Forty-four Sacramento river fishermen arrived on the steamship Elder yesterday. In all about 150 have arrived here to fish during the year.

If ever has such a high-grade lecture been delivered in this city at such a modest figure, but Mr. Gower is interested in brotherhood work and manifests it in this practical and instructive way.

A meeting of the Cigar & Liquor Dealers' Association was held yesterday afternoon at the city hall. The meeting was addressed by John E. Kelly and J. C. Dawson of Portland, who are out against the local option bill.

At yesterday's session of the county court a contract was awarded to C. W. Carnahan for grading and graveling 4000 feet of the Elk creek road and building a bridge over Muddy creek. The contract price was $2400. Several other road matters were attended to during the day.

Commander Wright of Cushing post, G. A. R., yesterday received word that the war department had agreed to allow the post the use of 40 condemned 15-inch shells for the purpose of decorating the G. A. R. plot at Oceanview. The department's decision was due to a request filed by Senator Fulton. The shells are at Fort Canby, and they will be delivered at the cemetery by the government.

The records of Weather Observer Masters for the month of May show that the rainfall was only 1.32 inches, the smallest for many months. There were 16 clear days, which is likewise a remarkable circumstance, 15 cloudy days and but nine rainy days. The 25th was the warmest day, the glass having then registered 67, while the coldest day was the 10th, when the thermometer dropped to 40.

Both of the political parties will tonight bring to a close their county and state campaigns in Astoria. The republicans will hold forth at Fishers' opera house, where Senator Fulton is to discourse, and the democrats will make their final stand in the west end. The democratic rally will be concluded with a dance. The campaign has been an unusually quiet one, and the work for the various candidates has been carried on with little flourish of trumpets. Some money has been wagered on the result, bettors finding the contest for the office of sheriff the most alluring chance offered.

The annual convention of the longshoremen's union will convene in this city next Monday morning. The sessions of the union will be held at Carnahan hall, and will be begun at 10 o'clock. President Sayre of the Astoria union stated yesterday that 46 delegates, perhaps more, would be here, and added that the convention would be one of the most important ever held by the longshoremen. Just what matters are to be brought before the convention for action does not appear from the statement of the president of the local union, who contented himself with the mere assertion that the gathering would be of the utmost importance to members of the longshoremen's organization.

Final examinations were yesterday begun in all of the city schools, and will continue for about a week. There are about 1375 pupils enrolled, but, as many have passed on honor, not all of them will take the examinations. The high school graduating class will be made up of 11 students, as follows: Signey Baker, Selma Norberg, Sallie Gray, Frances Norberg, Ellen Nowlen, Helga Erickson, Ethel Gerding, Mervyn Lounsbury, Will Barker, Prescott Wright and Otto Erickson. The star high school student is Miss Frances Norberg, who has passed on honor for four years, and who graduates from the high school with an average of 91.3. Professor Clark and the other instructors are very proud of Miss Norberg's fine record. The term now closing has been one of the most successful in the history of the schools of the city. In the grammar grades those pupils pass on honor who maintain an average of 85 per cent, are not tardy and absent from school during the term not to exceed five days. In the high school a daily average of 87 per cent must be maintained, but a student can not pass on honor if he is absent more than three days. The high school examinations will probably be concluded on Thursday morning, and the grammar grade examinations on the same day. The results will be made known immediately.

The regular meeting of the water commission was held last evening. Besides transacting routine business the commission opened bids for the construction of a retaining wall on Sixteenth street. The commission finally decided to have the plans passed upon by Mr. Grondahl, who will be in the city on the 8th. Pending the report of Mr. Grondahl the tenders will not be made public. The commission also arranged to pay the semi-annual interest, amounting to $8000.

The county court yesterday adjourned until the 8th inst, when Mr. Grondahl, Architect Lazarus' assistant, will be in the city to confer with the court regarding the foundation for the new county building. Since the opening of the bids the court has received word that Mr. Grondahl would be here on the 8th, and pending his arrival the matter will be allowed to stand. The probabilities are the court will ask for offers for piling foundation, which is regarded as much the better quality of work.
