his friends and relatives. A visit was made to the various hospitals and station houses, but without finding any trace of the family. Since then the search has been continued unceasingly.

"I cannot imagine what has become of my wife," said Mr. Andreas this morning. "We have always lived happily together, and I fear that, becoming melancholy at the thought of undergoing an operation, she may have done something rash. On Monday morning I got a postal card in a strange hand. It simply said: 'Fred I am in New York and will be home at 12 o'clock, noon, Monday.' There was no signature and I know it was not from my wife, since I am well acquainted with her handwriting. However, I remained around the house Monday waiting for her. I am nearly insane. I haven't closed my eyes since she left."

POLICE STRIVE TO SOLVE MURDER CASE

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 13.—Whether or not Miss Grace Bagwell, a beautiful young woman, was murdered and her body thrown into the Sacramento river, is a mystery which the police authorities of this city are trying to solve. Detective O'Neill believes that a crime has been committed. About a week ago the clothes of the young woman were found lying on the banks of the Sacramento river, opposite Sutterville, a few miles from this city. After the sheriff's officers had made an investigation the conclusion was reached that a woman had been murdered and her body thrown into the river. The clothes were taken to the wayside resort of George Quinn, near by, on the riverside road.

The next day Chick Frost, a half-breed and former convict, came into Quinn's place. When he saw the clothing he seemed to become nervous. He left the place immediately and ran up the levee. The officers took this as indicating that he knew something about the disappearance of the unknown woman to whom the clothes belonged.

Detective O'Neill has made the discovery that Miss Grace Bagwell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bagwell, who reside on a farm near Sutterville had been missing from home since last Thanksgiving day. The girl was employed in a department store in this city and roomed at the headquarters of the Young Woman's Christian Association. The detective also learned that she had been keeping company with a young man named Henry Bradley, but that she was engaged to be married to Charles Clark, of San Francisco.

It appears that Bradley was well acquainted with Chick Frost.

SUSPECT IS HEMMED BY STRONG EVIDENCE

San Francisco, Jan. 13.—The mysterious murder of Joseph Blais, whose dead body was found at the foot of the Taylor street wall on Russian hill, with a deep cut in the neck, Monday morning, remains the most absorbing case which has occupied the police in many months. The work of the detectives yesterday resulted in the location of a suit of clothes which Leon Soeder, suspected of the murder, had sent to a cleaner early Monday morning, and the finding of the pistol which Soeder bought a month ago and sold back to the same dealer, together with all the cartridges he had purchased Monday afternoon.

With additional light the motive which Soeder would have had in slaying Blais—that of obtaining a heavy insurance upon his life—grows plainer and more suggestive. No witnesses to the movements of the two men on Sunday evening have yet been found.

A strange man who visited Soeder and Blais at their home on Sunday comes into the case, as does a woman Katherine Flatley, with whom Soeder appears to have romantic relations and who may be able to throw light upon the case, particularly as she is now Soeder's enemy. It develops that Soeder served three years in prison for burglary committed in this city.

One of the first discoveries made by the police yesterday was that Leon Soeder had a criminal record. Under the name of L. S. Lenkenheldt, he was convicted of burglary in this city in 1894, and on September 8 of that year he was sentenced to three years in San Quentin. He served his full time, less credits for good behavior, and was released from prison on January 7, 1897. His conduct had been so good that the prison board restored him to citizenship. Soeder broke into Johnson's restaurant, then at 28 Montgomery street, and took cigars and edibles and a small amount of money. He was captured at once. The picture in the identification bureau is an exact likeness, and Soeder makes no denial that he is the man who was convicted as Lenkenheldt.

Brazil and France Agree.

New York, Jan. 13.—The Brazilian minister of foreign affairs, Baron De Branco, and the French minister have agreed, says a Herald dispatch from Rio Janeiro, to maintain the commercial modus vivendi, concluded in 1900 withdrawing the revocation presented on June 15, 1903. They also agreed that the modus vivendi shall remain one year after the revocation, instead of six months.

TIME USED BY STUDENTS

Figures That Go to Show That Men Are Harder Workers Than Women.

LADIES EAT MORE—SLEEP LESS

According to Cornell's President Students Should Work 11 Hours Daily, But They Fail to Average This.

Itha, N. Y., Jan. 12.—The men students at Cornell university apparently are harder worked than the co-eds. This is shown by the results just announced of the week of tab keeping experienced some time ago. The figures are confined to the college of arts and sciences, but this is the largest college in the university and the one in which practically all the co-eds are registered.

The mass of figures gathered show that the men and women students respectively spend each 24 hours at Cornell as follows:

Table with columns: Men, Women. Rows: Works, Amusement, Physical exercise, Meals, Sleep, Unclassified.

According to President Schurman, a model student should work 11 hours a day.

ARE ARRESTED FOR CONDUCTING GAMBLING

Corvallis, Jan. 13.—A warrant was issued from Judge Holgate's court this morning for the arrest of Small & Son, of this city for conducting a gambling house. These are the proprietors of the candy and cigar store, mentioned in yesterday's dispatches, in whose back rooms were discovered nine boys between the ages of 14 and 15 years engaged in playing stud poker for money and checks. The raid by the officers occurred about 1 a. m., Sunday morning, at which time the cards and other gambling paraphernalia were confiscated by the police.

The discovery of such a resort and the confessions of the youthful participants have aroused an intense feeling of indignation among the citizens of Corvallis against the men who have been conducting this resort.

Last night there was talk of inviting in the Holler Roller vigilantes to take part in the affair, but cooler council prevailed and the law will be allowed to take its course. At the justice court this morning Judge Holgate was compelled to continue the case till tomorrow in order to allow the defendants to procure an attorney from Albany to defend, as none of the local attorneys cared to take the case in face of the popular feeling over the matter.

Depression in Shipbuilding.

According to United States Consul Skinner, at Marseilles, France, the depression which exists in the shipbuilding industry in France a number of years ago is felt to day, in consequence of the unprecedented activity in that line which followed the passage of a measure April 7, 1903, admitting certain benefits to new tonnage. This was limited to 200,000 tons for steam vessels and 100,000 tons for windjammers. The premium for the equipment and navigation of the craft was limited to $28-950,000. The maximum premium for construction was $9,650,000. It was provided the expenditure would be applied to a maximum annual construction of 50,000 tons for steamers and 15,000 tons for sailing vessels.
