THE GIRL TRAFFIC.

The ministerial association of the city of Portland has undertaken to put a stop to the "girl traffic," and during the week will formulate plans for carrying out the object which is sought to be attained. The ministers have on hand the biggest job ever undertaken by them, and if they are successful they will establish a record not heretofore equaled.

"The girl traffic" is said by the ministers to mean the business of procuring young women for im- manship and the spread of a general knowledge moral purposes. The ministers have eventually learned that alleged men are regularly engaged in this business, and that there are also procuresses It has also been learned that the procurers receive ends. goodly compensation for their villainous work, and that the evil is spreading to an alarming extent. If they can break up the practice they believe they will have accomplished much for humanity.

Pretty nearly everyone will wish the ministers good luck in their latest crusade, for there is no sadder side of life than that reflected in the wayward careers of the girls who cast themselves loose from home ties and take a chance with an earthly hell. But the cure is what the ministers must discover and the Berlin Militar Wochenblatt is that if seven trai apply. They may cause the arrest of every person in any way connected with the outrageous busi- be sent out in 14 weeks. But it is probably not po ness, but there will be wayward girls just the same. sible to devote seven trains a day to soldiers. Near Other girls will be led astray as heretofore. The law half of them, say three of the seven, must be us has been invoked times without number, but it will for supplies of the various kinds. At that rate not stop this terrible business.

Of course, there is talk about the Rus As a rule a child is just what its parents' teaching sians living on the country. They might do that makes it, and a good girl, with pleasant home ties, will not, under ordinary circumstances, fall from grace. The ministers, if they would conduct a successful campaign, should spend most of their time at the homes of parents of growing girls. If girls are properly reared, there will be no business for procurers.

magazine rifles not needed for the equipment of army and the organized militia. Those rifles ar be issued to state and territorial associations for for rifle practice under the regulations appro by the war department. The secretary of war is so authorized to furnish at cost to the state and ritorial authorities the ammunition and ordna stores needed for target practice by the marksme clubs. Such practice is to be conducted under supervision of the board for the promotion of r practice, and its results are to be recorded annua in the office of the adjutant general. Persons y qualify under the rules prescribed are to be enrol by the adjutant general as marksmen's reserve, a it is announced that they will have the prefere in any call for volunteer enlistments in a fut

The importance of markmanship in the milita operations of the future can not be over estimat The modern infantryman, to reach his highest of ciency, must be virtually a sharp-shooter. The gr range of modern small arms and the openness modern field formations make it desirable that eve soldier shall have the fullest training possible rifle practice. Raw troops are becoming less a less a possible resource in warfare. In the shand decisive wars of the present day an untrain militia has ceased entirely to be that measure of fence which the original framers of our milits policy fondly believed it. No military venture cou be more helpful than the organization in every sta of volunteer associations for the practice of mar small arms and of their care and use. The war of partment's new project deserves every commence tion, and we hope to see a measure putting it operation made a law before this session of congr

OPERATIONS ON LAND.

It is said that 100,000 Russian soldiers have be sent to the far east since the war began. That quite credible. But we are not informed how man have arrived there. Not a large proportion of t whole, probably, seeing that the time required f transit is about six weeks. The latest estimate a day are dispatched as many as 133,000 men ca would take Russia a weary while to get an "ove The ministers will waste their efforts if they un- whelming" army to the front. And it must be ve in the latter part of next summer, for Manchuri is an uncommonly rich and productive country. Bu for the next four months supplies must be brough across the continent. The system of living on th country was tried by the French during the Pen insular war, and, according to the Duke of Welling ton, it cost them 30 per cent of their men in each campaign.

A MARKSMEN'S RESERVE.

The war department's enlightened efforts to repair the long standing blunders of our military policy are not to end with the reforms achieved during the memorable administration of Secretary Root says the New York Tribune. Along lines broadly laid down by him many other salutary innovations in army administration are to be attempted, and constant progress will doubtless be made toward solving-when war next overtakes us-the vast problem of converting our potential military resources into actual military strength. A project which will tend materially to increase our preparedness for war is now being pushed jointly by the war department and the National Rifle Association of America. It contemplates the organization, under government auspices, of civilian rifle clubs, whose members will be encouraged to qualify as marksmen and to enroll themselves as a second line of national reserves. These rifle clubs are not to be attiched to the newly organized and nationalized militis. They are to remain on a purely civilian basis and to affliate themselves with the National Rifle A sociation. But in certain respects they are to come under the control of a board for the promotion of rifle practice, appointed and maintained by the general government.

Bills have been introduced in the senate by Mr Proctor, of Vermont, and in the house of representatives by Mr. Dick, of Ohio, giving official sanction to mount the Kansas City platform. to the organization of these clubs. The secretary of war is directed to furnish to governors of states and territories, under bond for their return, any to stand pat in Korea.

Tolstoi has written a book that is not to be publish ed while he lives. However, the Russian government may get even by sending the publishers to Siberia.

It looks as if Senator Gorman would demand a civil service examination for the Chinamen and Ja maican negroes who are to dig the canal.

For a check of $300,000 the state university of Nebraska is willing to become one of the John D. Oilyfeller institutions.

Bryan will doubtless give his O. K. to the democratic candidate for an I. O. U. on a cabinet position.

To Missouri belongs the honor of raising a horse strong enough to carry our new secretary of war.
