SPARTAN VIRTUE.

It Is a Fine Thing If It Is Not Ad-

A Spartan virtue seems to have the inherent quality of making its possessor a 44 caliber bore of the worst sort. Take the man whose supreme if not only virtue lies in the fact that he takes a cold water bath every morning the whole year round. You meet him in the car, in the street, in the course of business anywhere, and no matter what the topic may be at the start the conversation is bound to include an account-quite incidental, of course-of how on the frostlest of mornings he frolics in the ice cold water just as it comes from the hydrant.

Then there's the man who walks down to his office every morning, rain er enow, in sunshine and in storm. The more distant his home from his office the more he will talk about it, and he will tell you that he has become so accustomed to it that the only time he can get an extra thrill out of it is when the streets are deep with snow and the wind is blowing a burricane.

Heaven may forgive the man who rises at 5 summer and winter, spring and fall. We never can. The early riser is not a criminal simply because the law does not designate his offense as a crime. But it is admitted can approach the look of superiority on the face of the early riser. He has wealth. The books he has read before breakfast would if collected in a heap make the Congressional library look small.

There are some who would place in the first rank of this group that rugged, hardy, vigorous, full blooded gentleman who can't breathe in a room unless all the windows and doors are open. The lower the pressure of steam in the radiator, the lower the mercury in its tube and the wilder the play of the winds over the roofs and around the corners the more insistent is he that you are imperiling your very life by not occupying an office wide open to every wind that blows.

Oh, Spartan virtue is a fine thing, but it would be simply sublime if its modern exponents and inculcators would just keep still about it.-Washington

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide .

Frederick Manuell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of New-bro's Herpicide, April 6, '99, and began to se it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 30 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery-destroy the cause and you re-move the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send for in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
