VISITORS AT THE WORLD'S FAIR MAY QUENCH THEIR THIRST AT FLOWING STREAM

A spring of living water gushing clear and cold from the hillside at the northeast corner of the Palace of Agriculture at the world's fair grounds at St. Louis is one of the features provided by nature that will delight thousands of weary and thirsty visitors during the exposition.

This beautiful spring began sending forth its refreshing stream before the Louisiana Purchase was made a hundred years ago and no matter how dry the summer there has never been any diminution of its flow.

When the landscape architect with big steam shovels, steam scrapers, with armies of men and hundreds of mules at his command, began altering that part of the earth's surface embraced in the exposition grounds, cutting down a hill here, filling in a valley there, Mr. Frederic W. Taylor, chief of the department of agriculture, gave strict orders that the spring must not be molested.

A weeping willow tree that must have been growing for more than fifty years spreads out its green branches over the spring and creates a delightful shade. The water as it bubbles from the ground flows down a steep hillside through a miniature ravine in which dainty ferns and pretty mosses luxuriate.

Chief Taylor has authorized the building of a quaint, old-fashioned spring house over it. An old-fashioned well-sweep will lift the water in a moss-covered, iron bound oaken bucket. The walls of the structure will be covered with bark of forest trees and the roof will be thatched. Rustic seats will be placed conveniently in the spring house and in available spots down the ravine. Cups will be provided and the visitor who at some time or another has seen just such a sight, and regaled himself with just such a drink, will recall the pleasant memories as he pauses in his self-imposed task of seeing the world's fair wonders.

The water is as clear as crystal. It is just the right temperature—not so cold as iced water and much colder than the water that flows through the city mains. It is a mineral water, but has no odor and no repellent taste. Its flow is sufficient to provide cold and refreshing and healthful drink for thousands and the old-fashioned spring house is sure to become a popular resort in Agriculture Hill where so many other beauty spots have been created.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE OF REAL PROPERTY.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of the county court of the state of Oregon, for the County of Multnomah, duly made and entered of record on the 8th day of February, 1904, in the matter of the estate of Rosa F. Burrell, deceased, authorizing and directing the sale of the real property to said estate belonging in the manner prescribed by law for the sale of real property upon execution, I, Gordon Voorhies, administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Rosa F. Burrell, deceased, will offer for sale and will sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the court house door of Clatsop county, in the state of Oregon, on Thursday, the 31st day of March, 1904, at the hour of one o'clock p. m. of said day, all the following described real property situate in Clatsop county, Oregon, to-wit: The east half of lot three (3) in block two (2), Ocean Grove, as laid out by James K. Grimes; and lots one (1) and two (2) in block seven (7) in Grimes' Annex to Ocean Grove, in the county and state aforesaid. Said sale to be for cash, subject to confirmation by the court. GORDON VOORHIES, Administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Rosa F. Burrell, deceased. 2-25-3-29.

FINAL NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I have filed my final account as administrator of the estate of Anna Louise Adolph, deceased, and that the county court of Clatsop county, Oregon, has set Monday, the 28th day of March, 1904, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon, for the hearing of objections, if any there be, to the approval of said account and discharge of the administrator. Feb. 23, 1904. GUS ADOLPH, Administrator. 2-26-3-25.

MORE RIOTS.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork; loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver and Kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nerve and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism and Neuralgia and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by Chas. Rogers, druggist.
