TO HELP THE DEPARTMENT

Volunteer Hose Team to Be Organized by the Young Men of Astoria.

IDEA ADVANCED AT BANQUET

Committee Appointed to Arrange for Organization, and Will Call a Meeting of the Business Men.

At a banquet given last evening by the Astoria hose team the suggestion was offered that a volunteer team be organized permanently to work in conjunction with the Astoria paid fire department. The paid department is numerically inefficient, and the need of a volunteer team is recognized by Fire Chief Stockton and by business men of the city.

The suggestion came from Herman Wise, who was one of the invited guests at the banquet, and followed a statement affecting the failure to organize an East Astoria team. It will be recalled that the council built a hose house in the east end at the urgent solicitation of the fire chief, who had been assured a team would be organized there. The team was never organized, however. During the speech-making at the banquet last evening the circumstance was commented upon, and the suggestion was offered.

Mr. Wise moved the appointment of a committee, with authority to arrange for the organization of the volunteer team. The motion prevailed, and the following were appointed: Councilman Nordstrom, representing the city; Fire Chief Stockton, representing the department, and M. Knutsen, Dan B. Allen, Fred Brown and W. C. Curtis, representing the Astoria hose team. The committee will arrange for a meeting of business men, at which the matter of securing the necessary funds will be discussed. There will be some expense attached to the organization of the team, and the merchants will probably be asked to lend their assistance.

Chief Stockton confessed at the banquet that the paid department was not strong enough. There are but three firemen to each of the companies, and when a big blaze breaks out assistance must be rendered by bystanders. The chief wanted to see the volunteer team organized. He expressed the conviction the team could work in perfect harmony with the paid department and render excellent service. All of the gentlemen present who spoke on the subject entertained similar views, and members of the hose team are likewise enthusiastic.

The banquet was eminently successful in every way. The spread was laid at the Palace, and it was midnight before the members of the team and their guests dispersed. Members of the city council and Police Judge Anderson were present. Councilman Nordstrom addressed the hose team in a particularly happy vein, and his remarks evoked considerable enthusiasm. Those who attended the banquet were:

Police Judge Anderson, Councilman J. H. Hansen, Councilman John V. Burns, Councilman George Morton, Councilman John Nordstrom, Councilman C. A. Leinenweber, Fire Chief Stockton, W. J. Barry, Herman Wise, Frank Crang, W. C. Curtis, Charles Stellright, M. D. Knutsen, Will Johnson, O. F. FINE RESULTS AT HATCHERY

Fish Warden Pleased With Results Achieved at Salmon River Plant.

WILL HATCH TROUT THERE

Early Chinook Eggs to Number of 1,300,000 Have Been Taken So Far This Season.

Improvements that are being made at the Salmon river hatchery point to the fact that the state of Oregon will shortly have one of the most efficient stations in the state when the work is finished. The work that is being done at present is the constructing of a dam across the river a short distance above the hatchery that is made for the taking of trout, silverside and steelhead salmon. Fish Warden Van Dusen was a visitor at the hatchery on Monday and he expressed himself as highly pleased at the work that this station was doing as well as the other stations in the state. At present there are about 1,300,000 Chinook eggs in is selling for $1.05 and $1.07½, and if the eastern strike is to help the fish situation Alaska salmon ought to be commanding more money. A few of the up-river canneries are still running and are reported to be blocked with fish, which are bringing 4 cents.

THE "OLD SWIMMING HOLE."

Fortunate is the man whose boyhood was spent in the country. His memory is a never-failing storehouse upon which he can make generous draughts to soothe the careworn years of his manhood. Well he remembers the midsummer days, when, at stern, paternal command, he "wed" the garden, the hot sun burning his back, his thoughts upon the angle of the creek where the "swimming" hole" invited with its screen of willows and its stretch of cool sand. Again he sees the familiar hand through the backyard fence, with two fingers extended and slightly parted; again he dives for the place where the pailings are loose, and, risking a licking, sneaks through the alley to join the gang bound for the "hole."

Now, as then, the country boy has the advantage. He still finds his way to the old mill pond, or the pool down by the big clump of willows; but for the city boy much has been done to overcome the handicaps of his habitation. The municipal government, forgetful of its boyhood days, no longer permits indiscriminate swimming along the hatchery and some of them are already hatching. These, which are of the spring run, will be disposed of by November and the fall run of salmon will be taken and the eggs hatched. Trout will also be caught and their eggs taken and hatched and the young fry turned in the nearby streams. This will meet the approval of the fishermen who go to these streams for an outing and usually return empty-handed. During the spawning season a great many Indians from the Warm Spring reservation visit the hatchery for the dead salmon that have spawned, as the Indians consider them a great delicacy. They are smoked by the squaws and preserved for winter.

ARE THEY SILVERSIDES?

Opinion Differs as to Species of Fish Now in River.

There seems to be some difference of opinion as to the name that should be applied to the "silverside" salmon now in the river. By some fish experts they are pronounced to be genuine silversides, such as come into the river every year, while others insist that they are sockeyes. Then there are men who say the fish are bluebacks. A prominent packer was asked yesterday what he thought of the matter. "There is not the slightest doubt in my mind that the fish are silversides," said the packer. "You may call them sockeyes or bluebacks, but they are silversides. This species of fish has always come into the Columbia river, and they are the same now as in past years. They are silversides." The fish are about the size of the Alaska red salmon and are of fine quality. It is reported that a few cold storage men are freezing them for shipment east. The strike of the meat packers' employees has, according to statements made yesterday, created a greater demand for fish, and it is believed steelheads and silversides will be shipped in to supply the demand. A packer said yesterday that there was nothing particularly encouraging about the situation, basing his calculation upon the condition of the Alaska salmon market. Alaska fish, he said, the banks of the river; but generous men, who are mindful that they, too, were once boys, have contributed to the erection of free swimming tanks, where the amphibious boy may find every opportunity to follow out his in-born tendencies.—From the September Pacific Monthly.

League is a much delayed step in the right direction. The purpose of the league, as indicated in the name, is the development of the state through publicity and co-operation. The California Promotion Committee has found it advisable to do the same work for California that will be done by the newly organized league for Oregon, and the Seattle Chamber of Commerce takes the lead in such work for the state of Washington. In Victoria and Vancouver, B. C., the Tourist Associations are very active in bringing the advantages of British Columbia before the world. The purposes of these organizations are practically identical, and in a sense they present a peculiar anomaly. Why, it may be asked, is it necessary to induce immigration if the Pacific coast is all that these organizations claim it to be? If we have the finest climate in the world, the most fertile land, majestic scenery, and all that makes life pleasant and desirable, why do not people find it out and come west without any urging? The answer, of course, is that they do find out and are coming, but not fast enough to suit the western idea of things. So we organize. The benefit of such organizations is not confined, however, simply to those who take advantage of their
