That is just what every family should do. When kept at hand ready for instant use, a cold may be checked at the outset and cured in much less time than after it has become settled in the system. BROWN IN TOWN.

Republican Aspirant for Governor in Astoria Canvassing the Situation.

Harvey K. Brown, candidate for the nomination for governor on the Republican ticket, reform sheriff of Baker County and as he signs himself, "one of the people," arrived in Astoria yesterday to look over the situation. "Harry," as his friends familiarly call him, states that it is his intention to make a hard fight for the highest office in the state, and denies vehemently the assertions that have been made that his candidacy is simply a bluff and done for the purpose of injuring C. A. Johns' chances in this line. "No," said Sheriff Brown, last night, "I am out to win and these reports which have been spread abroad are utterly untrue. I want to see the affairs of Oregon run in accordance with the wishes of the people. That's my platform. The people first, last and all the time."

Sheriff Brown stated that he intended to visit every part of the state, and inform people what his policy was. Mr. Brown believes in woman suffrage, and includes this in his sweeping platform of reform.

"I have nominating petitions in every county in the state and enough names have already been secured to insure success. I have over five hundred names already in Multnomah county and also in Baker County, and other counties are giving me many names."

From Astoria Sheriff Brown will go to Portland, and thence to Southern Oregon, which section he will thoroughly canvass.
