An Important Step.—The twelfth annual regatta movement received an impetus yesterday, in the erection, by Contractor Palmberg, of the big grandstand on the Flavel pier. By the way, why is this called a grandstand when everybody pays for seats, and sits upon it? It is not made to stand on; standing is practically forbidden. An interested citizen has raised this question and the Astorian passes it up.

Civil Action Closed.—The civil case of J. Nagel versus Ruby Duncan was heard in Justice Goodman's court yesterday afternoon, and resulted in a judgment for the plaintiff. The action was brought to recover the sum of fifteen dollars, the alleged value of a coat, and the cause of the plaintiff was while the defendant's interests were looked to by F. D. Winton.

He Ran Away.—Ward Wolf, a youth of about 15 years, who has been with the Portland juveniles at Seaside recreating, was found late Sunday night by a gentleman sleeping on a bench in Uniontown. He awakened the lad; upon questioning him, found that he had run away from his companions and was making his way home to Portland. The boy was taken to the police station and given a bed, and yesterday the man in charge of the juveniles communicated with respecting the disposal of young Wolf. After some discussion the police here were directed to keep him until either his parents sent for him, or the entire party at Seaside was ready to return to Portland, when Wolf would be picked up and return with his companions. The lad said he was homesick.

It Was a Joke.—At the council meeting last night a resolution was introduced and referred to Councilman Logan, providing for the creation of a councilman-at-large, and further that such councilman be Honorable C. Wall Logan, Jr. The resolution signed by all the councilmen and other city officials, and stamped with the official seal of the city of Astoria, caused much merriment. Dr. Logan responded fittingly to the occasion with a few witty remarks.

DEATH OF PIONEER

James Ferry, Former Resident of Astoria Passes Away.

ONE OF OMAHA'S FOUNDERS

Came Here in 1875—Removed to Nebraska in 1889—Leaves Three Daughters in This City and Two Grandchildren.

The following account of the death of a farmer well known in Astoria is taken from the True Voice of Omaha, Neb.:

James Ferry, one of the earliest Catholic pioneers of Omaha, died at the home of his son-in-law, John Rush, last Thursday evening. Mr. Ferry was 86 years of age, but up to a few months ago was apparently strong and hearty.

The funeral was held from St. Patrick's church Saturday morning and was largely attended. Father Smith celebrated Requiem High Mass and Rev. P. F. McCarthy, who had known the deceased for many years gave the last absolution and preached the sermon. Father Stenson of the Cathedral performed the last rites of the Church at Holy Sepulchre cemetery, where interment took place. The pall bearers were: Messrs. James Leary, Edward Cassidy, Andrew Furay, Patrick McArdle, Thos. Swift and J. B. Callahan.

James Ferry was born in King's county, Ireland, in 1820. During his early manhood he moved to the county of Donegal, where he married Miss Margaret Donnelly. In 1849 he came to the United States, bringing with him his wife and three small children the youngest of whom Annie E., then nine months old became subsequently the wife of John Rush.

After five years spent in Pennsylvania working at his trade as a stone mason, he started west with his family arriving in Omaha early in the summer of 1854. Here he lived until 1857. The family was one of the few Catholics then in this territory. Mr. Ferry helped to erect the old St. Mary's church at Eighth and Howard streets, the first Catholic church, and probably the first church building of any denomination in Omaha. In 1855 he in partnership with an Englishman named Jenkins, laid the foundation for the old state capitol where the high school building now stands. In 1857 the family moved out from Omaha to a farm near what is now the village of Elkhorn. There he lived until 1863 when the family removed to Boise City, Idaho. It is related in the History of Nebraska, that before leaving his farm he made every effort to sell the 320 acres for $200, but there was no one to buy it. Today the farm is worth at least $30,000.

In 1875 the family returned again to Douglas county to remain until 1875, when they again crossed the plains to Oregon. Mr. Ferry settled at Astoria, where he resided until the death of his wife in 1889, when he returned again to Omaha. Since that time he had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Rush in St. Patrick's Parish.

