FRATERNAL SENTIMENT.

Naval Constructor Says We Are One With Mother Country.

New York, Sept. 17.—Sir William H. White, the English naval constructor, has been the principal speaker at a dinner given here to members of the institution of civil engineers by the American Society of Civil Engineers. Men were present from all parts of the world. Sir William said in the course of his remarks:

"We have a common part in engineering as well as in other things. You are making bridges across our rivers and channels. We are throwing out forms of union and the bridge is closing and we may say it is closed. We are one people with a past, with a common faith, a common hope, common principles and may we not say, in all essentials a common future.

To promote the peace of the world, the happiness of mankind, to nourish commerce and make the whole world better—these should be our sole aims. Can anything be nobler than the efforts to make the whole world one? That is the aim of the civil engineers."

Will Open Home in Berlin.

New York, Sept. 17.—Under the auspices of the B'Hal B'Rith an institution for Jews in Berlin will soon be opened, says a Times cablegram from that city.

It will be similar to the famous Tynbee hall in the east end of London.

It put him on his feet in short order and now he testifies: "I'm on the road to complete recovery." Best on earth for liver and kidney troubles and all forms of stomach and bowel complaints.
