WOMAN PAYS FINE

Dreary Jail Prospect Daunted Saloon "Smasher."

CLAIMS HOME WAS WRECKED

Attacked a Saloon and Smashed it in True "Carrie Nation" Style and Was Fined $30—Then Gets Warrant for Keeper.

Hillsboro, Jan. 27.—Prospects of incarceration in the dreary Hillsboro jail frightened Mrs. Belle Bales when she was fined $30 for smashing Rossi & Henriksen's saloon at Beaverton last Thursday, and although the Washington county Carrie Nation had declared she would positively serve out her fine in prison she produced the cash this morning and is free.

Five minutes later she swore out warrants for Rossi, one of the saloon proprietors, and for Louis Tulloch, whom she accuses of purchasing liquor and giving it to her minor son. Mrs. Bales did not attempt to deny smashing the saloon fixtures and readily pleaded guilty.

When she was found guilty at examination before Justice H. T. Bagley yesterday sentence was deferred until this morning. Mrs. Bales inspected the jail she expected to occupy. When asked why she would rather go to jail than pay a fine she replied that all she was doing was for the sake of her son, and she felt that in going to jail such an impression would be made on their minds that much good would result.

"Which is worse," she asked, "for me to do as I have done or for those saloon men to sell their liquor to my boy with impunity and wreck the home of a poor widow woman?"

Mrs. Bales entered the saloon at Beaverton and demanded her son whom she claims was hidden away there. According to her statements she was not received cordially nor accorded the respect due her, and she proceeded to "get busy," as she termed it. She demolished liquor bottles, glassware and windows of the approximate value of $75, and then handed her card to the proprietor, giving her name and address, with the remark that she could be found there any time she was wanted.

MURDER EXPENSIVE.

Socialist Editor Says VonPlehe's Life Cost Too Much.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—"Such assassinations as that of Von Plehe cost money and the Russian patriots lack the funds to carry on this work," said Bronislav Slavinsky, editor of the Polish Rabotnik, a socialist paper, at a banquet for Mme. Breshkovski, the Russian exile, at the Lessing Clubhouse last night.

"Mme. Breshkovski has been a champion of the Russian masses for more than 30 years, many of which she spent in prison," Mr. Slavinsky continued, "and she expects to see reform accomplished or to fall in the struggle. The present revolution had its origin in a peaceful movement which the government of Russia would not permit to continue. There is an old Russian legend which says that 'from the bones of those who perish an avenger will arise.' But we lack funds to carry on the work and appeal to ah liberty-loving persons to contribute as liberally as they can."

After Mr. Slavinsky's address a petition was circulated and a considerable sum of money raised for Mme. Breshkovski, who also made an address, saying she was about to return to Russia, where her presence was needed. She said that when she started for this country she thought revolution and political reform to be far in the future. "Now I think reform will come soon," she added.

Damage Suits Brought for Breach of Contract.

EMPLOYERS IGNORE DEMAND

Custom Cutters Will Try to Collect $56,350 as Amount Due for Wages Lost on Account of Their Recent Walkout.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—A new strike weapon has been brought into play by the Custom Cutters Local Union No. 1, which has made demands on 12 wholesale tailoring establishments for wages lost during the walkout which has been in progress against the firms since November 19. The claims were on the ground that the employers broke contracts with their men. Damage suits were threatened unless the salaries are paid before January 30.

Formal notices were sent out by the union notifying the firms that full pay from November 19 to January 7, must be given each old employe. Attorneys were retained, it was announced, to institute legal proceedings in case the employers refused to settle.

In the custom cutters union are 700 members, 350 of whom were employed by the 12 firms up to the time the strike was declared. Their claims based on an average weekly salary of $23, would amount to $56,350.

Members of several of the firm upon whom the strikers served notices said they would ignore the demands.

ice upon the respondent when one of the parties resides in an outside state and the grounds for the divorce occurred in another state. However, the judge ordered that the decree should explain that it is purely a "Pennsylvania divorce," not binding in states where the laws conflict therewith.

Because of a story that the new law was passed to enable a prominent Philadelphia woman to secure a separation from her English husband the court said it might be asserted that the act was special legislation. This however, could not be proved.
