PORTLAND MARKETS

Latest Quotations in the Portland Produce Markets.

Complete Market Reports Corrected Each Day Giving the Wholesale Prices of Commodities, Farm Produce and Vegetables.

Portland, June 30.—This has been an unfavorable season thus far for the putting up of fruits, and produce dealers think it will continue so. Strawberries, cherries and small fruits have been too scarce and high to permit of much household fruit canning, and house keepers are now looking forward to the peach season for relief.

Poultry has sold well all week, and inquiry for more chickens had a firming effect on the market today. Prices were steady at 12 1-2 @ 16c for old hens or Springs, and no attempt was made to advance quotations.

Considerable wheat will be shipped to San Francisco from Portland next month, as a result of placing two extra steamers on the run.

Hop dealers aver the market is lifeless, and that they can get no orders from Eastern brewers, although hops are offering here as low as 16@18c.

The first out door-grown tomatoes received in Portland this season came from the garden of John Klindt, near The Dalles.

New Oregon potatoes are gradually crowding out the imported article, and in a few weeks are likely to have the local market all to themselves.

Waxen beans are becoming very plentiful. They are down to 5c a pound.

The Denver & Rio Grande Railroad

YOU WILL BE SATISFIED

WITH YOUR JOURNEY.

If your tickets read over the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, the "Scenic Line of the World."

BECAUSE

There are so many scenic attractions and points of interest along the line between Ogden and Denver that the trip never becomes tiresome.

If you are going East, write for information and get a pretty book that will tell you all about it.