Mr. Ferry may be said to be one of the founders of Omaha. A daughter, Margaret, born during his first year's residence, was probably the first white child born within the future city. He was a type of the hardy pioneer, who never forgot his religion during the hardships of the early days. May he rest in peace!

Mr. Ferry leaves three grand daughters in this city, Mrs. C. E. Foster, Mrs. J. A. Leahy, and Mrs. Florence Gilmore, and two great grand children; the two sons of Chief Engineer Foster.

Always Up-to-Date.—Mrs. M. Petersen, Astoria's up-to-date milliner, left for the East last evening, where she will select some of the most latest designs of ladies' and misses' hats ever seen in Astoria. Watch her show window!

Awaiting Transportation.—The big Benson sea raft is all ready for sea and lying anchored in Wallace Slough, waiting the arrival of the Spreckles' steamer, which is due to reach here this morning. The raft contains eight million feet of timber in the rough, and is built upon the same plan as the Hammond rafts; soundly, this one contains in its core an immense lot of milling machinery and tools with which the mill at San Diego, that is to cut the lumber of this and subsequent shipments of the same kind, is stored and will be duly installed on arrival. It is a new departure in the lumber business of the coast and the test trip will be watched with eagerness not only by those financially concerned but by others in the same line of business. The voyage will be begun on Wednesday, from this port, if all goes well.

DEATH OF WINIFRED RIVER BOUNDARIES GRIM AS IN 1843

FOUR YEAR OLD DAUGHTER OF REV. W. S. GRIM, FORMERLY OF THIS CITY, DIES OF CHOLERA INFANTUM AT DELTA, COLO.

On Tuesday, August 14, 1906, just as the gray dawn of morning was chasing away the darkness and gloom of night, the lamp went out in the life of Julia Winifred Grim, the little 4-year-old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Grim of the M. E. parsonage. The little girl had been a patient sufferer for about two weeks with an attack of cholera infantum and little hope was held out for her recovery right from the start. Five different physicians saw the little one and all were of the same opinion, that the disease had such a grasp upon the little girl that it would not yield to treatment, and after two weeks of suffering the little spirit was released at 4:30 o'clock last Tuesday morning. A brief service was held at the family residence at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and the remains placed aboard the evening train and conveyed to Portland, Ore., for interment.

Julia Winifred was born in Oregon City, on August 21, 1902, and with her parents and 10-year-old brother removed to Delta from Astoria, Ore., only two months since. About four weeks ago she had the misfortune of a fall breaking her arm, but prior to that time she had been a healthy, robust child. Rev. and Mrs. Grim feel deeply their great loss, and a host of new made Delta county friends sympathize with them in their sad bereavement.—Delta County Laborer (Colorado.)

The Record Regatta.—Surely and quietly the work of preparing for the great regatta goes forward, daily, and successfully. All the sub-committees are busily engaged with the departmental work, and the main committee is over-seeing and directing the larger elements of the program. The staffs of Queen Esther and of Admiral Kuetner are being organized from the ranks of Astoria's best entertainers and jolliest people; the press committee is arranging and sending out the necessary invitations and regatta data, and the big program will soon be heralded to the world, and will offer some of the brightest and liveliest events known to such festivals. It is to be a record-breaking regatta and as such, the people of Astoria and the guests of the season, may look forward to a happy semi-week at the close of the present month. Stand by, Everybody!

in nearly a straight line, to Tongue Point."

"There are, on the bar at Tongue Point, only three fathoms of water, while on the bar at the mouth, there are five."

"The channel carries around close to the foot of the rock (Cape Disappointment) so that it has entire command of that entrance of the river . . . . when vessels have accomplished an entrance they find a safe harbor and good anchorage in Baker's Bay just within Cape Disappointment, and farther up above, below, and opposite Astoria, in the main channel of the river."

The doctors used to bleed mankind. For every ill that they could find, But now they're wiser, said one to me, And give instead Rocky Mountain Tea, Frank Hart, druggist.

Time changes ideas and conditions. There's a lot of things which the up-to-date young woman of today does which are good for body and health. She takes Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. Tear or Tablets, 35 cents. Frank Hart, druggist.
