Last Sunday the Seaside defeated the West Astoria nine in a game of ball by a score of 11 to 6.

Very few people were in from the country, as most of the surrounding towns observed Memorial day.

Flavoring extracts, none better, made here by the Owl Drug Co., and for sale by first class grocers.

A large number of field parties went out in the country yesterday, taking advantage of the legal holiday.

Andrew Birch has completed building the Cullaby lake bridge and Roadmaster Fry will go over this week to examine and accept the same.

The West Astoria and High school nines played a game of ball yesterday at the recreation grounds in which the High school boys were defeated by a score of 12 to 2.

An interesting game of ball was played yesterday afternoon between the clothing and grocery clerks, resulting in a victory for the grocery men by a score of 10 to 5.

A man by the name of Michael Conley, who had become too much infused with holiday observances, went down on the new O. R. & N. Co. dock yesterday to see a new boat that had just come in. He was fished out of the river, the cool water of the Columbia completely restoring his mental equilibrium.

U. S. Mail Carrier Pat Shen has a horse and mail cart. While out yesterday morning gathering up the mail, a dog got into the yard of a citizen who resides in the west end and the aforesaid citizen took a shot at it. The horse, being of Russian breed, started to run at the first shot, and when last seen was going over the hills in the vicinity of Greenwood cemetery.

Very few fishermen observed Memorial day yesterday and the usual fleet of boats was on the river. There has been no apparent increase in the run of salmon this week, some making good catches while others get only a few. There is a large school of salmon at the mouth of the river which will probably come in within a few days. The up river seiners are doing fairly well, while the traps are not making any very large hauls.

The steam launch El Pimero, used as a pleasure boat by the owner, E. W. Hopkins of San Francisco, arrived yesterday from that city and was taken to Portland in the afternoon by Pilot Empkins. Mr. Hopkins and his family went to Portland overland as they did not desire to take the chances of an ocean voyage. The yacht is a trim looking craft and will be used as a pleasure boat by the owner during his stay in Portland during the Lewis and Clark fair.

An amusing incident was related yesterday by a once prominent member of the Oregon National Guards, at the time when there was a company of that organization in Astoria. The guards acted as an escort to the G. A. R. when they went to Hillside cemetery to decorate the graves of their comrades. They also fired the salute over the graves. At the time there were a number of Indians over from Washington to witness the ceremonies. There was an old fence at the east side of the cemetery and the Indians sat on this fence. When the orders were given to fire the salute, the guns were all pointed at the Indians and when the order was given "Fire," they did not wait to climb off the fence, but everyone fell over backwards, thinking their time had come.

At the meeting of the common council next Monday night, an effort will be made to pass the necessary ordinance for the improvement of Exchange street and Irving avenue. Mayor Surprenant stated yesterday that the improvements of these streets was an absolute necessity and he believed they could be made without cutting in on the funds of the city. The proposition is to have the ordinance passed for the improvement of Exchange street and collect in the assessments while the improvement is being made. Irving avenue will not be completed until this winter and the expenses can go in on next year's expenses. There is no doubt but that the assessment against Mr. Hammond's property, which is nearly two-thirds of the cost of the improvement, will be paid at any time. Both improvements should be made as soon as possible.

ANNA SEABORG DROWNED.

Sad Drowning Accident Yesterday and Two Lost Their Lives.

Yesterday afternoon while Mrs. Anna Seaborg and family, residing at 277 Bond street, and a party of friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Oleson were returning from Greenwood cemetery in a fishing boat, and just after the boat had passed through the railroad draw bridge, Anna Seaborg, daughter of Mrs. Seaborg, got up to go from the bow of the boat to the stern, when she slipped and fell overboard. Bob Broom, who was in the boat, jumped overboard to rescue her. While both were in the river Mr. Oleson also jumped overboard, but was unable to rescue either, as both sank. Mr. Oleson was rescued after some difficulty. Miss Anna Seaborg was a young lady 22 years of age and had resided in Astoria many years, where she had many friends. The mother, brothers and sisters are heart broken over the terrible accident. No efforts have been made to drag for the bodies, but probably will be today.

KILLED IN LOGGING CAMP.

Frank Clapshaw Struck by a Limb From Falling Tree.

Yesterday afternoon while felling timber in Bell's logging camp on Deep river, Frank Clapshaw was struck by a limb from a falling tree, which struck him in the forehead, killing him instantly. M. Gorman, who had been at the camp a half hour before came over and notified Undertaker Pohl and he went over last evening after the body. Mr. Clapshaw was formerly in business at Deep River, but a resident of Forest Grove. His body will be shipped there this morning for interment. He leaves a wife and one child.

MEMORIAL EXERCISE

Closing Ceremonies of the Day at the Opera House.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERING

Grand Army of the Republic Meets With a Rousing Reception and Deeds of Valor Commemorated by Appropriate Songs and Addresses.

Fishers' opera house was crowded last evening at the closing exercises of Memorial day. Comrade A. D. Crais presided. The evening's exercises were opened by an invocation by Rev. Luther D. Mahone.

Song and recitation, "In Memoriam," by a number of little girls from McClure's school was well rendered. A recitation by Miss Kathryn Shively, "And Old Soldier's Overcoat," was an appropriate rendition.

The Sunset male quartet sang "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," and received meritorious applause.

"Dream of Paradise," a vocal solo by Miss Lena Fasteband, was followed by a song "My Father Was a Sailor," by pupils of room 2, Alderbrook school.

"God-Bye Old Glory," by the Sunset male quartet was so enthusiastically received that they responded to an encore.

"The Flag," chorus by the girls from room 5, Shively school, was followed by "Lincoln's address at Gettysburg," by Master Porter of the Olney school.

Hon. F. J. Taylor was introduced and delivered an able and patriotic address, paying a glowing tribute to American statesmen and giving a brief history of the causes that led up to the war of the rebellion.

"Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," by the Sunset Male quartet was followed by a recitation by Albert Grossman of the McClure school, entitled, "Foes Until Death."

"A Soldier's Prayer," recitation and song by the pupils of the Adair school, was well rendered.

"The Song We Sang Upon the Old Camp Ground," by the male quartet, was followed by a recitation by Master Warren Morse, and was so well rendered that he responded to an encore.

"Lovely Night," by the male quartet was rendered, after which the audience arose and all joined in singing "America."

The meeting was a success and the boys and girls of Astoria, public schools are deserving of special mention for the beautiful songs and appropriate recitations that cheered the old boys in blue who occupied seats upon the stage and appreciated every number.

In this connection attention has been called to a probable oversight in the city during the day, in that only three flags were displayed from the buildings of Astoria, one over Logans hall by the Eagles, one over My House, Martin Franciscovich, and one over the office of P. L. Cherry, British vice consul. Not a flag floated from the custom house or any of the school-houses, nor from any of the public buildings. The least the citizens of Astoria could do, is to remember the old soldiers whose ranks are slowly but surely thinning out, and to impress upon them that their services to this country was appreciated by the loyal and patriotic people of Astoria.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Pearl Norton, a Woman of the Town Takes Carbonic Acid.

Shortly after 6 o'clock last evening a woman named Pearl Norton, residing on Astor street, below the Parker house committed suicide by drinking two half-ounce bottles of carbonic acid. A short time before she had gone to the office of a physician to get some medicine for a sore lip. From there she went to a restaurant and had supper and then went to her room. She was lying on her bed when a physician called, but was dead. Coroner Pohl was notified and took charge of the remains.
