

IN A LIGHTER VEIN.

Those Awful Dads

Lulu—Me and me brudder can't do nothin' but what pa sees us. He can keep his eye on both of us at once.

Willie—My dad's cross eyed too.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

No Demand. "No," said the passenger in the seedy suit, "business isn't what it used to be. I've seen some pretty bad years, but this is absolutely the worst ever."

"To what do you attribute it?" asked the passenger with the skullcap. "Rulnous competition."

"What is your line of business, may I ask?" "I'm a rainmaker."—Chicago Tribune.

One Way of Smoking. "Have you smoked up all those cigars your wife gave you on your birthday?" "Yes; finished them the second day after."

All She Needed. Paying Teller—I can't cash this check, madam, until you are identified. Mrs. Bright—You mean I have to identify myself?

Tragedian's Choice. Tragedian—Well, well! I never thought you'd condescend to take so small a part as you're cast for now.

Musical Comedy. Musical comedy was introduced into England May 23, 1696. Dignified by the name of "opera," an entertainment called "The Cruelty of Spaniards in Peru" was produced at the Cockpit theater on that day.

Laundry Marks. The numbers or letters used by American laundries to distinguish their patrons' garments are disgusting enough, but we are fortunate in that the collars and cuffs do not come back from the wash tagged with the business card of the laundry.

A Subtle Defense. A few years ago a black woman in Natal was charged with drunkenness. With a surprising grasp of the law, however, she pleaded guilty, but urged that the bench had no power to deal with the charge, as she was on private property.
