Although it has passed as a subject of daily news and general interest, there are people left in San Francisco who have not forgotten the earthquake.

products wholesome and that the investigators of every civilized nation are satisfied with their investigation. The report signed by the packers says the companies shouldered an annual loss of one million dollars in buying cattle caught as healthy and condemned on inspection after slaughter. The packers claim Neill and Reynolds did not get practical light on their subject and assumed the blood, grease and the everyday incidents of animal slaughtering, dirt, and in contrast with their report submit with their (the packers' statement a report on packing conditions by Professor Burrill, vice-president and professor of bacteriology in the University of Illinois and Professor Grindley, professor of chemistry in the same institution, in which they say. "Our observations make it impossible for us to believe the horrible stories recently appearing in print or that anything approaching the described conditions in this really exist."

DENVER ELECTION FRAUDS.

DENVER, June 4.—A sensation occurred in the hearing before Judge Williams' petition for the grand jury to investigate the alleged election frauds in the recent city election, when John Cook, Jr., a real estate owner, said he sold seven hundred lots to W. Frueauff, general manager of the Denver Gas & Electric Company, for seven hundred dollars. The witness admitted the purchaser did not know where the lots were located. The attorneys for the honest election league will make an effort to show these lots are deeded to certain voters, who otherwise could not vote upon the franchises.
