

NEXT BIG FOOTBALL GAME TAKES PLACE ON SATURDAY

Commercial Will Meet Multnomah at Portland in Match That Will Be Full of Excitement.

The interest of lovers of amateur sport is now centered in the coming Multnomah-Commercial game. The game takes place next Saturday on Multnomah field. Some time after the date was agreed upon Commercial made an effort to have it changed to Christmas day, and for a while it seemed that the Multnomah management would agree to this. However, it has been decided by Multnomah that the original date must be stuck to, although, should Commercial win, a Christmas day game would not be out of the range of probability.

The Commercial team may be somewhat weakened at Portland next Saturday, but nevertheless will undertake to defeat the Portlanders. That first 5-9 game has stuck in Commercial's craw like a golden nugget in the craw of a southern Oregon chicken, and if it is possible for the Astorians to wipe out the defeat they will do so.

It has been definitely determined that Al Minard will play left guard for Commercial. Minard happened into town for the Albany college game and showed up in great form with his old-time football friends. Barker, who played halfback last season, will be in the lineup next Saturday. Tommie Ross, who has made a reputation for himself as Multnomah's left guard, will play with the Portland clubmen against Astoria. This will be Tommie's first appearance in opposition to Astoria. He will face Charles Gammal, Commercial's wonderful right guard, and the struggle between those giants will be a rare one. Ross is a very large man, while Gammal can hardly be termed a pigmy, as he tips the beam at something like 225. Tommie has cultivated the faculty of showing opposing guards all over the grid, but he will have his hands full when he mixes things with the captain of police of this city.

Chick Jones will play left end, Regan having concluded to cut out football since the accident in the Albany game. The Commercial is worrying about Blair, who is a member of the office force at the Hume mill. The date set, December 3, makes it well-nigh impossible for the Commercial tackle to get away, and if Blair should not be in the front line Commercial will be materially weakened. Jack Bay will officiate at center. In this position there is no more efficient man in the northwest, and many enthusiasts declare that Bay is the best center on the coast. Grieves, Multnomah's center, could, if he wished, furnish some pretty convincing evidence on this score. In the recent Multnomah-Commercial game Bay overturned the big Portland center time and again and got behind the line to tackle the man with the ball. Ted Sutton will be at the right tackle position, while Roxy Graham will be at right end. Abercrombie will play fullback and Painter will be at half. Graham and one of the halves will be switched around, as offense and defense may require.

All of the Multnomah men appreciate that they were lucky to have scored the single touchdown in the first game and also that they must put up a better quality of ball in order to defeat Captain Stockton's squad. "Chop" will fill the quarterback position and doubtless will shine brilliantly, as is his wont. He realizes that his team will not be as strong next Saturday as he would like to have it, but declares that he will win if energy and good judgment can be relied upon for yardage. The game ought to attract an immense crowd, for it will be by far the best played this season at Portland. Multnomah was able to secure only seven points against Oregon, but the small score was due to constant fumbling on the part of the clubmen. In the first half Lonergan fumbled repeatedly and usually at critical times. Lonergan is the Columbia coach and was regarded as a most valuable acquisition to the M. A. A. C. squad. His fumbling was doubtless due to a streak of hard luck, and Multnomah had some trouble defeating Oregon in consequence. No such condition is expected to intervene in Commercial's favor, and those who see the game will unquestionably witness one of the most desperate struggles in the history of coast football.

JAMES KEANE TO RETURN.

Will Begin Week's Engagement in Astoria Beginning December 5.

On December 5, at Fishers' opera house, James Keane, the sterling young actor, who played an engagement here last summer, will return for a week's stay. During Mr. Keane's last appearance here he created a most favorable impression by the high standard of his productions, and the announcement of the return of the young star will be received with great pleasure by his many friends and admirers.

An entire new line of plays will be offered and the list includes a number of the most popular comedy and dramatic successes of the east. The opening bill will be the funny farce comedy, "What Happened to Jones." This will be followed by "A Night Out," "Charley's Aunt," "Quo Vadis," "The Hindoo Barber" and other popular successes. The success of Mr. Keane in the northwest has been somewhat phenomenal and in Portland, Seattle, Tacoma and all of the principal cities the press and public have been lavish in praise of his organization.

The plays to be presented here will all be staged in the same complete and thorough manner that has characterized all of Mr. Keane's productions and a rare treat in popular priced theatricals will be enjoyed. Seat sale opens next Saturday at Griffin's book store.

Railroads Win Their Case.

San Francisco, Nov. 28.—The famous sugar rate case of the interstate commerce commission vs the Southern Pacific company and the Union Pacific railroad, its successor, was settled today. The United States circuit judge held that the commission was not vested with the legislative power to establish rates, and had not shown the rate between San Francisco and Kearney, Neb., to be unreasonable. The suit was to restrain the defendants from collecting certain freight charges on sugar in violation of the interstate commerce act.

TAGGART GOES TO BRYAN.

National Chairman Believes Nebraskan Is Party Leader.

New York, Nov. 28.—The Sun's Indianapolis correspondent says: National Chairman Taggart has become convinced that the recent campaign was conducted along mistaken lines, and has given his adherence to arguments of western members of the national committee. He will now take an active part in Bryan's reorganization scheme.

Tacoma, Nov. 28.—Wheat, bluestem, 88c.

Burnside Badly Damaged.

Seattle, Nov. 28.—The cableship Burnside, which struck a rock at Seymour narrows, is in the dock at Quartermaster harbor, Tacoma. It was found that the vessel has a hole 20 feet long and eight wide, and that she lost 50 feet of her keel. It will require a month to repair her.

Fishing Vessels Fined.

Eastport, Me., Nov. 28.—Ten American fishing craft, eight sailing and two steam, were seized by the Canadian fisheries protective cruiser Curlew and fined for illegal fishing in Canadian waters. It is understood the fines will be paid and that the matter will not involve an international question.

Today's Weather.

Portland, Nov. 28.—Western Oregon and western Washington, Tuesday, showers.
Eastern Oregon and eastern Washington, fair; slightly warmer.

WANTS HUNDRED THOUSAND FROM JOHN B. YEON, LOGGER.

Cathlamet Man Is Sued by Urgel Omet for Alleged Alienation of His Wife's Affection.

John B. Yeon, a wealthy lumberman of Cathlamet, has been sued in the state circuit court for $100,000 for alienating the affections of Della Omet from her husband, Urgel, who brings the suit.

The defendant is charged with deliberately and maliciously working for over five years to induce Della to leave her home. It is alleged that he used his great wealth to dazzle the eyes of the woman; that he purchased her many beautiful presents of necklaces and dresses, and that he prevailed upon her to elope by assurances that her husband was unfaithful.

From 1894 to 1904 the husband was employed by the defendant in a logging camp, and he alleges that Yeon kept him at work that he might make love to the woman. In July, 1904, the husband says he discovered the designs of the lumber man, and quit his employ, but that immediately the wife left her home and has since refused to return.

The couple were married in 1886, and have four children. They formerly lived in Carson City, Nev., but moved to Cathlamet in 1892.

The complaint filed yesterday alleges that Yeon immediately began paying attentions to Mrs. Omet, and through the agency of presents, gifts of money, endearing love terms, and malicious misrepresentations regarding Omet's false nature, induced the woman to leave her home and four children to live with him.
