HOCH COMES "HOME"

Five Mrs. Hochs Waited at Police Station.

ONE CALLED HIM "OLD HOG"

Mrs. Hoppe Was Undecided as to His Identity, But Hoch Threatened to Marry Her Too if She Were Not Removed.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—Johann Hoch, indicted for bigamy, suspected of murder, and a man of many aliases, arrived in Chicago tonight and for several hours after reaching here, was interrogated by the police with little result.

When the train bearing Hoch and Officer Loftus, who had him in custody, arrived a large crowd gathered, but none of the wives were among the number. Hoch evidently expected a number of wives to meet him at the station and was plainly disappointed that they did not come.

"Where are these 14 wives you talk about so much?" he asked Loftus. "I guess you have been joking me about part of this business; otherwise there could not be 14 for I never had that many. It seems a lot of women think I am the only man in the world who could marry them and get away with some of their money."

When Hoch and Loftus alighted from the train six policemen who were sent to the station to meet them were able to control the crowd only with difficulty. A number of people jeered and hooted at him. The police hurried Hoch through the station and into the patrol wagon and he was driven to the East Chicago avenue police station.

Interrogation of Hoch commenced a few minutes after 7:30 o'clock and was still in operation at midnight. Hoch, at the outset admitted having married Mrs. Marie Goerk Hoch, and that the marriage was illegal, but he would admit nothing else.

During the evening five women, who claimed to be wives of Hoch, called at the police station. Mrs. Emilie Fischer Hoch, saw the prisoner for a minute and saluted him with the exclamation: "You old hog; you got my $750, didn't you?" Later five women were, one at a time, admitted into the office of the inspector and all of them identified Hoch as the man whom they married. Mrs. Ellen Hoppe was somewhat in doubt, and Inspector Snippy asked: "Hoch, did you marry this woman?"

"No," replied Hoch, "but maybe I will if you don't hustle her out of here pretty quick."

The physician who attended Mrs. Walcker Hoch, the last wife of Hoch, identified him as the husband of Mrs. Walcker and showed him a bill for $100 for attendance on the woman.

"Oh, yes," said Hoch, "I remember something about that. Bring it around in the morning. I shall still be here," and he laughed heartily at his joke.

Lawyer Pleads a New Medical Discovery.

NOW IN SHADOW OF CHAIR

If Medical Society Does Not Come to the Lawyer's Rescue as a Result of His Discovery He Will Be Executed.

New York, Feb. 9.—Lawyer Albert T. Patrick, under sentence of death in Sing Sing for the murder of Millionaire William M. Rice, who succeeded in placing before the Medical League Society of this city for its investigation a question of which he believes rests the whole fabric of appeal for a new trial, has been informed through his counsel of the society's agreement to pass on the question.

The society disclaimed any interest in the matter outside of strictly medical questions involved and has appointed a committee to act on an investigation. A report is expected February 15.

Patrick's new defense proposes to attack the evidence on which he was convicted, the prosecution proving that Rice died of congestion of the lungs, induced by chloroform poisoning. By exhaustive medical research Patrick claims to have discovered that embalming, under certain conditions will cause congestion of the lungs. He argues that the evidence based upon the congestion of Rice's lungs, is, therefore, worthless and submits 11 questions, 10 of them on the above point.

The last question reads: "State whether from all the evidence the death of Rice resulted, in your opinion, from the administration or inhalation of chloroform and the reason and basis of your conclusion."

WANT SPECIAL JURY.

To Try Case Involving Over a Million Dollars.

New York, Feb. 9.—A motion has been made before Judge Bischoff of the supreme court, that a special jury be impaneled to try the suit instituted by the Industrial and General Trust, limited, of London, against J. Kenedy Tod and other financiers, in which more than $1,000,000 is involved. This is the first time that a request for a special jury in a civil case has been made to the supreme court for many years.

The suit was brought eight years ago to recover damages for the alleged unauthorized sale of bonds of the Birmingham, Sheffield & Tennessee Railroad Company, owned by the trust. The first trial resulted in a verdict of $355,000 for the trust.

The application for the special jury was made in behalf of Banker Tod and his associates on the ground that an ordinary jury would not be able to understand the case of properly fixing the damages.

The decision was reversed.

ESCHEW POLITICS.

Instructions of Attorney General to Federal Employees.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Attorney General Moody has addressed the following communication to all district attorneys, marshals and others employed in or under the department of justice:

"It has come to my attention that in the past, as well as at the present time, district attorneys and marshals and their subordinates have been employed in their respective states as attorneys or otherwise in promoting or organizing the enactment of laws by the state legislatures. The work of legislative counsel, where no improper methods are used, is recognized as a professional duty which may properly be performed by counsel. But, it is believed that such work ought not to be undertaken by those who hold federal offices. Therefore, district attorneys, assistant district attorneys, clerks to the district attorneys, United States marshals and the deputies of United States marshals and all others in or under their department, are instructed to refrain from engaging in such work. These instructions do not forbid the appearance of such officers before legislative committees as witnesses or the expression, without compensation, of their views as citizens."

WILL DIG UP JONES

Remains of Famous Fighter May Lie in Paris.

THE PRESIDENT INTERESTED

Congress May Be Asked to Approve $35,000 for the Expense of Locating and Disintering Hero of Bonhomme Richard.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Ambassador Porter has some reason to believe that he has at last discovered the remains of John Paul Jones. About four years ago he secured a clue which indicated that the remains of John Paul Jones, who died in Paris, had been interred in a small urban cemetery, but a search for this cemetery disclosed the fact that it had been abandoned early in the last century and that its site was covered with buildings, leaving little hope that any remains of corpses interred there could be found. These facts were represented to the state department at that time and there the matter has rested until recently.

Not long ago, however, Mr. Porter came into possession of some additional information which warranted at least the hope that the sailor's skeleton was not removed when the buildings were erected and that it now reposes beneath the foundations or within the cellar of some of the dilapidated flats which stand on the ground once occupied by the cemetery. The information does not indicate under which particular building John Paul Jones remains are entombed. If these clues are to be followed, therefore, it will be necessary to raise anywhere from four to a dozen buildings. It has been suggested that if the remains were found it would be almost impossible to identify them after the lapse of time since the death of John Paul Jones. Mr. Porter, however, thinks otherwise, pointing out that the American sailor was buried in a lead coffin, a very unusual means of interment at that time, and one likely to preserve the body in fair condition for an indefinite period. It is true that Jones, by bequeathing to friends and immediate attendants upon his death his sword, his medals, and jewelry, which otherwise have been found in his cor-fin, has added to the difficulty of identification. But Mr. Porter feels that the hermetically sealed coffin, if found, will still contain sufficient evidence of the identity of its inhabitant.

The ambassador has suggested to the president that to defray the cost of searching for the remains congress be asked to appropriate a fund of $35,000 and the president, it is believed, will approve this recommendation.
