Anecdotes and Incidents Gathered from Commercial Travelers.

FULL OF GOOD STORIES

That is Seen and Heard in the Hotel Corridors and Public Places Where Jolly Men Congregate to Relate Personal Experiences in all Walks of Life

Books could be written on the bright side of life in Astoria if one had the time to devote to the yarn spinning brigade known as the commercial traveler. Here are a few samples heard in Astoria the past week.

A young drummer who always takes in all the dances and buys ice cream after the ball is over believes that our teachers could not help human kind more than by anchoring the following truthin the minds of the little maiden schol Inrs:

> Dancing too much makes a girl's feet large; too much ice croam produces freckles-likewise holes in a man's pocket book; hanging on the front gate brings on consumption and neighbor's disgust; chewing gum distorts the mouth into a shape resembling a bung hole: too much playing on the piano destroys the shape of the hands-and the peace of a suffering community; washing the dishes causes chaps-to propose

> A. N. Smith tells the following case of a miner in Idaho who had been reported dead in a number of the Idaho papers:

It would appear that the miner had a keen sense of humor, for in reference of an obituary of himself which appeared in a Boise City paper the alleged dead man addressed the editor with a view of correcting certain misstatements in the said obituary. "My dear sir," wrote he 'relative to the obituary of myself appearing in the issue of the 22nd ult., I beg leave to call your attention to several errors therein. In the first place, I was born in Massachusetts, not In Rhode Island, secondly, my retirement from the liquor business in 1899 was not due to ill health, but to the fact that I was unable to secure a renewal of my license, and thirdly, the cause of my death was not heart disease."

Mohairs Still Hold First Place"

TheFOARD & STOKES CO.

Those dainty, practical, d"st-shedding fabrics so popular this season are just as much in demand as ever.

So great has been their popularity that merchants all over the country have been unable to meet the demand they have created.

We predicted early in the Spring that such would be the case and governed our buying accordingly.

The result is that we now have the

Grandest Assortment of New Mohairs This City Has Ever Seen

Another popular drummer gives the following as an essay of a Portland girl on King Henry, the eighth.

"King Henry 8, was the greatest widower that ever lived. He was born in Anna Domino in the year 1066. He had 510 wives, besides children. The 1st was beheaded, the 2nd revoked. She never smiled again. But she said the word 'Calasis' would be found on her heart after death. The greatest man in this reign was Sir Lord Garret Wosley, He was sirnamed the boy preacher. He was born at the age of fifteen unmarried. Henry 8 was succeeded on the throne by his great grand mother, the beautiful and accomplished Mary Queen of Scotts, sometimes known as the lily of the Lake, of the Lady of the Last Minstrel."

In speaking of the law's delays another knight of the road says:

The state supreme court has affirmed the decision of the four lower courts in the famous Stevens'-Smith cow case. which was begun fifteen years ago, and has cost $2,500 in attorneys' fees and court costs. The value of the cow was $30, and she has been dead 12 years. Stevens placed the cow in a pasture fifteen years ago. When he was in California the owner of the pasture sold it. with his heard, including Stevens' cow. to R. M. Smith. When Stevens returned he demanded the cow, offering to pay for her pasturage. Smith refused to give her up and a long legal fight began. Stevens says he will carry the case to the federal supreme court if possible.

A Portland drummer who endeavours to make Seaside every Sunday submits the following poetical effusion for the Astorian:

I only wish and wish that I could fish and fish and fish; I'd like to roam the livelong week along the banks of Necanicum creek-down where the lacey ferns float-and fish and fish and fish for trout. Tis shameful that on this free soil a man must toil and toil and toil and sweat and groan and bust his martingale and moan; grow old and baild before his time in following the festive dime. Ah, life would be a festive dream if one could strol along the festive stream with rod in hand at early dawn. no comrade but a demijohn, (the latter filled with lemonade) to walk there in the leafy shade-what higher bliss could mortal wish? Ah, let us go and fish and fish
