Sensational Developments Before the Investigation Committee When Bookkeeper for the New York Life Life of Certain Entries on the Books.

New York, Nov. 24.—There were startling developments in today's session of the Armstrong Committee of the Insurance Investigation, in the course of a minute inquiry, by Hughes, into the syndicate transactions participated in by the New York Life Insurance Company.

The most important witness was Milton M. Madison, bookkeeper of the New York Life during whose examination it was brought out that in the case of the United States Steel Corporation Syndicate, the managers of which were J. P. Morgan & Co., there appeared one instance where the profit due to the New York Life was $87,187, from which was deducted, no reason being given, the sum of $59,310 and paid to Andrew Hamilton.

It appeared from the records produced by Hughes, that the account of J. P. Morgan & Co., with Hamilton, showed that in December, 1901, that firm advanced to Hamilton the sum of $56,720, and that on October 1, 1902, that sum amounted, with interest to $59,310, and that it was then cancelled by the entry of that amount to Hamilton's credit. The entry of this amount, in the account of the New York Life read, "as per cancelled statement and arrangement with G. W. Perkins."

This Time Perkins Got It. It also developed that the participation in the syndicate, of the New York Life, was effected through the New York Securities & Trust Company, by which one fourth of the profits of the former company were retained.

Pressed by Hughes to tell whether he knew of any other instance of money due to the New York Life, being paid to a third party as in the Hamilton case, Madison recalled the payment in 1904 of $40,000 to George W. Perkins, representing the profit on a loan of $830,000, to a Boston firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co. No entry of this transaction was made on the books of the New York Life.

FINED BECAUSE SHE DIDN'T WEAR ENGLISH FLAG.

New York, Nov. 24.—Because she would not wear a tiny British flag, the night Princess Louise and his staff were at the theatre, Marc Leslie, a chorus girl, was fined $15, and yesterday served notice of appeal for damages against the management. The flags were sent to the theatre by British officers, and the girls in the chorus were instructed to wear them. Miss Leslie, who is Irish, refused point blank. "I'm not the first Irish martyr," she declared.

ALASKA MINER IS CHARGED WITH BIGAMY.

San Francisco, Nov. 24.—Mrs. Ella Amy, of Littleton, Mass., swore to a warrant before Police Judge Cabanis today, charging Winfield Scott Amy, a wealthy Alaska miner, with bigamy. Mrs. Amy alleges that she and Amy were married in 1873 and that in 1880 he married Miss Carrie Sperry, of Stockton, Cal., not having obtained a divorce. The police today learned that Amy had left Stockton in the morning, and it is their belief he has started for Seattle.

SHIP HAS ROUGH EXPERIENCE ON THE BAR OF GOLDEN GATE

Steamer North Fork Puts Back to San Francisco With Bulwarks Smashed and State Rooms Flooded.

Eureka, Cal., Nov. 24.—With her bulwarks smashed in and mess room and state rooms flooded, the steamer North Fork put into port this morning, after having had a close call from destruction on the bar, which has been in practically an un navigable condition for a week.

The North Fork was well in when an immense sea lumped up behind her and broke full on her stern. The bulwarks were washed away in a twinkling. The water rushed into the dining room and gallery, flooding the compartments to the depth of three feet, causing much damage. Fortunately the steamer was able to continue despite the pounding she had received, but by all hands it was considered a narrow escape.

Shortly following the accident Steward E. M. Lake of Oakland, while bailing out the mess room fell through an open hatch with the result that all the ribs on his right side were broken. Repairs will be made to the North Fork here before she again sails for San Francisco.

BOTH ARE MISSING

Package Containing Thousand Dollars Stolen From Express Office.

NIGHT MESSENGER ALSO GONE

Theft Committed Three Weeks Ago But Just Discovered—Pinkertons Working on Case Trace Suspected Man and Companion to Walla Walla.

Pendleton, Nov. 24.—An express package containing $1000 in currency is missing in the transfer of the express matter. Boyd Redner, night messenger at the time, and the man whom he had been keeping company with are missing. No trace of the express package nor of these parties has been found.

Superintendent J. W. Rogers, Salt Lake inspector of the western division of the Pacific Express Company, has been investigating the matter. The facts in the case show that about three weeks ago an express package containing $1000 was delivered to the night messenger of the Pendleton offices by a train messenger of the O. R. & N. train No. 5, which passes Pendleton at 11 o'clock at night.

The receipt was given by the messenger to the train messenger and the transfer made in the regular manner, but as the package did not arrive at its destination, the theft has just been found out.

The package was traced to this city, where all record was lost. Boyd Redner, who was night messenger at the time the package passed through, and a woman from the tenderloin have disappeared from the city, going from here to Walla Walla. Pinkerton detectives have failed to locate either of them to date.

FOUR CONVICTS ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

BLOW PRISON GATES WITH NITRO-GLYCERINE

Shoot Two Prison Officials Dead, Seriously Wounding a Third, and Fight Desperate, Running Duel in the Street.

