IN TWENTY-FIVE YEARS.

The most casual review of Theodore Roosevelt's career in the twenty-five years since he left Harvard college must leave a deep impression on the mind of any thinking American, however indifferent he may be to the man as president or as a political leader; Legislator, leader of the delegation in the Republican convention, mayor of the greatest city in the hemisphere, civil service commissioner, police commissioner for New York, secretary of the navy, colonel of a regiment in active service during the late war, governor of the greatest commonwealth in the country, vice-president of the nation, and its president twice, once by the law of succession and again by the vast majority edict of the people. And all this public service rendered without flaw, or reproach, but rather with extraordinary ability, and unvarying commendation from all sources of criticism. What a record for a single generation! What an example for the aspiring youth of this country! What wonder the people demand that we shall again go before the nation for election to the presidency! The real marvel of it all is that the man is in mental and physical poise to consider, or be considered in connection with, the vastly increasing responsibility of the presidency. But he will be the next president of the United States all the same.

FREEDOM FOR RUSSIA.

The people of the United States will receive the news of the freedom of the Russian nation with a sympathetic joy unknown to any other race on earth. We know the value of the boon and can feel for the emancipated millions of the Czar's realms in the moment of their exaltation with a realizing sense of the immensity of the gift that even the beneficiaries do not yet comprehend; and the hope will go forth from America that the new and happy phase of existence made possible, may be exploited along the highest ideals of human achievement and that the Russian will not destroy his claim upon the world for congratulation, by a wanton system of reprisals, which, however just, will but disparage the dignity and sanctity of the splendid prerogative they now possess.

TRUTH IS TRUTH.

The British steamship Algoa, now finishing her loading for the Orient at the docks of Tacoma, went there on Saturday last, from Portland, where she took on cargo to a load-line of 26 feet, and left for the Sound port to complete cargo, crossing out of this river and over this bar with 31 feet of water under the vessel, and her Captain now declares he could have loaded to the limit at Portland, and wishes he had, and so do we in this particular instance. The trouble is, the Algoa went out under extraordinary bar conditions, such as do not prevail at all seasons of the year, mild weather, smooth sea, the highest tide of the month, etc. It is not among the impossibilities to take a ship out over the Columbia bar drawing 27 and 28 feet, but the ship must await certain potential conditions before she can accomplish the passage in safety, and had the Algoa been a week sooner, or later, than the day of her departure, her master might have had reason to deplore a detention quite as costly as hunting a second port for cargo. Truth is truth, and hurts no man.

ONE OF MILLIONS.

Miss Alice Roosevelt, after the most remarkable tour that an American girl has ever made has returned to her own country with her equilibrium safely maintained. She was the subject of unusual honors by foreign potentates, of adulation and praise by her own countrymen continuously; but Miss Roosevelt seems to understand that the honors conferred are not so much due to unusual qualities possessed by herself as for other manifest reasons. There are two: She is a splendid type of the American girl whom everybody naturally honors; and she is the daughter of the President, thereby securing her exaltation to a conspicuous place. She doubtless understands—and the modesty and simplicity of her actions warrant the opinion—that she is only one of thousands of a race, each entitled to the same degree of homage and respect from American men, and receiving it. Thus we expect to see the President's daughter return from her foreign tour proud and happy in the enjoyment of honors, but with her head in nowise turned. She was treated just as we wish to see all American women treated when traveling, and the nobility of the Orient have had an opportunity to study not a "princess," but an American queen of whom there are many and of whom this girl of democratic simplicity is a fair representative.

It is rumored that "Sailor Boarding-House-Commissioner" Ed. Wright, pro tem Marine Editor of the Portland Oregonian will soon apply for a Branch as Columbia river bar pilot. His qualifications are among the best and the best among his qualifications is that he can find more water on that same bar than any man on earth. Nit.

Astoria is about to move to Portland, Pilot Commission and all. Her sole right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" has been made dependent upon this decision by the Power in the Tower and she yields at last, only to save her people from extinction. The Della will tow her up next week and has promised to go slow.

Bilious Attack Quickly Cured.

A few weeks ago I had a bilious attack that was so severe I was not able to go to the office for two days. Failing to get relief from my family physician's treatment, I took three of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and the next day I felt like a new man.—H. C. Bailey, Editor of the News-Chapin, S. C. These tablets are for sale by Frank Hart and leading druggists.

Patience—I asked her what would make a fashionable bathing suit.

Patience—And what did she say?

Patience—Oh, she said it was not material.

Constipation.

Health is absolutely impossible, if constipation be present. Many serious cases of liver and kidney complaint have sprung from neglected constipation. Such a deplorable condition is unnecessary. There is a cure for it. Herbine will speedily remedy matters. C. A. Lindsay, P. M., Bronson, Fla. writes, Feb. 12, 1902: "Having used Herbine, I find it a fine medicine for constipation. Sold by Frank Hart."

THE DOCTOR

Prescribed Vinol for the Son of a Prominent Clothier.

Mr. Leo G. Heilbrun of Decatur, Ill. writes: "It is a pleasure to me to endorse Vinol after what it has done for my son Herbert. He was in a delicate condition and had no appetite. Our physician suggested Vinol, and it has proved highly beneficial, building up the appetite, increasing his flesh and improving his health generally."

Druggist Charles Rogers says: "There is nothing like Vinol for growing children. It makes new vitality, sound flesh and muscle tissue, and rich, pure, red blood, and many letters have been received from grateful fathers and mothers whose children owe their health, and even life, to Vinol."

HERBERT HEILBRUN.

The reason Vinol is so far superior to all other tonics and cod liver oil preparations for children is because elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but without a drop of oil or grease, and it does not upset their weak, delicate stomachs like old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, but is easily assimilated, and is so delicious that children all love it."

Continued Mr. Rogers: "We cannot recommend vinol too highly for puny, weak and ailing children, to build up the run-down, overworked, tired and debilitated, or to give renewed vitality to the aged. So sure are we of what it will do that we cheerfully refund the money in every case where it fails." Charles Rogers, druggist.

steady work, but a Good Home.

A bank president was engaging a private secretary. He said to the young man who seemed to fill the bill: "I would expect you to spend Saturday afternoons and Sundays at my country home, so as to aid me in any correspondence that might come up. Could you do that?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you ever let pleasure interfere with business? How are you on golf?"

"I have played a little, but not so much as"—

"See here. I want a straight answer. Are you a golfer or not?"

"I have won some cups, and my handicaps have been heavy, but as to interfering with business"—

"That will do," said the banker. "That's what I want you out there for. I want some man who can put up a good fight and keep me bumping on Saturday and Sunday. Come around on Monday and begin work."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Sells More of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Than of All Others Put Together.

Mr. Thos. George, a merchant at Mt. Elgin, Ontario, says: "I have had the local agency for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy ever since it was introduced into Canada, and I sell as much of it as I do all other lines I have on my shelves put together. Of the many dozens sold under guarantee, I have not had one bottle returned. I can personally recommend this medicine as I have used it myself and given it to my children and always with the best results." For sale by Frank Hart and leading druggists.
