DEPLORE HIS VIOLENT END

Russian Papers Pay High Tribute to the Late Minister of the Interior, von Plehve.

HIS LOSS IS IRREPARABLE

Dead Official Regarded as Statesman of Rare Ability and Russia Mourns His Tragic Fate.

St. Petersburg, July 29.—The newspapers this morning are filled with very long accounts of the assassination of Minister of the Interior Plehve, biographical sketches of the dead statesman and comments of his career.

The Nevoye Vremya says: "M. Plehve was a strong, intellectual man but most of all he had a thorough insight and knew well what particular features were wanting to make up a true balance of Russian national life."

The Russ declares that the dead minister's faithful name will live in connection with agricultural and peasant reforms and that it is an infinite pity he was taken off in the midst of his work, leaving his plans all unperfected.

The Novosti says: "M. Von Plehve was a great man with a passion for order, which was shown in his handling of every problem thrown in his way. His ability to deal with perplexing questions touching all classes of society which fell into his hands evidenced his wonderful strength and versatility. His death is a loss to our national life."

The Official Messenger says: "His death is an irreparable loss to all truly patriotic Russians. He was a faithful servant of the throne and of the fatherland. He was intellectual and of firm will, not sparing himself in health, strength or private interests where public duty was concerned. He did not accomplish all he set out to do, still his name must be handed down on the list of the great and true servants of his country."

Nothing has yet been discovered to throw any light on the antecedents of Leglo.

Twenty bystanders were injured by the explosion of the bomb but only seven of them were seriously hurt.

M. Plehve's funeral will probably be held tomorrow.

The newspapers print unusually full and free accounts of the crime, having been officially notified that no restriction will be placed on news or comment, save as they might interfere with the work of the police in unravelling the conspiracy back of the crime, which work is already well under way.

THEY WANTED TO KNOW.

Whaler Flies Signal of Distress to Learn the War News.

Incredible stories have been told from time to time of the queer methods which men have resorted to in order to gain information of an irrelevant nature. All have heard about the fellow who flagged the flying express train because he wanted to learn from the engineer the time of day.

But to fly signals of distress out in mid-ocean and get a steamer to come close enough so that the latest war news from the orient can be learned is supposed to be the limit. This is what happened to the steamship Nicomedia of the Portland-Asiatic line on her last outward trip to the far east. The story is told by the Japan Daily Herald as follows, the clipping just having been received at the Portland office of the company:

The anxiety to obtain news of the war is much greater in those who "go down to the sea in ships" than with the landlubber who leisurely pursues his daily budget in the newspapers, and all sorts of schemes are employed to obtain the "latest," but the cheekiest we have heard of was perpetrated on the Portland and Asiatic company's chartered steamer Nicomedia, fresh from the 900-mile tow of the Pleiades and the placing of a handsome salvage claim, was on the 26th inst., two days prior to entering Yokohama, attracted by signals of distress about 7:30 a. m. in position 38 degrees 1 minute north and 145 degrees 40 minutes east. Thinking she was in luck once more and with visions of another big salvage claim impelling her, the Nicomedia changed her course and headed to the rescue. She hove to and a boat from the whaler came alongside and quickly made known that her only distress was a lack of war news. "Could the Nicomedia oblige with a few newspapers?" The feelings and language of those on the Nicomedia can be better imagined than described.

THE CAREER OF A BANDIT.

Raisull, the bandit who kidnaped Mr. Perdicaris and his English stepson, is said to be a very worthy person, a good father, a faithful son, the husband of a minimum of Moslem wives, and a thrifty and enterprising genius, with a turn for commercialism, which has raised him above his former humble estate as a downtrodden peasant in the toils of Jewish moneylenders. He and his fellow villagers were falling ever deeper in debt to the Jews; the more they paid, the more they seemed to owe, and they felt the toils closing around them. Then Raisull had a brilliant idea; why not burn the Jewish village and destroy all evidence of indebtedness at one fell swoop. He tried it, and his consequent emancipation was the beginning of a new life for Raisull, who is said to be a second Namgay Doola, a red-headed, red-bearded savage of great muscular force and few scruples. He has prospered in the work of village-burning, and has an enthusiastic following, for whom he is what Napoleon was for the Old Guard. He is even very likely to rival Bu-Hamara, the pretender, who nearly shook the throne of Morocco a year ago. As Bu-Hamara's following has diminished, the adherents of Raisull have increased and multiplied, and he will certainly gain great prestige if the result of the present situation is that, under pressure of the powers, the sultan sends a special embassy to the brigand to ask for terms, carrying rich ransoms for the kidnaped American and his English relative.—Harper's Weekly.

Brutally Tortured.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but, when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 53 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Chas. Rogers' drug store.

The beer that made Milwaukee famous—Schlitz—is always on draught at The Grotto. Otto Mikkelsen, proprietor.

Two miles from the University of Michigan lives a farmer professor, the most eminent of Michigan's scientists, who has given up his scholar's chair to plant seeds and raise crops. Ask any of Michigan's 4000 students, "Who is Professor Joseph Beal Steere?" and he will not know. Ask the greatest European scientist the same question, and he will know, and will spend an hour describing professor Steere's exploits. Professor Steere holds a place as one of the world's master minds in zoology, and for this the scientists of Europe know him. But he has recently diverted the brain power of a lifetime's study away from science to a scheme of raising onions and celery, and for this exploit his own university, two miles away, has forgotten him.

Night Was Her Terror.

A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Golobick, of Colusa, Calif., writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." Just as good for liver and kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Chas. Robers, druggist.

"Neglected colds make fat graveyards," Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup helps men and women to a happy, vigorous old age.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivalled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 50c. in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
