The run of salmon in the river shows no material improvement, although many fishermen make an average catch. Most of the larger salmon have been delivered to the cold storage plants and their output is larger than last year. Nearly all of the canneries have put up an average pack. The quality has been superior to any caught for several years.

At a meeting of Astor lodge, Knights of Pythias, a company of the uniform rank was organized with the following officers: W. A. Sherman, sir knight commander; Charles H. Abercrombie, first lieutenant; Dr. Paul Trullinger, second lieutenant. Drills will be held every week and it is expected that the company will participate in the next prize drill of the encampment.

Owing to the publicity given by The Astorian that the chief of police intended to proceed and collect delinquent street assessments, Auditor Anderson is in daily receipt of letters from non-resident property owners inquiring about their assessments. It is probable that many of them will be settled before the warrant is placed in the hands of the chief of police.

This evening the much-talked-of grand concert will be given at Fishers' opera house and the program, which was published in this paper yesterday morning is one of exceptional merit. It is also a high and artistic one and Fishers' will no doubt hold one of the most cultured audiences ever in its history. The artists are all well up in their musical numbers and an evening of thorough enjoyment will without doubt result. Seats now selling at Griffin's.

It is said that there are two veterans living in Astoria belonging to Cushing post, G. A. R. who can boast of having the honor of being the only two out of perhaps 50,000 in the United States, that can truthfully say that they have visited George Washington's tomb at Mt. Vernon, and also of having sit in the family pew of the little old church in Alexandria on the Potomac in 1853. They are Wm. Lee, of the 22d New York and D. B. Allen of the 7th Missouri volunteers.

Five thousand gallons of crude oil was pumped into the new oil tank yesterday recently erected by the Standard Oil Company at the foot of Fifth street. The common council having consented to the erection of the oil tanks they will no doubt be permitted to exist. There is a possibility that a fire in this location will have a tendency to change the opinions of many citizens as to the advisability of locating fire traps within the city limits, something that is not allowed in any other city in the world.

PETITION DISMISSED.

Cathlamet Will Continue to Be a Suburb of Skamokawa.

Some time ago a petition was presented to the county court of Wahkiakum county, signed by about 100 of the voters of Cathlamet, asking that the town be incorporated under the laws of the state of Washington. The county court refused to grant the petition and the matter was taken to the courts. Attorneys Fuqua and J. Bruce Polworth appeared for the petitioners and J. C. McFadden appeared for the county commissioners. Judge Rice decided that the petition was insufficient in that it did not contain the proper number of signatures, the law requiring at least 300 voters to sign a petition for incorporation.

POLITICAL FARCE.

Men Who Assaulted Officer Wilson Arrested and Fined.

The largest audience that has assembled in the police court for many a day was present at the trial of the five Greeks who attacked Police Officer Wilson. A. M. Smith, city attorney, appeared for the prosecution. The evidence, such as was produced, was to the effect that Officer Wilson was attacked by the Sacramento river fishermen who arrived on the last steamer. In the fight Officer Wilson was unable to recognize all of the defendants, and aside from his testimony, very little evidence was offered, although it could have been found.

George Kacevarah was the first arraigned and he pleaded guilty. Judge Anderson delivered a deserving lecture and imposed a fine of $40. Nick George came next, and it was proven that he was the ringleader and was responsible for the trouble. He was fined $60. Then an effort was made to convict Antonio George and Nicholas Krisgen of Sacramento, but the city attorney announced that there was not sufficient evidence to convict, and did not produce the evidence that could have been secured and all Judge Anderson could possibly do was to discharge the defendants.

Joseph Pasqualla was the next victim and he pleaded guilty, but as Joe had lived in Astoria for over 25 years and had always assisted the officers and was really not to blame, Judge Anderson imposed a fine of $20 but remitted the fine during good behavior. That the affair was an outrage admits of no doubt, even the friends of the accused men expressed an opinion that all should have been fined. It is impossible to protect the police officers in the discharge of their duty when politics enters into the case. No judge can impose a fine when there is a lack of evidence and Judge Anderson did all that he could do under the circumstances.

LOG CABIN FLOUR

FLOUR PROGRESS

THE wheat export shipping business for the winter of 1904 and 1905 has decreased two-thirds for two reasons. Short crop in the Dakotas and the high quality of the Blue Stem wheat grown in Idaho, Eastern Oregon and Washington, which is recognized by the millers in Minneapolis, who are willing to pay a high freight rate on Blue Stem wheat to make their best flour.

The land in the above states is of volcanic origin U. S. Senator John H. Mitchell, of Oregon, had some of this earth analyzed at the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, and their report was that it was land like the wheat lands of Sicily, where the best of wheat has been raised continuously since the time of Christ.

Knowing this we have made arrangements with an up-to-date mill, situated right in this favored wheat belt to manufacture our Log Cabin Brand and we can say there is no better flour made in the world.

When you buy flour get the best for economy and health. The Log Cabin is the kind.

Our motto is: "If it does not give satisfaction money returned."
