

WILL HAVE UNIQUE FLORAL FENCE

JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION'S LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT IS GROWING TWO MILES OF VINES TO FORM ENCLOSURE FOR THE GROUNDS

The Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition, to be held on the shores of Hampton Roads, near Norfolk, in 1907, will have a most beautiful and novel fence to enclose its extensive grounds. The design is a new departure from the old-style high board fence, seen at former expositions. The Jamestown fence will be beautiful as well as useful, a quality that was sadly lacking at the other exposition.

Owing to the fact that the landscape feature of the Jamestown celebration is to be one of the great attractions at the Exposition, the idea presented itself to Mr. Charles H. Pratt, superintendent of the grounds, that it would be an excellent plan to include the surrounding fence as one of the features of the landscape design, thus giving the whole site the appearance of a beautiful private park, such as might be seen surrounding some of the royal palaces of foreign countries.

The total distance around the Exposition grounds is about 17,000 feet, but the site is so situated on Sewell's Point that only about 11,000 feet of fence had to be erected, the waters of Hampton Roads making a natural boundary for the remainder.

The fence, which is constructed of wire mesh and heavy barb, is covered with vines systematically planted so as to make an impenetrable barrier of beautiful foliage, giving the effect of an enormous hedge. The wire mesh, which is of the best quality, is about five feet wide, costing $130 a mile. About this mesh are stretched three strands of heavy barb, bringing the total height up to seven feet. Surmounting the whole, and stretched on cross beams at the top of each post, are five more lines of barbed wire, making the fence a most formidable barrier.

The vines for the fence were planted in May of 1905, and as they are native to the southern climate they are already of a very dense growth. At each post has been planted a trumpet vine with marvelous success, and between each post a crimson rambler rose bush has been planted. Between the trumpet vines and the rose bushes, honeysuckle has been trained, so that the entire fence will be covered with a fragrant mass of flowering beauty.

Mr. Lavalley, a distinguished architect from Boston who was the guest of Mr. Pratt at the Exposition grounds recently, was most enthusiastic about the general landscape design, and especially in regard to the fence, about which he said: "It is one of the most beautiful and novel things I have ever seen, and I would feel that my trip had been amply repaid if I had seen nothing else."

ARE YOU A BON VIVANT?

The pith of life, after all, is a good feed. The good things of this life are not as a rule easily found, so that it is a pleasure to find so close at hand a first-class up-to-date establishment, where one gets those good things at every meal, like the Palace Restaurant, on Commercial street. The home of the Bon vivant.

AN ASTORIA CASE.

Many More Like It In Astoria.

The following case is but one of many similar occurring daily in Astoria. It is an easy matter to verify its correctness. Surely you cannot ask for better proof than such conclusive evidence.

D. E. Duncan, who is employed with his brother at the Astoria Soda Works, 426 Duane street, and who resides at the corner of Duane and Ninth streets, says: "I suffered from a weakness of the back and kidneys for a number of years. There was a constant dull aching pain in the loins and as far up as the shoulders. Not only did my back ache but there was a weakness from the kidney secretions which was very annoying and disturbed my rest. I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and one day I stepped into Charles Rogers' drug store and got a box. I found them to be a great benefit. After the first few doses felt better. I know of others who have used them with the same results."
