

CROMWELL'S DEATH MASK ON EXHIBITION AT HARVARD

Famous Carlyle Collection Is Opened to University Visitors Until After Commencement.

Cambridge, Mass., May 24.—Preliminary to the annual commencement of Harvard university, the famous Thos. Carlyle collection, now in the possession of the Harvard museum, has been placed on exhibition. The collection includes the books perused by Carlyle in his researches prior to the writing of his historical volumes. Also there is in the collection a death mask of Oliver Cromwell.

truest existing image of Cromwell's face, far to be preferred to the common casts in which all the finer points of likeness had become obliterated. Carlyle himself had described Cromwell's face as follows: "Big, massive head, of somewhat leonine aspect, evident workshop and storehouse of a vast treasury of natural parts." Wart above the right eyebrow; nose of considerable blunt-aquiline proportions; strict yet copious lips, full of all tremulous sensibilities, and also, if need were, of all fierceness and rigors; deep well part of the Harvard Carlyle collection, hung for many years in the English writer's home in Chelsea and was then given by him to his friend and correspondent, Professor Charles Eliot Norton of Cambridge. The cast had been presented to Carlyle by the sculptor Thomas Woolner, the present possessor of the original death mask, and is one of the few casts ever taken from the original mask. When Carlyle's bequest came to Harvard Professor Norton presented the cast to the Harvard college library, and the Harvard library thus became possessed of the fourth cast taken from the original mask, the other three being respectively at the universities of Oxford and Cambridge and in the British museum. Carlyle considered it undoubtedly the loving eyes, call them grave, call them stern, looking from under those gray brows, as if in life-long sorrow, and yet not thinking it so now, thinking it only labor and endeavor; on the whole, a right noble lion-face and hero-face; and to me royal enough." And the description is easily recognizable to anybody who examines the cast as it now stands in the Harvard library, reproducing both the imperfections and perfections of the mask hastily made just after the death of the great protector.

Decorations Conferred.

New York, May 25.—The pope has conferred decorations on two officials of a Catholic student institution who are deprived of their posts, says a Times dispatch from Vienna, for refusing to accept challenges to duels. In view of the refusal of the Austro-Hungarian military authorities to countenance the propaganda of the Austrian anti-duelling league in spite of the exalted patronage it enjoys, the action of the pope is considered significant.

OLD CHIEF DEAD.

Was Dangerous in His Home—Buried in Indian Style.

Ukiah, Cal., May 24.—Charles Penio, the oldest chief of the Ukiah tribe is dead at Cook Ranchero, and the Indians are now celebrating a death feast. Penio was 107 years old and ruled the Ukiahs long before the white settlers arrived and the death of many whites lies at his door. He was judge and jury for the tribe but was deposed about 25 years ago for killing Sam Warden. Warden and another Indian had a quarrel over a game of cards and the Indian was killed. Penio was sent for and had Warden tied to a tree to be shot. He dodged the first bullet, which so infuriated the chief that he seized an axe and chopped off Warden's head. Penio was held in jail for several months, but none of the Indians could be induced to testify against him. Penio had always resented the encroachment of the whites and was considered dangerous. He was buried in Indian style with his pony and war implements.

FINAL CONFERENCE.

Companies Winding Up Their Affairs and Transferring Assets.

New York, May 25.—Final conferences have been held here between representatives of the Canadian Improvement company and the Consolidated Lake Superior Company in this city with a view to winding up the affairs of the latter and transferring the assets to the new company.

It is now expected that Speyer & Co., will be paid on Thursday next, and that the interests which will withdraw from any further participation in the syndicate will receive their money. When the Speyer loan is paid the securities now held by the firm will be turned over to the Superior Company which was incorporated yesterday in New Jersey.

OLD MINER DEAD.

Had Prospected All Over the Country, Especially in Colorado.

Denver, May 25.—Captain Peter H. Scott, one of the oldest mining engineers in the west, is dead at his home here of apoplexy. Death came without any warning, as he was working at his office when stricken. Captain Scott was a native of Canada, but early in life emigrated to the United States. In 1849 he was one of the first to cross the country to the mines of California. While in San Francisco he formed the acquaintance of John W. McKey and John O'Brien and for a number of years was associated with them in the workings of prospects.

TREASURE IN OLD COAT.

Old Man Buys Second-Hand Garment and Becomes Rich.

New York, May 25.—Five $1000 treasury notes have been found in an old moth-eaten coat purchased by Elmer Pickerson, of Bogota, N. J., at an auction sale of unclaimed baggage in a railway station.

Neither the trunk nor the coat bore any marks of identification, Ecker-son was about to throw the garment away when he discovered the treasure carefully wrapped in oil silk. The lucky buyer is 63 years old and will at once take a vacation in Europe.

ENGINEERS IN SESSION.

Delegates to Convention Will Also See St. Louis World's Fair.

Chicago, May 25.—Nearly 150 British engineers with 650 from the United States will attend the joint session of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers of Great Britain to be held here May 31 to June 3.

The meeting will be the first since 1893. It was arranged at this time in order that visitors might see the St. Louis fair.

Professor Honored.

New York, May 25.—Prof. Charles Backerville, of the University of North Carolina, has been elected by the board of the college of New York to the chair of chemistry. The professor attracted notice recently by announcing the discovery of two new neutral elements in lanthorium.

MEXICAN VETERANS MEET.

Old Men Who Fought for Texas Gather at Fort Worth.

Fort Worth, Texas, May 25.—Ninety of the Texas-Mexican war veterans met here today in annual reunion. President George Findlay, of Austin, presided. R. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans, the Dames of 1846, had charge of all arrangements, and the veterans were their guests. The two sessions were occupied with address of welcome, music and other features provided by the local committee. Very little was said or done by the veterans. They will hold their business meeting to-day.

The youngest veteran in attendance is D. McFadden, of Crawford, aged 73 years and the oldest is A. Freeman of Weatherford, aged 91.
