NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundance.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

WITH THE JESTERS.

"When a man starts in bragging 'bout how honest he is," said Uncle Eben, "it allus kind o' sounds to me like he was 'pologizin' foh not bein' mo' so."—Washington Star.

He—I suppose that even in this dull army post life there were limitations to your privileges.

She—Oh, my yes. We could hardly ever drink more than a quart at a time.—Cleveland World-News.

The hay-fever serum, or pollantine, of Dr. Dunbar, of Hamburg, is shown to have proven very effective. Having first shown that hay-fever is due to the pollen poison from grasses, cereals and other plants, the investigator sought a preventative by repeated vaccination of animals with the poison of the pollen. The antitoxin thus produced in the blood serum neutralizes the poisonous effects of pollen in the eyes and nose. The serum is not injected under the skin like others, but simply applied to nose and eyes.

Headaches and other ills of overcrowded rooms are found by Dr. Paul of Breslau to be due to retention of heat by the body, even 15 percent of carbon dioxide doing no harm in regulated temperature.

VARIOUS TOPICS.

A Moscow town meeting discussing the douma project becomes about as lively as the New England kind where the overseers of the poor are under fire.

As no indignant politician has demanded of Mr Folk that he explain his remarks, that Chautauqua address must be put down as the Missouri governor's greatest failure.

NELSON THE VICTOR

the heart. Nelson came in for more close quarters and fighting fiercely.

Round 3.—They went at it quietly Brit sending two lefts to face. Nelson forced Britt around ring to get in close and for his pains received a raking right to head. Nelson then sent in two straight lefts and they mixed it in center of ring. Both doing great execution Nelson having the advantage.

Britt outclassed Nelson in shifting but this did not disturb the Dane. Britt then swung his left to face and then fierce blow to face staggered Nelson. Britt then sent Nelson to his haunches with terrific right to jaw. Nelson was up quick and received more punishment. Blood streaming from Nelson's nose as the bell rang.

Round 5.—Both parried and Britt's left went around Nelson's ear. A powerful wallop on Nelson's jaw and left landed over his heart. Britt swung with left but it was blocked and they clinched. Britt then swung right and left to Nelson's jaw but the Dane never stopped. Britt constantly tried with left and right and finally rocked Nelson's head with left to jaw. Britt wiggled out of the corner and then Nelson wrung right and left to jaw sending Britt to the ropes. They exchanged blow for blow in the middle of the ring both fighting hard and desperately. Britt did terrific execution with his consistent battering, and Nelson appeared to be weakening as the bell rang.

Round 6.—Britt shot two lights with left and backed away with Nelson following him, eagerly looking for a mix. Nelson straightened him with left and right hooks to face and they went breast to breast. Nelson landing left and right to face. Suddenly Nelson sent in a vicious left clout to jaw and in a mix after receiving right and left to face was sent to his corner with right and left chops to jaw. It looked bad for Britt and his seconds threw water on Britt. It was a terrible fight. Nelson raining blow after blow on Britt's jaw and face. Britt was apparently helpless. Nelson was tired from his own exertions and could not land knockout blow. As the gong rang Nelson was strongest and it looked as if Britt could not have lasted much longer. He came back gamely but was too weak to do any damage. Nelson looked confident, and Britt looked much distressed.

Round 7.—Nelson shot a left to face and Britt contented himself with boxing. He swung left to face and then right to face. Nelson was unrelenting and followed Britt around the ring to land a vital punch. Britt drove too lefts to jaw that would have staggered an ordinary fighter. Nelson seemed willing however to absorb Britt's blows for which he countered with right and left to Britt. Pace was so strenuous that both were tired. Nelson drove Britt to the ropes with left and right to jaw and mixing it Britt swung left to jaw but did no apparent damage. Britt fought Nelson from clinches finally landing left hook to body that staggered Nelson. Britt followed his advantage with right and left swing to jaw as the bell rang and Nelson went to his corner seemingly in distress.

Round 8.—Science was thrown to winds and the gong found Nelson weaker of the two from Britt's avilanch of blows.

Round 9.—Britt had the honors of the battle every inch thus far which had been contested almost to the limit of human endurance.

Round 10.—Nelson continued to be receiver general of Britt's left and right clouts but nothing could stop him. Britt clearly outpointed Nelson and had advantage.

Round 11.—Britt seemed to have gained much in strength and kept his systematic battle up, swinging left and right. It was Britt's round.

Round 12.—Britt shot two lefts to Nelson's face. Britt avoided Nelson's amateurish attempts to land. Nelson, however, never wavered. Britt had again the advantage.

Round 13.—Nelson made wonderful rally in this round and Britt looked to be all out. Nelson too appeared tired but went to his corner with honors much in his favor.

Round 14.—Britt appeared to be all out but rallied in a sensational manner, swinging accurate right and left swings to jaw.

kept peppering at Nelson but latter always came to scratch and it seemed as if no amount of punishment could stop him. Britt hooked right to body and then hooked left to face and for time Nelson broke ground. He however bore in and received Britt's left in the face. Britt then hooked left to face and they mixed it in Britt's corner both sending in hard uppercuts. Nelson fought hard at close quarters unmindful of constant lefts that Britt shot in at him. Britt was much fresher.

Round 17.—It was Britt's round though Nelson put in several stiff upper cut just before round ended.

Round 18.—The end came in a rally. Britt had just scored on Nelson's jaw when suddenly Nelson shot his left and right to Britt's jaw like a flash Britt went down like a log grasping for breath and with blood streaming from his mouth and nose. The fatal seconds were counted out by timekeeper Harting. At the call or ten Britt made a feeble effort to rise but immediately fell back, utterly defeated. Up to the time of the knockout Britt appeared to have the lead.
