THE TRANSITION IS ON.

The dull season for Astoria is past. The transition is on in good shape. Every element of the great fishing industry is in prime order...

AN ASTORIA SLOGAN.

Right now, when everything is living up and the wits and spirits of our people are taking on the cheerful zest of renewed activity, is the time to frame up and adopt a slogan for the city of Astoria.

THIS IS THE DAY.

There is never but one available day; and that is today. What one may think of, hope for, dream about, rely on, for the doing, or acquiring, or settling of, becomes a matter of doubt unless it is done today.

that defeats his cherished plans, nor how far it reaches to thwart him; and his only salvation is to do things on the spot, close up, wind out, check in, bring it to a head. TODAY. This is your day; you may never have another; tomorrow belongs to some other man.

The no-account farmer is often the farmer who keeps no account.

If away from home in a distant city do not forget to write often to father and mother.

Poultry culture will never do for drones. It requires a live wide-awake farmer.

Farming implements have not been improved in China for over 2,000 years.

A cat is said to have nine lives, but a cow can kick the bucket oftener than that.

Cambridge won against Oxford Saturday and eggs outwowed beef. Rah for the winning shell!

American hotels are said to get their best waiters from the ranks of exiled noblemen. They are certainly tip top.

Hand bags to match summer gowns are now shown, covered with all over white embroidery, pink, blue or green tints beneath.

The pleasantest things in the world are pleasant thoughts and the greatest art in life is to have as many of them as possible.

She was indignant when her husband called her an expert loafer, but she forgave him when he explained that he meant a good bread baker.

If the fresh eggs are going into cold storage to replace the old eggs that have been taken out, it is a mean trick on the hens.

A woman who has the cares of a large household on her hands has invented a "grumble book," in which the family are requested to enter their complaints.

Do you want your cows to come up and lick your hands in the pasture or yard? Just one way you may teach them to do it—be kind, true and honest with them.

The recent sale of a shorthorn bull for $18,000 to parties in Argentina, goes to show that the cattle raisers of that country are not blinded to the value of having good blood in their herds.

Don't get too busy to make your wife a flower bed, or a half-dozen, if she wants them. Remember she has to live with you 365 days in the year, and she needs something to brighten her up.

During cold weather if clothes must be hung out of doors to dry, add a handful of salt to the last rinsing water. The clothes can then be hung on the line before freezing and there is less danger of tears.

So the Pittsburgh district independent operators have formed a defensive alliance "that can be made offensive." No thanks! Quite enough so now.

Publicity as to the names or dealers advancing the price of coal might serve the public end, now that the operators declare that coal is costing them no more. White diamonds should not be made so suddenly from black ones.

The season of the year is approaching when the mother and daughter go forth to shop for new wall paper. The chances are that the daughter makes the selection for the parlor while the mother is allowed to pick out the pattern for the kitchen.

New York contracting builders pause in their blasting operations to look with complacency at the arriving immigrant hordes from Italy and Greece. With the words of the poet they cry: "Come one, come all, this rock shall fly!"
