CANDIDATE NAMED FOR PRESIDENT

Prohibition Convention Decides Upon Silas C. Swallow of Pennsylvania, With George W. Carroll for Vice President.

General Miles Wires That He Will Not Accept and His Name is Not Offered.

BROAD PLATFORM ADOPTED

Favors International Arbitration, Popular Election of Senators, Reform Divorce Laws and Refers to Trust Question.

Indianapolis, June 30.—The prohibition party in national convention today nominated Silas G. Swallow of Pennsylvania for president and George W. Carroll of Texas for vice president. The platform was adopted without argument after a long deadlock in the resolutions committee. It was described by L. H. Amos of Oregon, secretary of the committee, as the broadest platform ever placed before the people by the party.

In addition to the plank on the liquor question, the platform declares the party to be in favor of international arbitration, a suffrage law based on mental and moral qualification, uniform laws for this country and its dependencies, the popular election of senators, civil service extension and the initiative and referendum. The trust question is recognized by the demand for rigid application of the principles of justice to all organizations of capital and labor. Reform of divorce laws is demanded and polygamy is denounced.

General Miles put an end to the movement to nominate him for president by sending a telegram to John G. Woolley, asking that his name be not presented. This was considered final, and the movement to renominate Swallow was unanimous, no other name being considered.

Over $16,000 was raised by subscription pledges from the floor of the convention, which, with the $11,000 in the treasury, will be the nucleus of the campaign fund.

National Chairman Stewart and National Secretary Tate were re-elected. The prohibition editors organized for the campaign by electing Clark of Indianapolis president.

The convention program was closed tonight with a mass meeting, at which addresses were made by National Chairman Stewart, John G. Woolley and others. Several hundred delegates left tonight for St. Louis to visit the exposition.

BRYAN WILL NOT BOLT IF JUDGE PARKER WERE NAMED FOR PRESIDENT

National Chairman Jones Confident the Nebraskan Would Support New York Jurist Were He to Be Nominated.

Thinks There is No Chance of Cleveland's Nomination and Regards Senator Gorman as One of the Strongest Possibilities—Declares That Bimetallism Plank Will Not Be Inserted in Platform.

Pittsburg, June 30.—The widespread belief that William J. Bryan will bolt the democratic ticket in the event of the nomination of Judge Parker of New York for the presidency is not shared by J. K. Jones, chairman of the national democratic committee. Mr. Jones is not so sure Mr. Bryan would remain in the ranks of the untitled if Mr. Cleveland were to be nominated, but he thinks this question one not properly to be considered, because of the improbability of Mr. Cleveland's nomination.

"I am confident that W. J. Bryan will not bolt the ticket if Judge Parker should be nominated," declared Mr. Jones this evening. "As to what Mr. Bryan might do if Mr. Cleveland were nominated, I could not say, but I regard the nomination of the former president as little short of an impossible contingency."

"Outside of Judge Parker, William Randolph Hearst will have the greatest number of instructed delegates. I regard Senator Gorman of Maryland as one of the strongest possibilities."

Discussing the probable platform, Senator Jones said he believed a bimetallism plank would not be inserted in it.

COLUMBIA RIVER FRESHET DRIVING FISH ELSEWHERE

Immense Runs on Puget Sound Attributed to High Water Prevailing Here at Present Time.

Bellingham, Wash., June 30.—According to Deputy Fish Commissioner Riseland of Washington state, the prevailing high water in the Columbia river is turning salmon away from that stream and causing them to enter Puget sound. Mr. Riseland has just returned from a trip to the trap locations and reports that the greatest run of fish in the history of the sound is now on.

Fifteen traps were visited by the deputy fish commissioner, and he states that the average haul made by these traps is nine tons of salmon. The traps are located around Deception pass and at the north end of Whidby island. The salmon are pronounced to be of the very finest quality, leading the deputy to believe that they are Columbia river chinooks.

The waters of the sound fairly teem with fish and the trappers are reaping a harvest.

GREAT RACE IS TAKEN BY YALE CREW

Freshmen Event Won After One of the Most Exciting and Best Rowed Contests Ever Seen on the Thames.

Boats Were Never More Than Length Apart and Victors Had But Half-Second Margin.

FINAL SPURT DID THE TRICK

With Half Mile to Go Yale Crew Spurred and Harvard's Effort at Eighth Mile Flag Was Fruitless.

New London, June 30.—The thousands who journeyed to the Thames today for the annual Yale-Harvard boat races saw one of the best freshmen races that has ever been rowed on any course, and then for eight hours the crowd sat in the rain, waited in vain for the varsity four-oar and big varsity eight-oar races. Finally, early in the evening, both the varsity and four-oar races were put over until tomorrow.

Yale won the freshmen race by half a second on a quarter of a boat's length. For the two miles of this race that the two shells zig-zagged neither crew ever had a lead of more than a length. It was one of the most remarkable boat races in the history of intercollegiate racing.

Yale showed up in better form at the start than Harvard, and for the first eighth of a mile had a trifle the better of it. Then Harvard settled down and reached the half-mile flag a third of a length in the lead. Harvard finished the mile in 5:09; Yale in 5:10.

Over the next mile the struggle was superb. Each crew raised the stroke one point. At the mile and a half flag the two boats were exactly even. Just as the last half-mile flag was passed, Yale began a spurt that won the race. She jumped her stroke up to 36 and began to pull ahead fitch by inch. Harvard did not make her effort until an eighth of a mile from the finish. Then her stroke went to 38, but it was too late. Yale was leading by the length of her canvas bow as the flags dipped at the finish.

It was several minutes before the crews knew who had won. Yale had won by just half a second. Time: Yale, 10:20; Harvard, 10:20½.