TWO OF CONVICTS ARE SHOT AND OTHER TWO CAPTURED

After Killing Two Prison Guards, the Desperadoes Blow the Gates With Explosives and Ring Prison Bell to Apprise Convicts of the Break—Rushing into the Street They Fight—They Board a Wagon and Make Desperate Attempt to Escape—Surrendering Only When Resistance Is Known to Be Useless.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 24.—Four convicts made a desperate attempt to escape from the state prison this afternoon, resulting in a terrific battle of weapons and nitro glycerine at the prison gates, a running fight through the streets of Jefferson City, and finally the capture of four convicts, two of whom had been shot and wounded. Two prison officers were shot dead and a third seriously wounded. One of the convicts is perhaps fatally wounded.

Following the departure of Warden Hall and six other prison officials, for Fort Leavenworth, on a special train conveying 71 federal prisoners en route to the government prison, the leaders of the outbreak, Harry Vaughn, Charles Raymond, Hiram Blake, George Ryand and Eli Zeigler, who were working near the gate, made a break for liberty. They drew pistols, and it is presumed, that at least one of them carried a bottle of nitro glycerine. Rushing past the gate they entered Deputy Warden See's office, and shot him as he sat in his chair, inflicting injuries that rendered him powerless to resist.

Gateman Shot Dead.

They then returned to the gate and encountered Gateman Clay, who was shot dead. Guard Allison, who was attracted by the shooting was the next victim. He was shot through the head and died almost instantly.

To apprise the convicts of the escape started, the fugitives rang the bell. Going through the wagon gate, dragging Clay's sbody with them, the convicts fastened it on the gate. Still another double steel gate that was locked, barred their way out, but nitro glycerine soon cleared an opening through which they dashed into the street, where a number of "trusties" were working. Zeigler for some reason did not leave the prison yard.

The other four were running madly through the streets of the city, pursued by the prison officials and citizens, firing volley after volley. The convicts jumped into a wagon, seized the driver, held him as a shield, and whipped up the horses.

Desperadoes Surrender.

After some distance they encountered a posse in front of them, and seeing that flight was useless, made a determined stand firing at the prison officials, who returned the fire with interest, riddling the wagon. Finally one of the convicts was shot, and mortally wounded and seeing further resistance was useless, the desperadoes surrendered.

MARQUIS SAYS THAT HE WILL STAY IN CABINET

London, Nov. 24.—All doubt as to whether or not the Marquis of Londonderry consented to remain in the Cabinet was dispelled by the statement from the minister himself, to the effect that he had not resigned. It is officially intimated that no statement regarding the decision of the Cabinet will be issued by the ministers. The fact that Balfour will leave London tonight to remain until Monday, and the additional fact that he is not going to Sandringham to see the King is taken as confirmation of the understanding that the Premier and his colleagues have decided against a precipitate resignation.

HOLDS A BURGLAR UNTIL HELP ARRIVES.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Grappling with a burglar whom he encountered in the hallway of his home, Charles A. Van Order, sexton of the Church of Epiphany, last night struggled with the robber and succeeded in holding him until the arrival of the police. The men rolled about the floor, until the occupants of the other flats in the building were aroused.

SCIENTIST EXPERIMENTS TO SOLVE THE ORIGIN OF LIFE

Attempts the Fertilization of Mollusk Eggs But Believes that Process Is of a Chemical Nature.

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 24.—Bit by bit, Professor Jacques Loeb, the scientist, is completing the set of experiments into the secret of the origin of life, and it is hoped will eventually make clear the life problem. Today he added another to the many steps already taken in this direction, when he issued an announcement regarding chemical methods he has employed in maturing eggs of a mollusk, the Lottia Gigantea.

The result of Professor Loeb's experiments with these eggs of the mollusk have caused him to revise theories previously held. The experiments include the treating of the effects of hypertonic sea water upon mollusk eggs, with a view to determining how fertilization might be accomplished and also to determine whether the action of the sea water and its effect upon the eggs are of a physical or a chemical nature. Professor Loeb formerly believed the action was of a physical character, but now revises this opinion. Scientists are watching his work with interest.

ARMY REVOLTS AGAIN

Rioting Soldiers Burn and Sack City of Harbin.

PAYMENT OF TAXES STOPPED

Peasant's Congress Would Secure the Granting of All Reforms Before Any More Revenues Are Paid to the Government—Poland in Turmoil.

Warsaw, Nov. 24.—Persistent rumors that the Manchurian army of Russia has revolted again are in circulation. Private dispatches received here state that the mutineers have completely burned Harbin after rioting and sacking the place. The messages say that the revolt has attained widespread proportions and that soldiers ordered to quell the rioters refused to fire upon their brethren in arms.

The Peasants' Congress now in session here today decided to appeal to the people, requesting them not to pay any more taxes until all demands for reform had been fully granted. The effect of the measure is to bring about a situation similar to that which exists in Hungary, where all revenue has been cut off from the Government. Resolutions were passed by the Congress condemning the Jewish massacre.

Poland is in a state of turmoil and rebellious bands are burning government buildings and rioting, in many districts cutting down state forests, closing schools and seizing estates. Troops are being poured in to reinforce the garrisons.

Rumors of Mutiny.

The same bonding company which was on his bond while he was employed by the insurance company, also guaranteed him when he took employment in the assay office.

Wing Knew About It.

A jocular feature is that Fred A. Wing, now superintendent of the assay office, was the state agent for the Massachusetts Mutual and knew of Adams stealing. He condones the employment of Adams in the assay office by stating that he believed Adams had reformed.
