

ANARCHISTS AGAIN BUSY

Try to Burn Down Government Buildings at Milan, France, but Attempt Fails.

GREAT PALACE SET ON FIRE

Structure Contains Archives of State and Its Destruction Would Have Caused Incalculable Loss.

New York, Nov. 2.—An attempt made by anarchists to set fire to the palace of justice early Monday, was discovered in time to prevent serious damage, says a Herald dispatch from Milan, Italy.

But this has been followed by a similar attempt directed against the great palace in which the archives of state are preserved.

In the court yard may be seen the uncompleted equestrian statue of Napoleon, a monument never finished owing to the opposition of the extreme political parties. The building itself contains a thousand documents of incalculable value. The fire was discovered a little past midnight by the proprietor of an adjacent cafe.

When the police and firemen arrived they discovered that, as in the attempt of the day before, the large door of the palace had been saturated with turpentine, a small pile of sawdust placed against it and the whole ignited.

Owing to the prompt action of the men who discovered the fire the damage was slight. Two onlookers who audibly approved the action of the incendiaries, were arrested.

OYSTERING ON PACIFIC COAST.

One of the Coast's Earliest Industries.

It is a boast of the people of the Pacific coast states that, somewhere in their specially favored section of God's green earth, they can raise anything that is produced anywhere else in the world. There may be exceptions, but the oyster is not one of them. If the average inhabitant of the east or middle west were to be approached with the query, do oysters grow in the Pacific ocean? the answer would probably be, no. Indeed, very few of the Californians, Oregonians, and Washingtonians themselves realize to what an extent the oyster-raising industry is being carried on.

Among the leading points where the oyster is being grown, the bays about San Francisco, Yaquina and Netarts in Oregon, Shoalwater and Olympia in Washington must be noted.

Probably the earliest oystering on this coast was done at San Francisco away back before the days of the forty-niners. In 1851 six men from San Francisco chartered the schooner Robert Bruce and set sail for Shoalwater bay, Wash., some twenty miles above the mouth of the mighty Columbia. They were convinced from Indian reports and otherwise that oysters were abundant there, and this they found to be true. Coming to anchor on the north shore of the bay, at a point later called Bruceport, they began to lay plans to "tong" a shipload of the bay's best, but the ship's cook fell out with the company and in an evil hour set the schooner afire that he might work his spite upon Captain Ledlow and his crew. Among the men that came on the Bruce, John S. Morgan has been most successful. For years he lived in the old village of Oysterville, across the beautiful bay where he saw his first venture go up in smoke. San Francisco now numbers him among her many millionaires.—Pacific Monthly for November.

The Duke of Orleans has asked the Swedish government to send him to the North Pole. If the duke is in earnest, there is little question that France would be glad to furnish him transportation one way.

The German Chamber of Commerce in Brussels, which has been in existence for some years, is about to dissolve, as the German government has declined to pay a subvention to support it.

WHEN YOU CATCH COLD

Do not take chances on it wearing away or experiment with some unknown preparation which may leave the bronchial tubes and lungs weakened and susceptible to attack from the germs of Pneumonia or Consumption.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

not only stops the cough but heals and strengthens the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold. Contains no opiates.

It Saved His Life After the Doctor Said He Had Consumption.

W. R. Davis, Visalia, California, writes: "There is no doubt but what Foley's Honey and Tar saved my life. I had an awful cough on my lungs and the doctor told me I had consumption. I commenced taking Foley's Honey and Tar and found relief from the first and three bottles cured me completely."

A Policeman's Testimony.

J. N. Patterson, night policeman, of Nashua, Iowa, writes: "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least a half-dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two-thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world."

Three sizes—25c, 50c and $1.00. The 50-cent size contains two and one-half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottle almost six times as much. Refuse Substitutes.
